

Chapter 465

"Mom, I know, she is the mother of our classmate Guan Sitian." Lilly rushed to answer.

"Um..." It was the group leader, she finally saw it today.

The man looked at Suzi and said angrily: "The only ones are more people than you know!"

Suzi: "..."

She didn't answer, just looked out the window.

The man looked at her.

What happened to her today?

She has always been quiet, but she was a little abnormal today, as if her soul had escaped from her. In these two days, she was still like a docile deer every day, often coming to look for it. He took the initiative to get into his bed, and he would take the initiative to put his arms around his neck, resting her shoulders happily.

But what happened today?

The man looked at the wandering woman, raised his wrist and touched her forehead: "Are you sick?"

Suzi gave a very exciting response, and then replied with a slow response: "No...no."

He also felt it out. She doesn't have a fever, her forehead is cold, and she is not in her menstrual period, she should not be sick.

After thinking about it, the man changed the subject: "Teach you to drive every day for the past two days. You should learn about driving skills, right?"

Suzi nodded: "Well, I can drive." "Well, I'm going to Kyoto in the past few days. I may be back in a few days. If you want to drive by yourself, you can drive by yourself. If you don't want to drive by yourself, you can give more You send a driver to the only kindergarten every day, and then send you to work." Arron said.

"Um...no...no, I can drive by myself." Suzi said.

After a pause, she asked, "Where are you... going? Kyoto?"

Arron: "Well, Kyoto."

Suzi asked again: "Go to Jun's house?"

Arron turned his head and looked at Suzi: "How do you know?" He had some incredible expressions.

Suzi smiled sadly: "You forgot, you used to take me to meet your best friends. One of them is Kraig from Kyoto. Kraig also went to your office. He told me about you. It's a brother of life and death, so I guessed it."

Arron smiled coldly: "It's quite smart, and I know that I have a brother named Jun."

The implication is that you still know that you care about me!

This time he went to Kyoto, not to the Jun's house, let alone to see Kraig. He was from the drama Jingdong to see Mr. Shu. The man has been hospitalized in Kyoto for three weeks. However, he is busy with the company this time. The most important thing is He hoped that Suzi and Shen Sole's mother and daughter could adapt as soon as possible in Nancheng, so Arron has been dragging on until now and he hasn't even looked at his father.

Suzi's tone was quieter than before: "You...will love the only one, right?"

"What do you want to say?" The man couldn't understand the woman a little bit today.

"Hmm..." Suzi finally brought the topic to the main topic: "I heard...The status of the Kyoto Jun family in Kyoto is equivalent to your status in Nancheng. The Jun family has a The second lady, Siu..."

I didn't finish a sentence, but I saw Arron's refusal very coldly and bluntly: "You don't want to ask questions about Siu."

Chapter 466

Suzi's heart sank, but the surface was calm.

She didn't look at Arron anymore, but her eyes drifted out of the car window. When she was still, her expression was immersed and closed, as if she was living in her own world, not fighting or grabbing, not happy or sad.

Even if you put a knife on her neck now, she might not look at you more, let alone show a frightened look.

Arron likes her like this.

Seeing her sitting posture, her back was very straight, the man put his arm behind her casually, and hugged her vainly. She didn't object, but leaned against his arms like a cat.

Although he only said, "You don't care about Siu."

But she already understood.

Jun's family is his best friend. Fortunately, a woman like her who was plundered back by him is not qualified to intervene. It is more likely that because Siu wants to punish her, he also chose to go to Kyoto in a few days. 'S Jun's family hiding?

Think sadly.

Along the way, she didn't speak any more, she didn't remember what Lilly said to her, she didn't remember too much. Lilly saw that her mother had been absent, thinking that her mother was tired, so he threw Suzi in the leg with two little hands. He said to Arron: "Dad, when I grow up, let's treat my mother together. You see how hard my mother is."

Arron: "..."

Isn't it that when you grow up, you love me and your mother?

Seeing Arron not speaking, Lilly asked again: "Why, do you have an opinion, dad? If you have an opinion and you don't want to hurt my mother, I will find my mother a boyfriend who is more handsome than you, anyway. There are so many handsome guys chasing my mother. Humph!"

The driver driving in front: "Puff..." Driver Yan can see that the little princess always stands in the same camp with her mother, even if her mother did not hug her a few days ago. The father who hugged her almost left her outside, but the little princess was still in a team with her mother.

Huh!

Feeling again, it's great to raise a girl.

No wonder the Fourth Master had to find her daughter back all the way.

Haha!

The Fourth Master's face was not so ugly this time.

The driver's car drove a little faster. He was in a good mood recently. Since the Fourth Master brought his wife and the little princess back, Christopher feels that his work environment has undergone drastic changes. He used to drive the Fourth Master every day. The most popular is what Master said: "If it doesn't work, just do it! Clean it up!"

Or it means: "Give you 5% of the profit, and you can sign the contract, no? That's 4% of the profit! I still disagree, 2%!"

Every day he picks up and picks up the Fourth Master, Christopher has never seen the Fourth Master have a smiling face. His face is cold all the year round. Sometimes Christopher is worried that the Fourth Master will stop having facial paralysis.

The Master is really different now.

Although Master didn't smile, but his micro expressions were extremely rich. He got a cold face first, then helpless, and then, there was a touch of imperceptible pride.

At this time, Arron was indeed hiding his pride, and said to Lilly with a deliberately overwhelming expression of joy and anger, "You can find it for your mother, it also depends on those handsome uncles, dare you dare to date your mother?!"

This tone, seemingly ordinary, but extremely domineering.

However, in Suzi's ears, there is a disparity.