

Chapter 717

In the casino hall, there were sounds of dice rustling through the room.

There were those who jeered, observed, or even anticipated. Each had a different intention!

Bang!

Matthias stopped rolling the dice.

Chuck did too.

Matthias laughed and said, "Well, I have my own way to roll the dice! Get ready to lose!"

Matthias then showed his dice to everyone.

The audience burst into an uproar!

"Two sixes and one five? Not bad!"

"That's great! He's going to win!"

Even the guests in the casino were in awe. Matthias had a good hand in just one roll. He was definitely an experienced gambler!

The casino owner, Chuck, looked like a novice that was sure to lose.

"I'm different from others, so it won't be a problem to beat you in this. I've already opened mine. Now it's your turn!" Matthias smiled.

The numbers were not as expected by Matthias, but he was still satisfied with what he got.

"Don't open it, Chuck!" Elise panicked. Chuck looked like a beginner. If he opened it, he would lose miserably!

Yvette's face was calm while Willa looked worried. Why was that?

Yvette said that Chuck's sense of hearing was good. However, this was a game of dice tossing and had nothing to do with hearing!

Willa, of course, hoped that Chuck would win, but...

Could he really win?

Black Rose kept staring at the dice and she was feeling nervous within.

When she came to her senses, she was surprised by her feelings. Why was she so nervous?

Patricia was so anxious that she had sweat on her forehead. She clenched her fists and thought, "Chuck, you must win this!"

Chuck looked calm as he shrugged. The audience stared at him as he opened the dice cup.

In an instant, everyone was dumbfounded!

"What the hell? All sixes? He has three sixes! Is this for real?"

"Oh my gosh! Isn't he a novice?"

"He must be lucky!"

At that moment, the guests were all excited. All of them exclaimed in amazement!

It was beyond everyone's expectations!

"That's impossible!" Matthias jumped up from the chair, his face was full of disbelief!

Chuck looked so much like a beginner. How could this be?

"Let's get to the second round," Chuck said as he closed the dice cup.

"Well, you got lucky this time. But not for the second round!" Matthias went on.

Chuck started rolling the dice again. He was about to open the dice cup.

Three sixes! Again!

Suddenly, the casino went dead silent again.

Shock was written all over everyone's face!

This seemed to be very easy!

"Roll yours. If you also get three sixes, then we will call it even." Chuck chuckled.

Matthias's jaw dropped in awe.

Yvette smiled slightly and Willa let out a sigh of relief, "This kid..."

"How boring."

Black Rose, who stared hard at the scene unfolding before her, didn't want to look on anymore. However, a faint smile inadvertently made its way to her face.

Patricia couldn't believe it!

She thought Chuck would definitely lose because he was forced into this bet. But to her surprise, Chuck pulled off a miracle!

Chuck had three sixes in two rounds!

"You're cheating! There's definitely something wrong with the dice!" Matthias was so angry that his body trembled.

The whole casino remained silent.

Cheating?

The guests glanced at each other.

Chuck didn't say a word. He stood up and walked toward Matthias. He rolled the dice and put down the dice cup in front of him with a slam.

Chuck then opened it.

"Oh my gosh! Again! Three sixes!" The audience was amazed.

He could've easily gotten lucky in the first round; the second round might have been a trick. But for this to carry on to the third round?

Things were not this simple.

Some people's gazes changed as they looked at Chuck in awe.

"Is this man the god of gambling?"

As soon as that was said, the audience went into an uproar!

Everyone started discussing amongst themselves, shock and astonishment evident in their voices.

"The god of gambling? Really?"

"It's true that you can't judge a book by its cover. This young man owns such a big casino at a young age. He really is the God of Gambling. How awesome!"

"That's right. He wouldn't have started a casino business if he didn't have the ability to see it through."

"How dare the fool challenge the casino owner!"

Staring at the dice cup, Matthias was dumbfounded. He said incoherently, "You, you, you..."

He mumbled, stumbled on his words and was confused at what just happened.

"I didn't cheat, did I? It's okay if you don't believe me. I'll just roll again." Chuck shook the dice cup again casually. When he lifted the cup up, he found that it was still three sixes!

What a joke! He owned a casino, so of course he'd have the skills to match!

His move sent waves of disbelief through the crowd.

Matthias fell on the ground and he was almost in tears as he continued mumbling, "My...my money. My ten billion!"

He was an experienced player but it was still difficult for him to roll three sixes.

Yet Chuck actually rolled three sixes in every round. How could he compare himself to him?

"Thank you, Sir. I've just opened the casino, but you've already given me such a big gift. Thanks!" Chuck smiled.

Matthias cried, "My money, my money..."

Chuck shrugged and said to all the guests, "Ladies and gentlemen, is anyone game to go a round with me? I'd be happy to oblige!"

The guests were speechless. They had previously planned to take advantage of this opportunity a while ago, but that was before Chuck turned out to be so skillful.

He was just like a Gambling God.

Who would dare play against him?

Some guests were even ashamed at the thought of their initial plan to play against him!

No one expected Chuck to be a wolf in sheep's clothing. If anyone went on playing against him, they would definitely make a fool out of themselves.

"No one? Then, I wish everyone a good time." Chuck said with a smile.

Matthias cried louder. Most of his assets were made up by that ten billion but now, all his money was gone in just two rounds. He whimpered like a child.

Other guests laughed at him, then continued on with their gambling.

"Get someone to clean up." Chuck said to Patricia.

Patricia went black for a second before asking, "Chuck, are you the God of Gambling?"

"No, but I can play dice." Chuck told her the truth.

Patricia widened her eyes in astonishment.

"Chuck, you actually won. You're amazing!" Elise finally came to her senses.

She thought that Chuck would lose badly, but she didn't expect him to actually win!

"I'm alright!" Chuck shrugged off the compliment.

It was easy, actually. He used his wrist to control the dice rolling. As he learned to fight, he needed to control his muscles very well. In addition, he had good hearing, so he could sense the scores. So, it was not difficult to roll three sixes!

When Matthias and Chuck agreed to the bet, Chuck wasn't afraid. He could bet any amount which he wanted.

"Anyway, you're so cool." Elise's heart was pounding. Apart from combat, Chuck really had so many other talents!

She felt like she was in love.

At that moment, a group of people arrived at the casino.

The guests who had just dispersed looked to the entrance and saw that there were many people there with boxes of gold. Who could this be?

The crowd was witness to yet another surprising turn of events.

Matthias trembled and got up, feeling regretful. Chuck knew so many powerful people. Did he just play in hell?

However, Chuck's brows furrowed. These were Adriana's men. 6