

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage

Chapter 691

Tiger immediately nodded. "You got it, Mr. Larson. We'll teach them a lesson."

"Alright, men. Break these b*stards' arms and legs. I want them to kneel on the side of the road for the rest of their lives begging for food!"

Everyone at the scene was dumbfounded. Were Tiger's lessons so severe?

The security captain and the rest of the security guards almost cried and knelt down on the ground in panic, begging for mercy. "Master Tiger, please forgive us!"

"Master Tiger, this has nothing to do with us. We were just deceived by Liam Hayes."

"Master Tiger, please just give us another chance! We were wrong!"

Smith and the rest of the gangsters who were there didn't say anything. No matter what Tiger wanted to do, they would absolutely support him.

At this time, everyone just wanted to distance themselves from them, lest Tiger came looking for them for trouble.

In fact, Tiger's punishment was indeed excessive. However, this matter was related to Sasha and Matthew, so Tiger would need to show the appropriate response.

He needed to make his stance clear and let everyone know how important he viewed Sasha and Matthew, as well as showing his loyalty to Matthew at the same time.

Sasha grew anxious. "Mr. Tiger, this... Isn't this a bit too much?"

"President Cunningham, there's no need to call me Mr. Tiger. You can just call me Tiger," Tiger hurriedly said.

"This isn't actually too much. Normally, these b*stards should have been sealed up in cement and dunked into a lake. Now we're just crippling them. At least they will still be alive, which is already very good for them."

"But they have family," Sasha murmured. "If they become cripples, what will happen to them?"

The security captain wasn't a fool. When he saw this, he immediately understood who he should beg for forgiveness.

He quickly knelt down in front of Sasha and wailed. "President Cunningham, please, you have to help me! I have my parents and child to support. My son is only 5 years old! I just wanted to make some money to raise my son. I was tricked by that b*stard Liam!"

"I let the money cloud my judgement, that's why I did something like this. Please, seeing that I have a family to take care of, please spare me, I beg you..."

In the end, after listening to his words, Sasha's heart softened. She could only look at Matthew for help.

Matthew was calm and he said softly, "Sasha, we'll deal with them however you like. Just give the word."

Sasha took a deep breath and suddenly said, "Alright. How about we deduct three months of their wages as punishment?"

When this sentence came out, the audience was in an uproar.

Smith and all the rest were dumbfounded. This woman really didn't understand how things worked outside. At the very least, something like this should have gotten the offenders beaten black and blue. Deducting three months of their wages? Was she joking?

However, the security captain and the rest were grateful. At this point, even if they were asked to give up all their family's assets, they would be willing, let alone deducting three months of their wages. Of course, everyone was extremely grateful to Sasha. She was their savior!

Matthew gave a soft sigh. "Sasha, you are still too kind. However, since you have spoken, we will do as you say. Notify the finance department and have them deduct three months of their wages. As for you lot, you better behave from now on. Know your place and what you should do. Understand?"

The security captain nodded quickly and repeatedly gave his thanks. "Thank you, President Cunningham. Thank you, Mr. Larson. Don't worry, I will work hard in the future. You've given us back our lives, President Cunningham and Mr. Larson. If anyone troubles you in the future, all of us will fight!"

In truth, Sasha only had a moment of soft-heartedness. She never thought that with just a few simple words, she would gain the allegiance of these security guards!

From then on, these security guards were only loyal to Sasha and Matthew.
