

Chapter 237

Yohan and the team walked over. He frowned as he saw the ten people were kneeling on the floor.

Just as he was about to speak, the ten people saw him and dispersed at once. They cried and screamed as if they had seen a ghost.

It made Janet laugh.

Was Yohan that scary?

What exactly did he do to these people?

Anyway, it was good that these people were gone; their dismissal had solved the problem for Janet.

What everyone didn't notice was that Laura was having a panoramic view from the top floor of the company building.

Laura felt slightly perturbed as she watched the actors kneeling there. They looked exceedingly miserable.

She could remember vividly the humiliation which they brought onto her during the filming.

Also thanks to these people, they trained her to have forbearance!

It was a moment that she saw justice was served!

Yes, definitely justice was well served.

The ten of them had now met their demise.

She, Laura Koo, would continue to be respected!
As Laura was deep in her thoughts, the image of William came into her mind.

She couldn't help but whisper, "Little b*stard! Is this what you have said? I will only be able to be respected by the public if I can take all these slanders and hardship... Thank you..."

Laura's mind went wild in that instant.

Yohan walked up to Janet and greeted, "Miss Ching, we meet again. What a small world!"

Janet showed a playful smile. "Mr. Chung, what a coincidence!"

Yohan laughed while looking at those people who ran away. "These people were too ignorant. If they cause any trouble again in the future, you can call me and I will teach them a lesson."

"Thank you so much," Janet said with a fake smile.

Yohan chuckled. "We are here today to discuss business with you. Shall we go in and talk about it?"

However, Janet did not budge.

Yohan was taken aback. "Miss Ching?"

Janet tittered and said, "You are really a forgetful man. Can't you remember? Did you forget something?"

Yohan touched his beard and chirped, "No? What's the matter?"

Janet said amusedly, "I remember that we made a bet in front of many people yesterday."

Yohan's face changed upon hearing those words!

That bet!

Right on!

The previous day, the two of them made a bet that if anyone of them came to see another person again, the person must kneel down!

Yohan wanted to slap his own face at the thought of this!

F*ck!

He was too full of himself the previous day!

He thought that he would have uncovered the secrets by buying over the ten people.

It would have been Janet who needed to see him.

However, he had never expected that there was problem with those ten people!

Not only did he squander a huge amount of money but he also lost the bet!

Yohan forced a smile and said, "It was a joke with you yesterday. Let's not take it seriously. Haha."

Janet answered solemnly, "Oh? I have taken it very seriously."

Everyone's expression turned glum.

Janet was of course serious about the bet!
When she agreed to the bet previous day, she had a gut feel that the day would come soon!

It was based on Janet's complete trust in William's magical plot.

Even Janet herself didn't expect that the day would come so soon!

A villain like Yohan had humiliated her all this while!

William seemed to give her a rare opportunity to thwart this scoundrel. How could she not seize the opportunity?

There was a vicious look in Yohan's eyes!

This b*tch!

How dared she!

Trying to humiliate him in the public!

Was she looking for death?!

"Aren't you taking it too far? Don't be so bitter."

Yohan's tone mellowed down.

But Janet seemed very determined. She stood still and looked at them with a cold stare!

A heavy silence hung in the air.

The people behind Yohan were anxious!

They were here at Lunanica Media and they would not return empty-handed.

They couldn't just return now that they were at the entrance.

The bet was clearly made between Yohan and Janet.

Why should they bear the consequences?

Someone suddenly whispered to Yohan, "You can't let what you brought onto yourself to affect us. Our bosses are still waiting for us."

"Yes Yohan, you would spoil the entire plan if you live up to the end of the deal. Why did you bet with her in the beginning?" asked another person.

"You took the bet! You'll have to kneel down no matter what."

Yohan almost exploded in rage listening to them.

These b*stards!

If it wasn't for him to have thought of such a counterattack plan, they would not have stood there!

A bunch of ungrateful b*stards!

Yohan looked at Janet again.

She looked extremely resolute.

He swallowed a mouthful of saliva!

D*mn!

He would definitely remember it!

A great man would know when to yield and when not to!

So what if he knelt in front of her!

Someday when he became successful, he would have her kneel under his crotch!

"Miss Ching, watch carefully!" Yohan said glumly before he knelt down in front of everyone!

"Are you happy now?" Yohan hissed ferociously.

The people from Lunanica Media were dumbfounded.

D*mn! Yohan actually knelt in front of Janet!

He was so arrogant the previous day.

Who would expect a turn of events to happen so soon?!

Many people secretly took out their phones and recorded the scene. This could bring them so much laughter in the future.

Seeing that Yohan was kneeling in front of her, Janet nodded in satisfaction and walked into the building. "Welcome in!"

Everyone was seated in the conference room again.

Everyone seemed to be much more solemn compared to the previous day.

Instead of anger, Yohan's eyes were twinkling with a hint of coldness.

"Mr. Chung, let me ask you a question first. Why did you buy over the ten actors but only to chase them out later?" Janet asked jokingly.

The question instantly struck Yohan's sore spot.

He glared at Janet with raging fury and replied, "You must be joking! The reality is that we saw the mess in Lunanica Media, so we made up an excuse to help you to go through these difficulties."

Janet wouldn't believe such nonsense. She tittered. "Thank you then."

Yohan didn't want to have any more unnecessary conversation with Janet. He said directly, "We are here today because we think your movie has certain merits, so we want to buy the copyrights from you. We are also helping you indirectly. This is going to be a mutually beneficial move for both of us. What do you think?"

Janet smiled while cursing silently in her heart.

She did not hesitate taking out the third pouch.

William's tip would come in handy now.

Just as expected, Janet smiled with satisfaction when she saw the words on the note.

"Slaughter them all!"

Chapter 238

Slaughter them all!

That brat had predicted that these men would make an appearance again.

He was suggesting that she should set a higher price for them, right?

In that case, it was better for her to obey than to decline politely!

Janet gave a sly smile and asked deliberately, "Oh? The copyrights to our movie?"

Sensing the equivocal nature of her remarks, the team became restless again.

But Yohan didn't move an inch.

No one in Lunanica Media knew about the secret.

The movie was undoubtedly a failure to get rid of for them in Lunanica Media!

His visit was equivalent to sending them real money.

And, they needed this money!

No way that Janet would decline his proposition.

Didn't they have any idea how horrible the movie was?

Janet, who was playing hard to get in front of him, was too young and naive to him.

Janet asked, "How much are you willing to pay then?"

Yohan suddenly revealed a playful smile. Everything happened as per his expectations.

He stretched out two fingers. "Two million."

The shareholders of Lunanica Media brightened up when they heard Yohan.

Whoa, another two million into the pocket!

"Miss Ching, agree to him now! Don't you hear that? It's two million yuan!"

Janet laughed then she gave a straight face suddenly. "Send them off please!"

She was done with them. It was just about time to send these jokers away.

It was the perfect etiquette Yohan and his team deserved!

Those shareholders were bewildered. "Miss Ching! What are you doing? The movie has no value at all! Why are you hesitating?"

Janet was exceptionally decisive when she gave her order a while ago. The faces of all shareholders in Lunanica Media, Martin included, darkened.irate, they wanted to incite an argument with Janet again.

Martin said grimly, "Miss Ching, you are digging your own grave. Can't you see that?"

Janet asked Martin with a smile, "If I remember correctly, your shares have already been sold off to the company. What rights do you have to talk about the shareholders?"

Janet's reply made everyone at the scene stunned.

D*mn!

That was true!

They were now probably just employees of the company. From the moment they sold off their shares, they lost the rights to make any decision about the company.

Martin's face turned cold, his eyes sparkling with red fury and regret.

Yohan couldn't help but retort, "The movie is terrible. Why don't you accept it when we extend help during this time of need?"

Janet answered with a faint smile, "Send them off please!"

She then got up and left.

Although Janet had to follow William's strategy like a puppet...

She had learned to cope to give in at times as such. She had been Harper's personal secretary for so many years after all.

William had given her the direction.

A way to maximize benefits!

Of course, she had to play some tricks with these cunning people first!

Janet had realized that there must be a big secret hidden in the movie.

She didn't not know what the secret was at that moment.

However, judging from Yohan's reaction, he must have missed out on something. Otherwise, he would not have fired these ten actors after buying them over at such a high price.

The secret was not with the ten people.

It could only be in other parts of the movie.

Now that she had grasped the key, she would have the upper hand in this negotiation!

As soon as she got up, the few people around Yohan couldn't hold back their tongues any longer.

"Miss Ching, please wait. We are here for a negotiation. Are you not satisfied with the price? Then please give us a price."

Yohan was mad at his team!

They were supposed to be the ones calling the price and had complete control over the situation. After all, Lunanica Media didn't know what was going on at all.

Anyone who gave in first would lose this game.

Also, being the disadvantaged one in the negotiation.

Those stupid team members of Yohan were practically yielding to Janet the moment they gave Janet a chance to call the price.

What a bunch of booze bags!

Yohan quickly thought of ways to remedy the situation.

Top up more money?

It seemed like the only option.

However, it looked as though Janet might have figured out something.

He must not let any of his true intentions be revealed.

The original copy must not be mentioned before signing off the agreement.

Otherwise, Janet would be smart enough to figure the secret out.

"You're going to give us more money. This begs the question, how much more are you willing to offer?" Janet asked with a smile.

Things were already going on according to how she wanted it to be.

Yohan took a deep breath. "Five million."

The shareholders were shocked again!

Five million!

The movie had only sold off hundreds of thousands at the box office!

Yet, Yohan and his team were actually offering a price of five million!

The shareholders' eyes were all green with envy.

Yet they had no say in this matter, for they had already sold off their shares!

Janet was about to walk away again.

Yohan's heart thumped at that moment!

She was going to demand for an exorbitant price, wasn't she?

"Give us a price!" Looking at Janet who was about to walk out, Yohan braced himself and shouted.

Janet stopped.

Yohan and others were relieved only for a moment.

For what they heard next had made their hearts miss several beats at once!

Janet drawled slowly, "Five hundred million!"

The room was filled with shrieks at that moment!

Yohan and his team exchanged glances, their eyes twinkling with incredulity.

Even the shareholders thought that Janet was crazy!

Having heard Yohan offering five million was enough to shock the shareholders.

Yet, Janet was bold enough to ask for five hundred million!

The price went up by a hundred times!

Was it really a negotiation?

It was obviously a robbery!

A blackmail!

Never in their lives had they seen such a negotiation!

They felt that Janet wasn't here to negotiate with Yohan and his team at all!

Martin's blood was boiling with exasperation!

Five hundred million!

He must be a fool to sell off his shares!

He had completely lost his say in this matter. All he could do was to witness Janet act as per her own!

The faces of Yohan and his team turned ghastly pale!

They all looked at Yohan!

They were wondering the very same thing...

Could Lunanica Media have known it?

Yohan took a deep breath and said to Janet, "What's the meaning of this, Miss Ching? We are here to make a sincere proposition. Do you intend to humiliate us like this? If word spreads out, your reputation will take a bigger hit."

Janet tittered. "Reputation? Oh, what a joke. Lunanica Media has been at its worst in recent weeks. Why would I even be afraid of seeing it getting worse? I'll let you have the meeting room and I will be back in ten minutes. Deal or no deal, one word."

With that said, Janet turned on her heel and walked away.

Everyone's heads were buzzing.

Insane!

Janet must be insane!

Now that they were in such desperate states, she was going to give up, wasn't she?

Still, she had a point!

The reputation of Lunanica Media was indeed already tarnished.

The shareholders left one after another, leaving behind Yohan and his team.

As soon as they left, Yohan's team exploded.

"Yohan! What does Lunanica Media mean? Do they know the secret?"

They bellowed, "Why would they ask for five hundred million? That is a lot of money for the mere copyrights!"
