Chapter 659

Zanya and the others quietened down. At that moment, they finally understood what kind of trouble they were in this time. Crystal was also too lazy to bother with those people so after she received the money, she left together with Matthew. Thereafter, the people left in the room glanced at each other and their faces were pale.

“Zanya, who is that friend of yours? Are you trying to drive me into an early grave? That’s the young lady of the Harrison family. If I did anything to hurt her today, the Harrison family would’ve killed me!”

With an embarrassed expression, Zanya replied, “I didn’t know who she was. Matthew is just a loser who lives with his in-laws. Back then, he married my classmate for 100,000. He doesn’t have a powerful background so how would I have known that the girl beside him has such a powerful identity?”

Herman frowned. “He’s just a boy toy? Does that mean that the daughter of the Harrison family likes gigolos?”

Furious, Morin yelled, “Of course she does! Gigolos nowadays are smart and they are skilled at tricking women. Wealthy girls like her have no brains so it’s normal for them to be deceived.”

Herman gritted his teeth. “I don’t understand,” he muttered. “Are these girls blind? How is that man even qualified to be a boy toy? His looks, family background, and attitude is not even comparable to me. What does Crystal see in him? Why is she together with that piece of trash?”

The few of them sighed and looked unconvinced. They couldn’t figure out why Matthew was lucky enough to hook up with a beautiful and wealthy girl like Crystal.

At the same time, Horton was looking at Matthew in confusion. He couldn’t understand why Crystal was treating this young man so kindly. She had a few boyfriends in the past but those boyfriends treated her like a queen. I’ve never seen Crystal be so affectionate toward a man!

After they left the restaurant, Horton asked in a puzzled manner, “M-Miss Harrison, is... is what you said true?”

Surprised, Crystal asked, “What are you talking about?”

Horton then continued, “A-About the foundation?”

Hearing this, she yelled, “Of course it’s true! When have I ever lied?”

Horton looked at her in confusion. “Miss Harrison, have... have you been losing sleep lately? O-Or do you have a fever?”

Crystal was so furious she rolled her eyes at him and argued, “What do you mean? Do you think that I’m doing it because I’m bored? What’s the matter? Can’t I do something serious?”

Horton looked embarrassed. Crystal wasn’t like this. In the past, she was just a standard rich kid from a powerful family. With the whole Harrison family pampering her, she would never think of doing anything serious, let alone build a foundation to help the poor. How is that possible?

Crystal could tell Horton was confused so she pursed her lips and said, “People change. I can’t be a child forever! I’m telling you, I’ll definitely make this foundation successful. When that happens, I’ll impress everyone!”

Horton then commented, “Miss Harrison, if the foundation succeeds, I’ll donate 30 million into your foundation!”

Hearing this, Crystal immediately said, “A gentleman will always keep his promise! Hort, I’ll remember your promise!”

Horton burst into laughter. “Ha! Don’t worry. As long as you work hard, I’ll give you even more than 30 million when the time comes.”

When Crystal heard this, she looked upset. “Judging by your tone, you seem to think that I’ll fail. Well, this time, I’m determined to prove you wrong.”

Horton smiled, not impressed with her words. In his opinion, Crystal was a standard spoiled rich kid. Even if she had a good idea, it wouldn’t last long. After all, how could it?

Chapter 660

Later, Horton brought Crystal and Matthew to meet Ambrose. As expected, Ambrose was entertaining the big shots. When Crystal and the others arrived, the dinner had already ended.

When Matthew stood in front of Ambrose, he realized that Ambrose still had a strong domineering aura. However, when Ambrose saw Crystal, his lips curled into a rare smile. "Crystal, why didn't you tell me you were coming?"

Crystal pursed her lips and replied, "Because I didn't want to. Every time I come over, you always arrange a group of people to follow me around. Everyone evades me wherever I go and I can't even have some real fun."

Hearing this, Ambrose burst into laughter. Then, he looked at Matthew and asked, "Who is this?" Ambrose thought that Matthew was another one of Crystal's suitors. After all, he had seen many of them before. When the previous suitors stood in front of him, they were all silent and nervous. However, Matthew was extremely calm and this surprised Ambrose so he couldn't help but glance at him.

"This is my friend, Matthew. The reason I came here is to accompany him to buy some things!" Crystal replied.

Ambrose was surprised by her answer. Then, he stared at Matthew intently and asked, "Matthew, are you from Eastcliff?"

"Yes, I am."

After hearing this, Ambrose nodded slightly and said, "So you're Crystal's friend. Since Crystal had personally brought you over, just tell me if there's anything you want. I'll ask my men to reserve it for you."

Matthew smiled and replied, "Thank you, Mr. Arnold."

Later, Crystal dragged Matthew away after chatting for a short while. Watching Matthew leave, Ambrose seemed to be slightly doubtful. However, in the end, he shook his head and let out a long sigh.

After they walked out of Ambrose's mansion, Matthew curiously asked, "Miss Harrison, are you close with Mr. Arnold?"

Crystal nodded and replied, "Of course we're close. My grandfather saved his life. Back then, he went to Woodside with serious wounds. He was dying but the doctors of Woodside didn't know how to save him. Coincidentally, my grandfather went there to buy some things so he stayed here for a few days and saved him. My grandfather saved Horton too."

After hearing this, Matthew suddenly realized why Ambrose and Horton were so good to Crystal. Turns out it's out of gratitude.

"Where is Ambrose from?"

Crystal shook her head and replied, "I don't know. Even my grandfather has never asked about his past."

Matthew nodded and turned to look at Ambrose's mansion, still feeling a little doubtful. When he saw Ambrose, he kept thinking that he looked familiar, but he couldn't seem to remember who he was and where he met him before.

After they returned to the hotel, Matthew directly went back to his room. Standing in front of the door, Crystal said, "Hey, I accompanied you the whole night. Shouldn't you invite me in for some tea?"

Matthew felt speechless and he immediately closed the door. What the hell is this girl trying to do?

After he returned to his room, he sat down, crossed his legs, and practiced the Divine Skill for a moment before going to sleep.

In the middle of the night, the door to Matthew's room creaked open and it woke him up. He quickly opened his eyes and he could hear some familiar footsteps. It's Crystal!

Matthew frowned slightly. What is she doing here in the middle of the night? And how did she open the door of my room? From the way she's creeping around... is she up to something?

Matthew pretended to sleep because he wanted to see what Crystal was planning. Crystal then walked up to the side of the bed and she had a sweet smell that made Matthew's heart pound. All of a sudden, Matthew heard a soft sound, as if she was undressing. Before he came back to his senses, a naked body slid under his blanket and hugged him tightly from behind.

Matthew was completely dumbfounded. Has Crystal lost her mind?

Being hugged by a woman who had a great figure and who was most importantly, naked, made Matthew lay awake with his heart pounding. However, he quickly calmed himself down.

No! I have a wife!

After taking a deep breath, Matthew turned to the side and covered Crystal with the blanket. Then, he got up, rolled Crystal up with the blanket, and left her on the bed.

Crystal screamed in surprise. "What are you doing? Let me go this instant!"

Matthew glanced at her and saw that Crystal's cheeks were blushing. Her gaze was charming and her hair was messy. If any other man saw her like this, they most probably would have lost control. Matthew didn't dare to take another look as he was a man full of vigor after all.

“Miss Harrison, I’m married!” Matthew yelled to emphasize again. Crystal replied, “I already told you, I don’t mind. I like you. Whether or not you have a wife doesn’t matter. I still like you and want to be together with you. Is that wrong?”

With a frown, Matthew said, “Sorry, but I love my wife very much.”

Crystal replied, “I didn’t ask you to divorce her. As long as I can be with you, I don’t care about status.”

At that moment, Matthew felt as if he was about to cough up blood. What is she talking about?

Then, Matthew said, “But I can’t betray my wife!”

After a moment of silence, tears welled up in Crystal’s eyes as she said, “Do you look down on me? Do you think I’m dirty because I have dated a few men before? I made a lot of mistakes in the past so I won’t ask you for anything because I’m not qualified. I just want to accompany you. Is that wrong?”

As Crystal spoke, she started bursting into tears. Seeing Crystal cry made Matthew panic.

In fact, the past Crystal was arrogant, unruly and vain, just like every other rich second-generation kid. At that time, Matthew really did look down on her.

However, ever since she started a foundation to help the poor, Matthew’s opinion of her had changed drastically.

Perhaps she was ignorant when she was young and did some disgusting things. However, it is rare for a person to realize her mistakes and be willing to correct them. I really have changed my view of her. However, there’s only space for Sasha in my heart. How can I let anyone else in?

“Miss Harrison, I don’t look down upon you. On the contrary, I admire some of the things you’ve done. You’re a really good person and you deserve someone better. I’m sure you’ll find your Mr. Right who’ll be a thousand times better than me!” Matthew said softly.

Sobbing, Crystal whispered, “Then let me ask you, if I had met you before Sasha appeared in your life, would you have chosen me?”

After a moment of silence, Matthew solemnly said, "I'm sorry. I will only love Sasha in this lifetime. In those three years when I had nothing, she silently took on all the burden for me. I can only use the rest of my life to repay her for everything she has done!"

Hearing this, Crystal sighed as she understood what Matthew's words meant. However, she soon curled her lips into a smile. "It doesn't matter. Your love for her doesn't prevent me from loving you. No matter what, I love you and no one can change that!"

Matthew was speechless. What is she thinking? Are all young girls nowadays so bold and unrestrained?

In order to stop Crystal from creating more trouble, Matthew pressed her sleeping point and let her sleep.

As for Matthew himself, in order to prevent any more accidents, he sat crossed legged at the side and silently practiced the Divine Skill. The special thing about the Divine Skill was that he could practice and rest at the same time, which was why even though he didn't sleep the whole night, Matthew was still energetic the next day and didn't feel tired at all.

Chapter 662

The next morning, Matthew left the room first. When Crystal woke up from her sleep, she saw that Matthew was gone and felt a little dismayed. However, she soon cheered herself back up, put on some clothes and went downstairs.

When Crystal saw Matthew, she wasn't embarrassed at all. Instead, she chatted and joked around, as if nothing had happened the night before.

The black market officially opened today. Matthew and Crystal entered the black market together and went straight for the things that Matthew had his eyes on yesterday.

They were all relatively rare medicinal materials and Matthew bought them all to keep them for future use. The price of these medicinal materials was not low and he spent almost 1 million to buy seven of them. However, for a life-saving medicine, money was not important. As for the furnace, Matthew had asked around and found out that precious items were to be left for the auction at the end of the market.

The two of them didn't notice that when they were shopping around, a few people were secretly watching them from a distance. This group of people was none other than Zanya and her friends who were taught a lesson last night. What happened last night made them mad.

They couldn't do anything to Crystal. After all, she was from the Harrison family, so they didn't dare to hurt her. However, they weren't willing to let Matthew get away so easily.

In their eyes, Matthew was a boy toy who leeches off Crystal and relied on the Harrison Family's power to do whatever he wanted. We can accept being taught a lesson by Crystal but what right does Matthew have to order us around?

"I can't believe that b*stard bought so many things. He really doesn't feel ashamed for spending a woman's money!" Zanya said angrily.

"He's a professional gigolo. Besides, he's not spending his own money so of course he won't be stingy. I wonder what the hell does Crystal see in him? People like him are not even fit to fetch my shoes!" Herman said sourly.

"He's just a loser who leeches off women and relies on other people's power to intimidate others. What's there to be proud of? I can squeeze a man like him to death with one hand!" Morin said scornfully.

Although they were complaining about Matthew, they only dared to speak behind his back.

The next day, Matthew strolled around the market again, and he finally found some groundsel herbs. Matthew had promised the young man that he would help him cure his father's kidney disease and this herb was the only missing ingredient. Now that he got this herb, he would be able to treat him.

On the third day, the real highlight of the market, the final auction, finally started!

Crystal had gotten two front-row tickets from Horton and took Matthew to the auction.

Zanya and the others also came but they sat in rows furthest from the stage. When they saw Matthew sitting in front, they were extremely furious but there was nothing they could do.

Soon, the auction started. The first few things that were up for auction were some precious paintings and antiques. Many people participated in the auction and the prices all started from at least 10 million.

Leonard was also at the auction and he didn't bother with the first few items.

Finally, a battered book appeared on stage and it looked really old. Then, the introduction of the book appeared on the big screen: 'The only 'Three Gathered Suns Acupuncture Techniques' book from the Han Dynasty, rumored to be written by the famous doctor of the Han Dynasty, Howard Nixon. Price starts from 30 million!'

Leonard immediately opened his eyes. His visit to Woodside this time was because of the 'Three Gathered Suns Acupuncture Techniques' book. The Three Gathered Suns acupuncture skill that Leonard was an expert in came from Howard Nixon. In fact, Leonard was considered as Howard's descendant. However, many subtleties of ancestral medicine had been lost when it was passed from one generation to the next.

Leonard usually didn't leave Mightwater, but he personally came to Woodside because he had heard rumors that the 'Three Gathered Suns Acupuncture Techniques' book would be sold at this auction.

As soon as the auctioneer finished announcing the starting price, Leonard raised his hand and yelled, "50 million!"

Immediately, there was an uproar among the audience as everyone was shocked by his offer.

After all, nobody would suddenly raise the price so high in the beginning of an auctio

Chapter 663

Other people didn't know the value of the only existing copy of the 'Three Gathered Suns Acupuncture Techniques'. In fact, there weren't many people who were willing to bid for it, which was why everyone was shocked when Leonard directly offered such a high price.

Norris, Roman, and Richard, who were sitting at the side, glanced at each other. In the end, none of them bade.

For one thing, they didn't know the value of the 'Three Gathered Suns Acupuncture Techniques' book. Secondly, Leonard had no conflict of interest with them so there was no need for them to go against Leonard.

It was better to be a good friend. After all, it may be useful someday. In the end, Leonard won the bidding. As he held the book, Leonard looked extremely excited, as if he had found a treasure. He even specially prepared a box beforehand and he placed the book in it.

Later, the auction continued and soon, it reached the last auction item. It was the pill furnace that Matthew wanted. After the pill furnace was placed on stage, the introduction of the item was somewhat different.

The introduction on the screen showed that this was a magical artifact which possessed extreme power that could ward off all evil. Not only that, by being around this magical artifact all year round, the person would also be nourished by the power inside the artifact so as to achieve life-prolonging effects and better health.

Sitting among the audience, Matthew couldn't help but feel amused.

This was only a pill furnace but before getting close to it, Matthew could already sense the power inside the furnace. The feeling of being nourished that was said in the introduction was in fact the remaining medicinal vapor that was left from previous use. It indeed could help get rid of some illnesses but the real effect was not as powerful as the auctioneer described.

However, the crowd was bubbling with excitement, especially the few big shots in the front row. Norris, Roman, and Richard widened their eyes and stared intently at the pill furnace on stage. They were some of the most superstitious people.

After all, people who had done many bad things tended to be suspicious, which was why they were always searching for magical artifacts that could protect themselves.

They always heard legends about powerful magical artifacts, and there were some people who would spend a lot of money to find one. Now that the pill furnace was on display, it naturally attracted plenty of attention.

In fact, Norris, Roman and Richard came here because of the pill furnace. The starting price of the pill furnace was 50 million.

As soon as it was put on stage, Norris immediately yelled, "50 million!"

Hearing this, Richard scoffed disdainfully before he raised his hand and yelled, "60 million!"

No matter the big shots of Jersey or the young masters of the Ten Greatest Families of Stonedale, they were all not short of money. Roman pursed his lips and simply shouted, "80 million!"

The sudden price increase of 20 million was obviously to mock Norris and Richard for being too petty. The two of them were furious and they immediately raised the price. Soon, the price rose to 150 million.

This price was offered by Roman. Meanwhile, Norris and Richard were hesitating. It was obvious that they were calculating whether it was worth it to spend more than 100 million on a furnace.

Roman, on the other hand, was triumphant. This time, he was sure that he would win the furnace. Roman got rich because of the Wayne family and the elders of the Wayne family were his biggest backers.

The Wayne family elder had been ill lately so Roman wanted to buy this furnace as a gift for the elder.

If I send this gift over, the elder will definitely be impressed. When that happens, the return I'll get will definitely be more than 200 million.

At the same time, Ambrose looked calm but he was surprised that the furnace could be sold for 150 million.

Just when the auctioneer was about to drop the hammer, he heard a sudden yell. "160 million!"

Everyone's expressions changed and they turned to look at the bidder. The situation was clear just now, where only these three big shots were bidding against each other. As for the others, even if they had the money, they wouldn't dare to bid against them.

Which was why they were shocked that someone in the back dared to join the bidding and wanted to see who was so bold.

That bidder was none other than Matthew!
