

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 3821

Nakamura's high hopes are not so good now.

After temporarily settled in Aurous Hill, he has been collecting environmental specimens in Aurous Hill for the past two days. Air, soil, floating dust, and water have all become his research objects.

He even made some of the river water, lake water, tap water and even mountain spring water in Aurous Hill, and carried out various researches in the villa in turn.

However, after studying and studying, he felt more and more that, not only was there nothing outstanding about Aurous Hill's environment, it was not as good as Washington as a whole.

Others in his team felt the same way.

Although Aurous Hill is the ancient capital of the Six Dynasties, the environment is really not very good.

Although the air pollution is not so serious, it is not much better. Moreover, it is a typical river valley landform, surrounded by mountains on three sides and facing the river on the other. The air inside is naturally not so good.

In addition, the rapid pace of urbanization and the large population will inevitably reduce vegetation and green space, and the environmental bearing pressure is also very high.

On the other hand, the United States has a population of over 300 million, but the land area is as big as that of China. Compared with China, it can be regarded as a typical area with sparsely populated areas. As the population density is small, the pressure on the environment will naturally be small. A lot.

Moreover, a veteran imperialist country like the United States began to relocate heavily polluting companies to foreign countries decades ago, making other people's homes smoggy, and their own homes are still green.

It is precisely because the environment of Aurous Hill is not as good as that of Washington in every aspect, Nakamura cannot understand why Jiu Xuan Pharmaceutical is here to produce such an epoch-making medicine as Magical pill.

Just when Shupeï Nakamura was confused and unable to extricate himself, he received a call from Rutgers.

As soon as the phone was connected, Rutgers asked him: "Nakamura, is there any progress in your research in Aurous Hill?"

Toshihei Nakamura hurriedly said: "Mr. Rutgers, we have not made any clear progress yet, please give us some more time!"

Rutgers blurted out: "Time is running out, you have to find a way to speed up the progress a little bit!"

Shupeï Nakamura said weakly: "Mr. Rutgers, we have analyzed the environmental situation of Aurous Hill in the past two days and found nothing special. We have already ordered a batch of raw materials from a local medicinal material supplier, and we will start in these two days. Try it out and see if there will be any breakthroughs."

With that, Shunpei Nakamura added: "I plan to visit the vicinity of Jiu Pharmaceutical tomorrow, and try to extract some environmental samples and come back for analysis."

"Okay." Rutgers said: "You must speed up, I will help you collect business jets in advance, and once you have samples from your place, I will immediately let people bring them back to Washington!"

at the same time.

After Charlie decided with Isaac Cameron and Jasmine the details of the Huichundan auction, he asked Isaac Cameron to drive him back to Tomson Yipin.

On the way back, Liam called Charlie and reported respectfully: "Master Wade, I will report to you. In the past two days, many foreigners wanted to meet me."

Charlie smiled and asked him: "Who are these people?"

Liam explained: "Some of them are representatives from various countries and major pharmaceutical companies. They want to talk to us about the introduction of drugs or the cooperation of drug agents. There are also some top wealthy spokespersons who want to buy from us in private. For these drugs, most of them have cancer patients at home, and their budgets are very sufficient. Seeing that, it means that we should set the price at will."

Having said that, Liam added: "At present, there are nearly 100 countries that want to introduce Magical pill, and more than 30 have sent representatives to Aurous Hill."

Charlie smiled slightly, and said: "All those who ask you to talk about introduction or agency, just reject them. As for those rich people who want to buy medicine in private, you tell that we won't open this hole for the time being."
