

Life at The Top – Chapter 1483

“Mr. Laine, to be honest, I want to be your friend.”

Todd was not a stingy person, and since he was the successor personally trained by Old Master Puller, he had character and was very sophisticated.

Although the previous events made him feel a little dejected and uncomfortable, since he had made a decision, he immediately adjusted his mentality and tried to flatter Jasper so he could achieve his goal.

Jasper nodded and said, “I also like to make friends. It’s better to have more friends like Mr. Puller.”

Gifts blinded the eyes. Since he just got some benefits from Todd, naturally, Jasper would not turn his back on the man, Todd also smiled when he heard this ideal feedback from Jasper.

“Then I will just say it straight, I hope to reach a long-term strategic partnership with Mr. Laine and JW.”

Todd’s eyes were blazing. He continued, “I think JW’s future is very bright, and I have high praise for Mr. Laine’s ability. I think this investment will be most rewarding.”

“You’re too kind, Mr. Puller.”

Jasper chuckled softly and said, “I have Blau Mobiles under my name and I also have an electronics manufacturing company. Both of these two companies have very congenial business relationships with Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing. I think this strategic partnership will be good for both of us.”

“Of course, if we reach a partnership, Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing will aim to supply to all JW companies first. However, in addition to this, we also hope that Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing will become the sole supply agent to all JW companies in Nawait in the future.”

When Todd said this, Jasper narrowed his eyes.

“Mr. Puller, at present, JW has a series of businesses. Except for the cooperation with the entertainment industry in Nawait, we have not expanded our other businesses to Nawait. I’m sure Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing is not in the entertainment industry, right?”

Todd shrugged and said, “Just because we’re not doing it now, it doesn’t mean we won’t do so in the future. Even if you are not in Nawait’s market now, it doesn’t mean you won’t enter sometime the future.”

“The best business is business for the future.”

Jasper changed how he viewed Todd after he said that.

“Mr. Puller, that spoke straight to my heart. I also have another business. I wonder if you’d be interested in that.”

Jasper’s statement caused Todd to feel curious. He said, “Oh? What is it?”

“I plan to start a foundation.”

Jasper smiled and told Todd his plan.

“This foundation can be temporary or long-term, but it currently has only one purpose and that is to snipe the United States stock market.”

What transpired on the United States stock market was no secret nowadays. A lot of people who understood finance and stocks talked about it after dinner.

When it came to someone like Todd such a thing was clear as day.

So, Jasper did not hide anything and told him everything directly.

“The United States stock market is still closed, but after that, there will be some big moves. Any disturbance in the financial market, be it an increase or decrease, is an opportunity for investors to make money. Mr. Puller, are you interested?”

Todd’s eyes were burning with interest. He became aware of what happened some time ago.

Jasper shorting the Dow Jones index with a large sum of money made everyone in the world laugh at him for being a fool who went crazy thinking about money. However, what happened after that slapped everyone in the world across the face.

Not only was he a lunatic, he was a genius who truly could predict the future.

A terrorist attack was a disaster to everyone, but for Jasper, it represented a chance for him to become rich overnight

Jasper seized this opportunity.

Todd got news that Jasper had made at least several billion dollars in the previous crash.

This was an astronomical figure.

It was precisely because of these things that Todd was determined to have a good relationship with Jasper.

“However, I need to tell you beforehand. No one has ever done anything like snipping the United States stock market before.”

“What we have to face are the founders and rule makers of the modern financial system. They have the most experience and a mountain of funds, so the risks are extremely high. Once we fail, we’ll likely to be wiped out.”

Jasper did not brag about how perfect his plan was. After all, the risks were obvious. At this point, it would be better to be honest.

Todd thought for a moment and said, “I can only invest with my name.”

Jasper nodded, “I understand.”

The composition of Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing’s shares was complex, including not only Western giants such as Flips, but also the Nawait government.

Therefore, no matter how bold Todd was, he could not involve Nawait Semiconductor Manufacturing in this. He also could not use his family's name.

Although his name and his family name were just a matter of interpretation, in many cases, the semantics would have huge spillover effects.

"How much money do you want?" Todd asked.

"The minimum is 1 billion US Dollars, no maximum."

Jasper's answer caused Todd to draw a deep breath.

"What a large amount."

Jasper said lightly, "Think about what we are going to do. For 10 bucks, you can take the bus ten times, the subway several times, and even take a taxi at the base price, but can you start a war with 10 bucks?"

The corners of Todd's mouth twitched and he changed the question, "How about the risk assessment?"

“The risk is extremely high. This time, there is no bottom line in the investment. You might lose everything or you might make a lot of money. There are only two possibilities and there is no capital protection.”

Jasper’s answer was simple but it reeked of blood. Todd’s expression also became stern.

“Besides me, is there anyone else investing in this foundation?”

Jasper said with a chuckle, “The Laws, the little prince, Lord Alvarado, and Kayden. These people are our partners.”

Todd looked tormented. He raised his head and pressed Jasper. “Last question, will this foundation still be around after this?”

Jasper asked insipidly, “Mr. Puller, do you care about this a lot?”

“Of course!” Todd said abruptly, “Don’t you want to build an organization like Empire Meet, Mr. Laine?”

After Jasper heard this, he narrowed his eyes and grinned. Meanwhile, Henry’s expression changed at one side. Then, he became very joyous.

'Damn, if Jasper decides to call his people to do this, just think of the members of this organization. Myself, the little prince, Kayden, and Lord Lavarado. These people alone are way superior to Empire Meet.

'How exciting would that be?'

As the founder, wouldn't Jasper's mere presence blind everyone whenever he went out?
