After sending Jiang Ning and the others to Interstellar Entertainment Company, Gao Bin didn't leave and waited downstairs.

Ye Qingwu poured Ye Shan and the others some tea in the office. She noticed that Ye Shan was silent, but she didn't know what to say.

"Don't be nervous," said Ye Shan instead after a while. "It's no big deal. You'll be fine."

"Okay."

This father and daughter certainly communicated with simple words.

Lin Yuzhen and Ye Qingwu went to the side to talk in private.

After Jiang Ning poured Ye Shan more water, he muttered, "Uncle Ye, I have to go downstairs. Stay with them, and don't let them out of your sight."

Ye Shan frowned. Then he raised his head and glanced at Jiang Ning.

Ye Shan didn't say a word and only made eye contact with Jiang Ning. He immediately realized what Jiang Ning was driving at. Then he nodded gently.

It was no wonder that Jiang Ning insisted he come for the movie premiere. How could he stand such an environment?

But Ye Shan knew what Jiang Ning meant the moment he heard him.

Then Jiang Ning got up and left.

Gao Bin continued to wait downstairs. The moment he caught sight of Jiang Ning coming down, he went over with a serious look on his face.

“Mr Jiang.”

“What happened?”

“Someone’s dead,” replied Gao Bin, “Lots...lots of them!”

Jiang Ning frowned and said, “Go on.”

“Someone must be following you and had their eyes on you the moment you entered Shenghai. A few of my scouts were killed when they discovered them. I checked and couldn’t find the culprit,” said Gao Bin worriedly, “Five to six of our scouts died, so they are definitely up to no good. You have to be careful, Mr Jiang.”

“Are they here for me, or do they want to cause chaos to the order we created in the illegal circles?”

Did someone want to wreak havoc after they painstakingly built order in the illegal circles?

Jiang Ning didn’t think there was anyone else in the country who dared to such a thing. Even the powerful northern families wouldn't be stupid enough to provoke him.

But if it wasn't them, then who were they? Who would touch the illegal circles of Shenghai?

"We aren't clear who they are. My older sister didn't want to tell you about it and wanted to investigate on her own, but I had a nagging feeling it wasn't as simple as it appears," said Gao Bin after he inhaled, "Mr Jiang, it's not that I'm a coward, but I think... The person who did it was a master and probably advanced grandmaster level expert. We aren't able to handle it!"

Jiang Ning nodded.

Gao Bin was a capable fighter. Also, Gao Yali was intelligent. If she wanted to investigate this, she could find clues in the time it took Jiang Ning to drink a cup of tea. How could she be clueless about it?

"Tell your sister not to push herself too hard," said Jiang Ning as he glanced at Gao Bin, "They must be here to get me. If you can't handle them, let me do it."

"Yes, Mr Jiang," replied Gao Bin before leaving right away.

Jiang Ning narrowed his eyes and looked out into the streets. The traffic was heavy, and it seemed as though someone was watching him from the crowd.

He chuckled. Then he suddenly stuck his middle finger out and pointed it into the distance.

“They are just trash and only capable of hiding,” said Jiang Ning. Then he turned and went upstairs.

A pair of eyes looked murderously at Jiang Ning from the crowds out in the streets!

The man became so furious that his knuckles cracked as he clenched his fists tightly when he saw Jiang Ning pointing his middle finger in his direction.

“Jiang Ning...” said His Lordship as he watched Jiang Ning leave. He was so furious that his face twitched.

“You can't kill him anymore,” said Yan Tang gently as he stood next to His Lordship.

“I won’t kill him,” replied His Lordship with his eyes dim, “I will make him experience the same things I did before asking him how he would choose.”

His face was somewhat pale.

Although Jiang Ning didn’t kill him with his attack, His Lordship was critically hurt.

Jiang Ning now possessed three pages of the manual. Given his talent, it was only a matter of time before he mastered the third page.

Then he would become even harder to handle.

“Mr Heishan is losing patience with you,” said Yan Tang, “I told him you and Jiang Ning might be putting on a show, and he probably bought it.”

“Did he order you to kill me?” asked His Lordship as he turned his head and glanced at Yan Tang with a murderous look in his eyes.

“No, he didn’t,” replied Yan Tang as he shook his head, “I will never kill you.”

He reached his hand out to touch His Lordship’s injured shoulder, but his hand halted in mid-air. Then he shook his head, and bitterly smiled as he sighed and said, “I could never bring myself to.”

There was a complicated look in his eyes, and he didn’t know what to say.

NH

“Let me handle things from now on. I’ve already arranged everything and will help you do anything you want. None of the people who caused her death can flee. Just focus on getting well.”

His Lordship didn’t say a word.

“I think the family has lost their patience, not just Mr Heishan alone. Since five pages of the manual have surfaced, it means that it’s almost time. They indulged you for 20 years because they weren’t anxious at all. But now the time is ripe, and no one wants to miss the opportunity.”

But His Lordship got injured at a time like this, and he was rather severely injured too.

“Humph, then you do it.”

His Lordship didn’t want to say more. He didn’t mind forsaking his name, and he had lost any attachment he had to that reclusive clan that supposedly backed him.

Even if they disappeared entirely, His Lordship didn't care. Back then, if not for them... Humph!

Yan Tang watched as His Lordship disappeared into the crowd. Then he silently put on his hat.

“You have her on your mind but have no idea who is on mine.”

Ye Qingwu’s movie premiere was taking place at midnight!

NH

Shenghai's biggest cinema was brightly lit. After finally getting their hands on the tickets, the fans formed a long queue and waited to go through security checks.

Since Ye Qingwu was a popular singer, all her fans were exhilarated by the thought of seeing her in a movie when she suddenly started filming one.

Everyone knew that Ye Qingwu was Interstellar Entertainment's biggest star and wasn't going to develop her career locally alone. She would definitely get more involved in the entertainment industry.

And this movie was her first step.

"So many people?" Ye Shan couldn't help saying when he saw the hordes of people standing at the door, "It's the middle of the night. Don't they need to sleep?"

He had no clue what it was like being a fan or how charismatic his daughter was.

"They want to be the first to see Qingwu's movie," said Lin Yuzhen as she smiled. "So what if they stay up late? They can even spend the whole night waiting here!"

Then the two of them held their hands as they walked backstage.

Ye Shan shook his head. He didn't understand why youngsters had to do this.

NH

If he didn't have to protect Ye Qingwu and Lin Yuzhen, he wouldn't hang around since he was starting to feel exhausted.

Very quickly, the event commenced.

The organizer and sponsor both made statements, followed by the director, scriptwriter, and the movie's main cast. Even the fans sent a representative. The event went on for 30 minutes before the movie was about to commence. Then the crowd suddenly shouted and asked Ye Qingwu to sing.

Ye Qingwu smiled. Then she graciously took the microphone and started singing a cappella.

Her voice was melodious and sweet-sounding.

After a few lines, her fans started singing one after another.

Very quickly, their voices became louder and louder.

Then it became thunderous!
