

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1061

Everyone recognized the girl at once—she was none other than the third year medical student, Tina Favre.

She had also spread many malicious rumors about Janet when the latter was away.

“Let’s go,” Janet said indifferently after shooting a glance at the people around her.

When she said those words, she ignored Tina completely.

Abby nodded and followed suit. Ignoring Tina, she deliberately said, “Come on.”

With that, Sharon and Summer followed behind Janet.

Meanwhile, Tina did not understand why Janet had gotten everyone’s attention.

Is she that amazing?

She certainly has impressive skills, but not to the point where everyone has to please her!

Outsiders might even think that those three behind her are her lap dogs!

“Tsk! These first year medical students don’t have any respect for others at all!”

“Yeah. They didn’t even greet Tina when they saw her!”

“I know, right? Perhaps one of them proudly thinks that she is good enough to miss the surgery training that she promised to attend.”

“Oh—she has already won the International Medicine Competition for Novice! Such a small surgery is nothing to her.

A few juniors behind Tina started mocking them.

Upon hearing this, a sense of satisfaction flooded through Tina. Curling her lips, she pretended to be understanding as she murmured, “At Woodsbury University, even though we have the custom of greeting seniors, she's different. She's the winner of the International Medicine Competition for Novice after all. What are we? We're nothing! So, it's normal that she doesn't greet us at all."

"That's right! Luckily Tina doesn't hold a grudge against her. If I were her, I would definitely teach these people a good lesson so that they learn their manners and respect others."

"Precisely. Tina has such a good temper!"

Abby could not stand it anymore. She ignored Janet's attempt to stop her and stepped forward to talk to Tina. Letting out a cold snort, she argued, "You already know that Janet is the winner of the International Medicine Competition, so why are you so rude? Is this how you treat the winner? You're nothing!"

Abby was no longer the weak girl who needed to be protected from others. At this moment, she was good at retaliating against bullies.

Even Janet did not realize this hidden skill of hers.

Since Janet was unaware of it, it was even more unlikely for the others to know about this as well.

As soon as Abby finished speaking, the other party blanched immediately.

Tina merely gritted her teeth, her eyes wide as anger rose within her.

However, because of her special status, she could not afford to flare up in public so she merely pushed her juniors in front of her.

The girl looked pale but she glared at Abby and gritted her teeth as she said viciously, "You little b*tch! Since when do you speak so sharply? I didn't realize this before."

Abby crossed her arms in front of her chest and snorted coldly. "I merely said the same thing as you, but with a different meaning."

"Abby." Sharon walked forward to tug on Abby's hands as she lowered her head. "Stop quarreling. Let's leave."

Angry and annoyed, Tina clenched her fists tightly. After failing to hold herself back, she shoved Sharon away. "This is none of your business, you useless fellow!"

Upon hearing the word 'useless', Sharon froze immediately.

She's talking about this again.

The fact that Sharon took part in the surgery training for third year students was brought up by Tina again.

Truth was, everyone did not think that Sharon had the right to join the surgery training last round.

Sharon lowered her head and fell to the ground after she lost her footing due to Tina's shove.

It was only until she felt the pain from her wrist that she realized that she was already on the ground.

"Ouch! It hurts!" Sharon exclaimed with a frown.

Janet's aura turned colder as she immediately crouched down and murmured, "Are you okay, Sharon?"

"I'm fine." Sharon smiled bitterly.

"I did not even shove you hard. What problem could you have?" Tina laughed sarcastically and cruelly. "Apart from that, you are not depending on your hands to earn a living. Even if you don't have any hands, you can still use other opportunities to join our surgery training, can't you?"

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1062

With a pale face, Sharon dug her fingernails into her palms, her lips pressed into a firm line.

Seeing the wound on Sharon's right hand, Abby immediately said angrily, "Tina, this is too much! Look—Sharon's hand is hurt."

It was only until Abby mentioned it that Janet noticed the wound on Sharon's hand.

The temperature around her dropped immediately as she looked at Tina frostily and threateningly.

"Too much?" Tina snorted coldly. "She fell after hearing the word 'useless'. After all, she feels guilty about it!"

Tina continued speaking but Janet countenance turned colder in front of her.

However, those involved did not realize this.

Finally, Janet shot a cold, hard stare at Tina as she spoke with an intimidating tone. "Say it again."

In an instant, Tina shut her mouth immediately. Her face fell as she looked at Janet tremblingly. "W-What are you doing?"

"I want you to shut the f*ck up!"

Janet almost flew into a rage.

Since no one dared to speak, a deadly silence fell upon them.

"Say it!" Janet slowly approached Tina. "Aren't you good at talking? Why aren't you saying anything?"

"You—" Tina's eyes narrowed and even the corner of her lips were trembling.

After all, she had heard about the incident in Star High School that Janet was involved in when she was in grade 12.

In simple terms, Janet is a psychopath who easily gets angered.

She's very difficult to deal with!

The juniors behind Tina almost broke into tears after seeing Janet acting this way, and they quickly walked forward to tug at Tina's arm. "Tina, let's leave now. Janet is an irate psycho whom we can't win against if we get into a fight."

Tina bit her lips slightly but she did not move.

If I leave just like this, isn't it too embarrassing?

Tina was solely thinking about the ways to maintain her reputation. Even though her pink lips were trembling, she stammered, "B-But what I just said was true! Sharon is indeed useless!"

With a smirk on her face, Janet retorted, a trace of evilness in her tone, "Tell me, then—what's considered useful? Someone like you? Would you consider yourself useful even though you were chased out of the surgery room by Doctor Sandra?"

Tina's body stiffened immediately as her expression remained frozen on her face. At that moment, she had a dark look on her face.

Janet didn't join the surgery, so how does she know that I was chased out of the surgery room by Doctor Sandra?

Did Sharon tell her that?

Is Sharon such a gossipy person?

A chill ran down Tina's back as her pink lips slowly turned pale.

"H-How did you know that?"

Janet leaned into Tina and snorted into her ears. "What do you think? I wouldn't want someone like you to continue staying in the medical field."

Her calm and indifferent voice slowly rang out, but the volume was so low that only the both of them could hear it.

Tina's eyes widened as she staggered backward until there was no more space for her to retreat. With trembling lips, she asked, "What is the relationship between you and Doctor Sandra?"

Janet crossed her arms in front of her chest and smirked. "With your IQ, aren't you embarrassed to continue studying medicine?"

Even Abby, Sharon, and Summer found out about my identity.

But the person who claims to be the smartest person in medical school still asks me about my relationship with Doctor Sandra.

Janet felt like bursting into laughter.

Tina's face fell and she shook her head as she looked at Janet incredulously. "Impossible! That is impossible!"

Janet can't be her!

She can't possibly be Doctor Sandra!

However, a few facts revealed the likelihood that Janet was Doctor Sandra.

Firstly, they had similar figures. Apart from that, both of their eyes had a similar indifference to them.

Besides, it was highly likely that Janet played a role in enabling Sharon to join the surgery training out of the blue.

Why didn't Janet show up in the surgery training this time around? The simplest explanation is that she has already participated in the surgery as Doctor Sandra!

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1063

From the various hints, it could be proven that Janet was highly likely to be Doctor Sandra.

However, Tina did not dare to believe it, nor did she want to believe this.

If Janet really is Doctor Sandra, I'm doomed.

If she wants to take revenge, I have to leave medical school anytime she asks me to.

Impossible!

This is impossible!

Tina shook her head in confusion.

Perhaps this is just my guess.

Yes; my guess must be wrong.

Otherwise, why didn't Janet reveal her true identity? If she really is Doctor Sandra, why did she come to Woodsbury University to study medicine?

Perhaps Janet just looks like Doctor Sandra.

This must be a coincidence.

Yes; it must be a coincidence.

Tina lost her footing and fell to the ground immediately.

Upon seeing this, the juniors behind her panicked and quickly walked forward to help her up. "Tina, let's leave soon."

"Yes. Get up from the ground quickly!"

We were right just now—Janet is a psycho! Otherwise, why would Tina be so shocked until she fell to the ground after hearing a few words from Janet?

After a while, Tina finally returned to her senses and got up from the ground.

When Abby was about to say something, she immediately retreated flusteredly.

Seeing the way Tina was being supported by the juniors as she left—looking like a duck being squeezed between them—Abby finally smiled despite her tears.

Janet retracted her sharp gaze and lowered her head to look at Sharon, who was on the ground. "Let's go; I'll bring you to the infirmary to disinfect your wounds."

"Alright." Sharon pursed her lips together.

At the infirmary, the university doctor cleaned Sharon's wounds up.

Since the wound was not deep, Janet did not interfere with the treatment and walked out of there.

"There's a third year medical student in Woodsbury University named Tina Favre. Watch her closely and give her a hell of a training," she muttered in an icy voice.

Janet stood lazily with her eyes staring straight ahead.

The man on the other end of the line hesitated. "Tina Favre? How did she offend you?"

"Don't ask; just do as I say."

Janet did not have much patience, so she hung up after she finished speaking.

The person whom she called was from the National Medical Center.

After this call, the National Medical Center would inform every hospital to keep an eye on Tina. Once one was being picked on by the National Medical Center, their future was doomed.

Janet's words just now were already quite kind, in fact. At the very least, she still gave a chance to Tina—she merely asked them to train Tina well so that her sharp arrogance would be tamed.

If Tina did not shove Sharon, Janet would not be bothered to hold a grudge against her. However, the person she hurt was one of the Lowry Family.

Tsk! She really doesn't treasure her life!

If Black Python knows about this, he'll surely go crazy.

Thinking of this, Janet pulled out her phone and called him.

It seemed like he was in a crowd since it was quite noisy on his end.

Janet frowned slightly as she asked indifferently, "Are you free this afternoon?"

On the other end of the line, Black Python hesitated for a moment before asking, "What's the matter, Miss Jackson?"

"I'm asking you if you're free later on in the afternoon."

"I'm caught up in some matters, so I can't leave right now. Is it urgent, Miss Jackson?" he asked respectfully after a pause.

"I see." Janet arched her eyebrows. "Sharon is injured, so I was initially planning to ask you to send her home later."

With that, the man on the other end of the line lost his composure completely. With a nervous tone, he asked in a trembling voice, "She's injured? How? What happened?"

"Ah—it's quite complicated. If you aren't free, I'll ask someone else to send her home," Janet drawled as she leaned against the wall.

With that, she planned to hang up immediately, but Black Python stopped her. "I'm free! I'm free. I'll head over immediately."

Upon hearing that, Janet could not help but raise her eyebrows. "Okay."

Ha! What happened to being busy?

Why is he able to suddenly free up his schedule?

With a smile on her face, Janet put her phone back into her pocket.

However, before she placed it in, the screen lit up again.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1064

As soon as she saw the caller, she clenched her fist tightly and pursed her lips.

After a while only did she pick it up.

"What's up?"

Her cold voice seemed so distant that it made others feel as though it was hard to approach her.

"Janet, Mason from the Lowry Family is getting engaged with his girlfriend, J'Adore. I have no idea why they invited us but since they have already done so, we will definitely attend. So, your dad and I want to ask about your opinion." Megan's gentle voice rang from the other end of the phone.

Her call was both expected and unexpected to Janet.

In the past, both Megan and Brian would never call her for any big events. Instead, they would ring Emily up.

Janet's beautiful eyes drooped as an unknown emotion swept across her eyes. However, she replied lightly, "I will go to Mason and J'Adore's engagement party."

"Really?" Megan did not expect Janet to agree so quickly, so she was quite excited about it. "Good. In that case, come back to the Jackson Residence a day earlier so that I can prepare your evening gown."

Leaning against the wall, Janet muttered, "It's fine. I will prepare it myself."

With that, she hung up the phone, her face expressionless.

"Janet!" Suddenly, a soft female voice rang out from behind her.

Just by listening to her voice, Janet could figure out who she was.

She turned around to look at Abby. "What's wrong?" she asked, her voice indifferent.

After looking around and making sure that no one was around, Abby carefully walked over to Janet and asked tentatively as she covered her lips with her hand, "Janet, I read from the news that you are getting engaged!"

Because Sharon and Summer were around in the morning, Abby did not mention this.

Now that they were finally alone, she had to get to the bottom of this.

Janet curved her lips into a smile and nodded. "Yes. I'm getting engaged next week."

"Janet, can I go to your engagement party?"

After hesitating for a while, Abby finally popped the question.

She knew that J'Adore was a special identity that Janet did not disclose to the public.

Apart from her, only a few others knew about this.

If she appeared at J'Adore's engagement party, it would appear quite odd.

Seeing Abby's tentative expression, Janet arched her eyebrows subconsciously as she reached out to caress Abby's hair. "Of course you can."

Although it would be weird for Abby to show up, Janet wanted her friend to feel her excitement as well.

Apart from that, her engagement would be a once in a lifetime event.

If it looks weird, so be it. After all, my identity as J'Adore is not going to be a secret forever.

I'll have to announce it one day.

Abby was already prepared to be rejected, but Janet's reply caught her by surprise. Her wide, round eyes blinked as she said excitedly, "Are you serious? I can really go?"

"Yes!" Janet replied impatiently yet adoringly. "On top of that, you can attend it with Gordon. I'll ask someone to send the invitation to you."

Abby blinked as she could not believe what she had just heard. Holding Janet's face, she kissed her cheeks a few times.

Unable to withstand Abby's passionate kisses, Janet pulled Abby away from her body and shot a glance at the infirmary. Then, she spoke softly. "You can ask Sharon and Summer to attend too, but don't mention that I invited them."

Janet thought to herself, If I don't invite them, Black Python might invite Sharon anyway.

Since that might happen, I may as well invite them from the very beginning.

"You will be the prettiest bride in the entire world." Abby announced, a huge beam on her face.

Janet also smiled slightly as she drawled, "I haven't even had my wedding."

"It's the same." Abby smiled sneakily at her.

Meanwhile in a five-star hotel, after Black Python finished calling Janet, he was about to leave the hotel hastily.

Before he could step out of the exit, however, Sean pulled him back. "Black Python, the proposal tonight is very important to Young Master Mason, yet you're leaving now?"

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1065

Black Python was so anxious that he did not bother with anything else. "Mr. Sean, please tell Young Master Mason that I have an urgent matter to resolve, so I had to leave first."

Sean reacted quickly and grabbed Black Python's hands. "What urgent matter could you have? You don't even have a girlfriend nor a wife. Don't tell me that she's running away somehow?"

"Mr. Sean, please don't say that. I really have someone waiting for me! If you don't let me go now, she will run away soon!" Black Python murmured anxiously.

“Which girl would want to be your wife?” Sean asked in amusement.

Black Python merely frowned as he retaliated, “Well, I’m trying to impress her now! Since Young Master Mason and Miss Jackson are about to be engaged anyway, why would he still want to plan a marriage proposal?”

Black Python did not know what had gotten into Mason. Obviously, the latter was getting engaged with Janet next week, but he suddenly decided to propose today. To Black Python, this was utterly unnecessary.

Sean quickly covered Black Python’s mouth with his hands as he hissed. After making sure that no one was around them, he muttered, “If you don’t want to be banished from the country, never mention this in front of Young Master Mason!”

After all, Sean had personally experienced Mason almost losing his temper in the afternoon when he said something similar to what Black Python had just complained about. Mason’s exact words were—‘Engagement is one thing, but a proposal cannot be forgone. Janet deserves the best after all.’

Hence, Sean merely nodded even though he only understood half of it. Luckily, he was smart enough; otherwise, he would not even know where he would be at this moment.

Black Python also nodded blankly as he only partially understood the situation. However, even if there was some confusion, he had no time to think about it. Hence, he merely nodded. “Got it.” With that, he left in the blink of an eye.

Sean heaved a sigh before he quickly focused on directing the preparations for the proposal.

...

On the other hand, Black Python was swift enough that he had already picked Sharon from Woodsbury University an hour ago. After Janet bade farewell with Abby and Summer, she prepared to walk out of the university. Suddenly, a brand new sports car stopped at the entrance of the university.

Janet did not take notice of it until a man poked his head out of the windows that were gradually rolled down. Upon seeing that, she walked to him with a smile on her face. Since their last life and death experience, Mason had been quite clingy. He even fetched her personally to and from the university, making Janet feel as though she was a young kid being taken care of.

Upon seeing him, she jogged toward him. After Mason opened the car door and got out of the car, he spread his arms wide, a gentle and loving look on his face. "Babe."

Janet lowered her gaze and hugged him tightly. "Why are you here?" she murmured with her head buried in his chest, her tone flirtatious.

Mason's heart immediately softened. Holding her face, he kissed her as he murmured, "I have a surprise for you later on."

Upon hearing that, Janet smiled, a mischievous look in her eyes. "Surprise? I'll look forward to it, then."

"Get in the car." With that, he swept her off her feet and held her in his arms.

Janet was not prepared for the sudden hug, so she quickly wrapped her arms around his neck, which resulted in a very intimate pose.

Meanwhile, a phone camera was pointing at both of them from the corner of the street. The most powerful person in Asia, Mason Lowry, is cheating on his fiancée! Next week, he is going to be engaged with the leader of the MX from Markovia, yet he's secretly meeting the girl who got full marks in the college entrance exams. How interesting! If I post this picture with the hashtag 'MasonAndJanetCheating', it will definitely go viral.

Emily quickly took many pictures of them being intimate with each other. As Mason was getting engaged with J'Adore next week, Emily thought the man would definitely let his hair down and find his mistress to have fun before his engagement party. She was just trying out her luck at this spot. After all, only pictures could show that Mason was having an affair with Janet. However, she did not imagine that she would be this lucky to meet them.

"Oh, Janet—you b*tch! Mason and J'Adore are about to get married, yet you still don't know when to stop! Seeing that we are sisters, I will definitely show J'Adore your prettiest picture. Hmph! I'll let you experience what it's like to be homeless, you b*tch!"