

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1098 - 1099

'We shall root for the 'Madore' couple forever. Janet shall perish!'

When the fans of the 'Madore' couple made that statement, Janet's fans started to defend their idol.

'I think it would be better for someone's fans to watch their mouth. What did you mean by Janet spewing nonsense?'

'I agree. We only accept photos; recordings can be fabricated.'

'Janet wouldn't stoop so low as to become the other woman. Our Janet won't be interested in Mason no matter how impressive he is.'

'That's right! Janet has pursuers who come from all over the world; do you think that she would be interested in Mason? You guys must be imagining things.'

'I believe in Janet unconditionally!'

'I will just watch and wait on the sidelines for the truth to reveal itself!'

As the fans of two fanbases immersed themselves in the heated argument, some onlookers watched the show quietly.

A lot of netizens tagged the official accounts under the tweet that posted the recording.

'Listen to the recording. This is the true colors of the chairperson of The Tenth Writers Association! I suggest that you revoke Janet's position as the chairperson for the writers association. @WritersAssociation'

'Woodsbury University, stop keeping mum. You should immediately expel Janet. @WoodsburyUniversity'

'What kind of rubbish composer is this? I suggest revoking all of Janet's prizes and awards in the music industry. @InternationalFederationofMusicians'

Other than these, there were plenty of negative comments about Janet.

The netizens only dared to condemn Janet, but they lacked the courage to make any remarks about Mason for they were afraid to be sued by the Lowry Family Conglomerate.

At that moment, all the netizens seemed to transform into messengers of justice.

Meanwhile at the banquet, everyone stared at Mason and J'Adore on the stage and waited for them to give an explanation.

They held their breaths and remained silent, while the two people on stage exchanged glances with a deadpan expression. They did not seem surprised at all.

All of a sudden, a bunch of people barged into the banquet with cameras and recorders in their hands.

Needless to say, they were reporters and paparazzi that rushed to the scene to get firsthand information.

The longer the people on the stage remained silent, the more chaotic the scene became.

With their cameras in hand, the nosy paparazzi threw out question after question. "J'Adore, now that everything has come to this point, don't you feel shocked?"

"Or, perhaps you are aware that Mason cheated on you, but you have been keeping it to yourself?"

"How are you going to deal with this relationship?"

"Will you continue with this engagement?"

"Also, how are you going to deal with Janet, your fiancée's other woman?"

The paparazzies and reporters not only aimed their cameras at J'Adore and Mason, but Old Madam Lowry as well. They did not bother to beat around the bush and they asked, "Old Madam Lowry, everyone knows that you love J'Adore, but now that Janet is ruining J'Adore and Mason's relationship, how are you going to deal with Janet?"

"Why should I deal with her?" Old Madam Lowry asked impassively.

Upon hearing that, the reporters and paparazzi were dumbfounded, and they could not help but look at one another in puzzlement.

J'Adore's fiancée cheated on her, yet Old Madam Lowry is unfazed by the incident? Could it be that she has long known about this matter? Or could it be that the truth is just as the rumors state—Mason and J'Adore's marriage is a mere product of their family joining forces?

J'Adore could not bear to see Old Madam Lowry becoming a target of the blinding flashes, so she coldly muttered, "Turn off the flashes in front of Old Madam Lowry. I will answer what you all wish to know."

The woman's voice was cold and unfeeling yet intimidating at the same time.

The paparazzi and reporters in front of Old Madam Lowry turned off the flashes and aimed their lenses at J'Adore and Mason instead.

"J'Adore, what are your thoughts on today's incident?" they asked.

J'Adore pursed her lips as she held onto Mason's hand. "I am aware about the incident that involves my fiancée and Janet," she replied nonchalantly.

Upon hearing that, a shadow of a smile appeared on Mason's face as he held her hand, wrapping her little hand tightly with his. "I admit to my relationship with Janet."

The moment Emily heard Mason admitting that he indeed cheated on J'Adore with Janet, she was overjoyed and a surge of happiness engulfed her. Clenching her fists tightly, she bit hard on her lip as she thought to herself, This is great. This is just great! Mason actually admits to it. That b*tch, Janet, is finally revealing her true self.

Emily was so exhilarated that she almost screamed out loud.

She opened her mouth, wanting to add fuel to the fire.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1099

However, instead of stopping, the man on stage continued, "I like Janet but that doesn't mean that I don't love J'Adore. They are both my lovers and nobody should doubt my love for them."

The corner of Janet's lips curled up and she stared straight at the camera. "I knew about all these a long time ago and I don't mind."

As soon as she said that, the scene fell into a pin-drop silence.

The joy on Emily's face instantly disappeared and her expression became dark and ugly.

She clenched her fists so tightly that her crimson nails dug into her palm. How is this happening? Why does J'Adore have such a response after discovering the truth? Shouldn't she be furious? Why does she seem glad instead? This is not how she should react!

In fact, Emily was not the only one who was shocked; all the guests and reporters were dumbfounded as well, and they had looks of disbelief on their faces.

Mason actually used such innocent and pure words to explain his affair? And Janet doesn't mind about the affair between Mason and Janet? Goodness—what a bunch of weirdos!

Although it was not uncommon for a man to be a playboy or have a mistress, only Janet, Mason and J'Adore had ever openly discussed and admitted it.

Megan and Brian exchanged glances with each other, appalled looks on their faces. What's going on? Mason actually admitted to his affair with Janet? But why did J'Adore say that she doesn't mind? If she doesn't mind, she surely won't take action on Janet, and the Jackson Family won't be in trouble.

Nevertheless, Megan and Brian were not happy with the news because before this, they really believed in Janet's words. Everything that she had told them turned out to be true and she had never lied to them. Therefore, they were unwilling to believe that what they heard was true, yet the truth seemed to be different from what they expected.

Before they could ponder over it for long, the paparazzi and reporters turned to question Old Madam Lowry. “Old Madam Lowry, what did Mason and J’Adore mean by that? Could it be that you are also aware about the relationship between Mason and Janet?”

Old Madam Lowry seemed calm as she enunciated carefully, “I am aware about this.” The shocked looks from the crowd did not stop her from saying, “Since J’Adore doesn’t mind, why should I? I don’t think that it matters as long as they are happy.”

What? Did she really say that since J’Adore doesn’t mind, why should she mind? And she finds it acceptable as long as they are happy? If the crowd did not hear those words in person, they wouldn’t believe that Old Madam Lowry said that! Oh, God! The Lowry Family is actually tolerating such absurd behavior!

“Young Master Moss, you and Young Master Mason are as close as brothers, so you should know about this, right? Do you think that this is acceptable as well?” The reporters quickly turned their cameras to Henry and threw him this pressing question.

Henry exclaimed in puzzlement while casually ruffling his hair. “Oh—if Young Master Mason and J’Adore are happy, why should you guys mind?” he stated lightly.

What? As soon as Henry said that, all the guests at the scene were confused. So, it turns out Henry knows that Mason is having a relationship with Janet. The saying ‘who keeps company with a wolf will learn to howl’ surely has some truth to it! How about Lee, though? We never heard any news about him being a playboy, so he should find this inappropriate.

The reporters and paparazzi immediately focused their cameras on Lee and they asked him hesitantly, “Young Master Sanders, could it be that you know about this as well?”

The man in question cast a glance at J’Adore on the stage before nodding. “As long as she is happy.”

As long as she is happy? Janet, Mason and J’Adore openly admitted about their polyamorous relationship, but not only are the Moss and Sanders Family not against them, they seem to support them instead! It is understandable if Henry and Lee, the two young men, are comparably more open-minded, but why is even Old Madam Lowry openly expressing her support toward this behavior? What is going on? Also, Young Master Mason even claimed that he loves both women—what kind of jerk is he? This would make J’Adore the most open-minded person in the world!