

Chapter 144

All of a sudden, everyone was stunned!

'This Jason is really funny!'

Was he really going to drive this car?

Melissa's face became even colder. She was going to bring shame on herself today.

The group of people burst into laughter felt helpless for Jason who was shown on the video screen.

'Go!'

On the track, the hot racing girl waved a red flag!

Finn's Ferrari let out a roar from its engine and directly shot off, leaving Jason far behind!

At the start line, Jason's AE86 was still parking at the same place and no one knew what he was doing.

'Jason, what are you doing? Why haven't you started it yet?' Melissa was in a hurry to see what was happening. She snatched the walkie-talkie to scream at Jason.

Jason shrugged his shoulders helplessly and said, 'I'm sorry, I accidentally took the brake as accelerator.'

Puff!

The crowd burst into laughter!

This Jason was simply a fighter for the losers.

Melissa felt dizzy. She threw away the walkie-talkie in anger and sat on the chair. She was so angry that she didn't want to pay attention to him anymore.

She was so pissed off!

Jason was a good-for-nothing!

However, in the next second, the whole monitoring room suddenly quieted down!

Someone shouted,

'What the f*ck! He is f*king using this dragon launch control?!'

Melissa frowned and couldn't understand it at all. When she looked at it from a distance, she saw that Jason's AE86 car trembled fiercely and then the whole car was lifted up on its back wheels. The whole car shot out just like how an arrow was shot out of a bow!

This scene shocked everyone there!

Especially those watching on the large digital screen outside, this scene was broadcasted live!

In addition to this, today's competition was also being shown through a online live broadcast for the racing circle.

Everyone was shocked when they saw this scene!

Dragon launch control!

It was f*cking dragon launch control!

There was a legend in the racing industry.

Dragon launch control was initiated, it could only be the Dragon God's Starting Point!

This starting method could be done by only one person!

A myth that could never be surpassed!

The F1 World Championship, the four time world champion!

'He deserved to be called the greatest Car God!'

'F*ck you! How could this loser do this?! This is the f*cking dragon launch control!'

In the monitoring room, many racing drivers were stunned, and then they were excited and ecstatic!

'It's been seven years! I haven't seen dragon launch control in seven years!'

'That's a myth that only belongs to him. That man is back!'

'Who on earth is he?!'

Some of the experienced racing drivers, as well as the data analysts, were all shocked!

They looked at the man in the picture in horror, the man they had humiliated before.

Who on earth was he?

Even those who didn't know about car were extremely surprised and asked the people around them one after another.

'What does dragon launch control mean? You're talking as if it was f*king awesome. So this loser can do this?'

'Yeah, don't keep me guessing. Who is it?'

'No, I don't think so. Why do you think he's so awesome? Who is he?'

The crowd couldn't wait any longer and asked.

At the same time, a middle-aged man walked out from the crowd. He wore limited edition clothes, with a cup of coffee in his hand and gray hair on his temples.

'Master Colton.'

'Hello, Master Colton.'

The group of people dispersed to give way to the middle-aged man.

This was Colton, the hidden boss of racing at Rock Dragon Mount. He was worth eight hundred million dollars. He was a well-known rich businessman in the sports car and racing circle.

He was not only racing cars, he was also a part of a combat team.

Racing Squad.

He had his own private racing club, and he was also a professional racing driver.

He used to be the national racing champion and deserved the title of a domestic car god.

He was highly respected and had a large number of fans.

Everyone respected him as soon as he appeared.

Colton raised his eyebrows and looked at the monitor. He was unable to conceal the excitement in his heart while saying, 'Dragon Launch Control is the fastest starting method in the world at present. The initiator of this starting method only belongs to one person.'

This person is the champion of F1 who has been the world champion for four consecutive years. He is said to be the top ranking racing player in the world, or he is the world's greatest car god who has created countless legends in the racing industry. So far, no one has broken his record yet.'

As Colton spoke, everyone's facial expressions were getting more and more shocking as one and another.

In the end, some even felt numb.

'Master Colton, did you mean that this loser is the mysterious Car God? No way.'

Kaiden stood in the crowd and said in disbelief.

He was just a loser and a fool just now. How could he have suddenly become the World Car God that Master Colton referred to him as?

This must not be true!

Not only Kaiden, many people also had such doubts.

It was incredible.

Colton frowned and looked at the monitor and the electronic screen. His eyes were full of doubt. He said, 'I don't know. The mysterious Car God disappeared seven years ago. He hasn't appeared yet. Countless people inquired about him, but they didn't get any information.'

Colton was also very suspicious. How could such a mysterious figure have appeared in this small place?

Moreover, looking at the car's surveillance screen, this man was very ordinary.

The only thing that made Colton feel uneasy was that this man was more serious about racing than any one else.

In the screen, Jason seemed to be particularly relaxed as if this was not a competition at all.

When Kaiden and others saw this scene, they immediately sneered and said, 'Master Colton, I think everyone is wrong. How can a loser like him be the world's greatest car god? In my opinion, at most, he has learned it secretly. It's not surprising that he could have learned it step-by-step.'

Colton nodded and took a sip of coffee. He simply sat down and paid close attention to the live broadcast of the race.

Melissa stood behind the crowd and looked at Jason on the screen. She smiled slyly and said in her heart, 'Could this guy be the world's greatest car god?'

Back to the two persons who were still on the racing track

Now Finn was completely relaxed. He was far ahead of Jason with a confident smile at the corner of his mouth.

How could a loser like him dare to challenge him? He was a good-for-nothing!

However, when Finn looked in his rear view mirror, his heart suddenly skipped a beat.

'D*mn it! He has caught up with me?'

Stepping on the accelerator, cutting the corner, and drifting in a horizontal direction!

With a beautiful drift, Finn quickly shook off Jason's AE86.

In the stand, a group of people shouted and cheered for Finn, 'Awesome! So handsome!'

And this time, the live broadcast was also being shown to the racing community of the whole city.

Jason's launch control just now was really great to see, which made many people excited!

This was a world-class starting technique that hadn't appeared in the past seven years!

In fact, a lot of people were curious about who had challenged Finn.

However, three minutes later, Jason was still left far behind by Finn.

A lot of people began to doubt their thinking earlier. Have they guessed it wrong?

As for this car skill, looked like a racing player who had started completely from scratch. He was not a professional racer at all.

Colton was also disappointed. He shook his head, got up, and was ready to leave.

'It seems that I have guessed it wrong.'

Suddenly, someone shouted, 'There's a section coming up! Five consecutive bends.'

Rock Dragon Mount was known as a place with a lot of windy roads. The five consecutive turning point had become the most eye-catching point of the Rock Dragon Mount competition!

The risk of drifting between five consecutive turning points was much higher than that of a normal turning point. This is because when racing through the five consecutive turning points, it bound to make the car unsteady. It would need to speed up and slow down continuously and the drifting degree had to be even more exact!

With this kind of curve, a slight mistake would cause the car to be destroyed and the driver would be killed!

Therefore, even if Finn was the champion of the provincial competition, he would have to slow down with the simplest horizontal drift in the bend.

Although it was time-consuming, it was safe.

Most racing drivers, on the other hand, could not even drift horizontally along such a bend.

Colton sat down again, looked at the data analysis, and said, 'Look at the time and speed of Finn's five consecutive curves.'

A group of people were rushing over.

The professional racing assistant, who talked through a walkie-talkie, said to Finn, 'Master Finn, let's test your five consecutive turns' time and speed.'

Upon hearing this, Finn replied confidently to proceed further.

Now, everyone's eyes were fixed on Finn.

They wanted to see whether he could break through the record and create a brand-new five consecutive turns record?

Two hundred meters!

One hundred meters!

Fifty meters!

Buzz! Buzz!

The motor of the Ferrari sports car revved and let out a pleasant roar.

Finn was confident enough to change gear, stepped on the brake and then lock the steering wheel!

The red Ferrari, like a gust of wind, drifted quickly and easily passed through the first turn!

Five point zero six seconds!

A new record!

All the people cheered!

Finn's previous first hairpin turn record was seven point seven eight seconds!

He was better than before by over a second!

'He's really something!'

However, just as everyone cheered and jumped.

On the big digital screen, a black lightning-like car shadow quickly appeared on the screen, passed Finn's red Ferrari, and overtook him with a lead of dozens of meters!