Life at The Top – Chapter 1709 - 1712

“You have helped me a lot” Jasper looked at Celine sincerely and said, “I don’t even know how to thank you.”

“Do you think I am after your gratitude?” Celine chuckled, leaned over, stretched out her fair and tender finger, frivolously stroked Jasper’s lips, and then slowly stuffed that finger into her red lips. Her finger was fair and tender while her lips were full and bright red.

There was an extremely strong visual impact between the two. What was bigger than those two was still a throbbing of the mind.

It was likely that no man could remain indifferent when they were faced with such a scene at this moment.

“Isn’t this exciting?” Celine asked.

Jasper swallowed, moistened at his dry throat a little, and turned his head with difficulty before saying, “It is pretty exciting.”

“Hehehe.”

Celine giggled, picked up the fork, and said, “Let’s eat, I’m going to starve to death.”

Jasper felt capricious during this meal.

However, far away, Fabian’s mood was not so good.

“What do you mean?”

“Didn’t we have an agreement? We’ll let them mess up Jasper’s plan to acquire Nokia, but before they mess it up, they suddenly proposed to sell all the shares held by the Finland National Social Security Fund to Jasper?”

Morrison sat on the sofa with a gloomy expression as he faced the enraged Fabian. Although he was swirling a glass of red wine in his hand, his mind was obviously somewhere else.

“This is something that can’t be helped. I don’t have strong connections in Finland, even my current connections are through the contacts of Layman Investment Bank.”

Fabian said darkly, “In other words, we can’t stop this?”

Morrison said, “There is a big shot in Finland who supports Jasper and his attitude is very resolute. He compromised a large part of the benefits for this. Under the current situation, we really can’t offer any connections or benefits to make those Finnish vampires from the higher-up side with us.

“What’s more, even if we could, it’s not worth it.”

Morrison’s words calmed Fabian a bit.

At the same time, he also thought of another important question.

“That punk Jasper can’t have a wider network than us outside of Somerland, so how did he find a big shot in Finland to support him and convince that guy to compromise a large part of his benefits for him? Besides, the acquisition of Nokia will cost at least tens of billions of US Dollars. Where did Jasper get that money?”

Morrison shook his head and said, "I've been thinking about this issue for the past few days, but I still don't have a clue."

"But so what if we can't stop him? Our goal was always to get rid of Jasper once and for all. As long as we get rid of him, then all the troubles and problems he created will disappear."

Fabian had a murderous look on his face as he said, "You are right. As long as you get rid of Jasper, then the problems he brings will not be problems anymore."

"How're Echo's preparations going? We have given him enough time and I am getting impatient." Morrison asked impatiently.

"Are you talking about me?"

A cold voice was suddenly heard. Echo walked out of the dark room next door.

At this moment, he was like a different person from the high net worth office-fairing young master from a rich family.

Now, Echo was emitting a maniacal aura from all over his body. His eyes were like that of a Viper. They were cold and deep, lacking any emotion other than madness.

Even Morrison, who had never bothered about Echo, could not help but inhale sharply when he saw him now.

“Have you been eavesdropping on us this whole time?” Morrison shouted angrily. Then, he turned his head to look at Fabian and said, “Atticus, why didn’t you tell me in advance?”

Fabian shrugged and said, “We were originally a team. It’s fine if he heard it. What’s the big deal?”

“But if you don’t tell me in advance, you are disrespecting me!” Morrison snapped angrily. He did not know why he was harping on this little thing, but when he looked at Echo’s cold and crazy eyes at the moment, Morrison instinctively wanted to escape from this place.

By the time Morrison finished saying that, a knife was already on his neck.

Leaning down, Echo pushed Morrison back onto the sofa with a knife in one hand. He lowered his head close to Morrison’s face and suddenly stuck out his tongue to lick

Morrison's forehead. Then, he grinned and said, "Are you saying that I am not worthy of hearing you speak?"

Morrison felt as if a viper had licked his forehead. A chill started from the base of his spine and surged up to his brain. He sat stiffly on the sofa and displayed an ugly smile on his face. Then, he said, "Mr. Echo, will you remove the knife? This joke is not funny."

"Do you think I'm joking with you?"

Echo smiled and said softly, "I have nothing left, so the only thought I have right now is to find a few more people to go to hell with me before I die. I will surely take Jasper with me, but it also seems

After more than an hour, Echo left the room.

Morrison watched the car that Echo was in heading toward the airport as he stood by the window with a gloomy expression. He raised his hand and slowly touched his neck. The knife was held against his neck earlier and he still had a burning and bloody line on his neck.

“What a madman. Why should we cooperate with a man like that?” Morrison said with restrained anger.

Fabian walked up to him and said with a smile, “How would you hurt Jasper if you’re not a lunatic? If you want to get rid of Jasper once and for all, you have to be such a person.”

Morrison glanced at Fabian and asked in confusion, “Echo was not like this before. Why did he change so much?”

The smile on Fabian’s face grew brighter. He said, “Because he caused a huge loss to the Softwin and to some extent, he became a scapegoat for Jasper’s shorting of the Sun Dollars exchange rate which brought huge economic losses. Hence, he was inevitably kicked out of the family. For children of this kind of family, losing their family means losing their lives.”

Morrison frowned and said, “But even so, is it enough to turn him into such a horrible state?”

Fabian said with a mysterious smile, “What if he was diagnosed with AIDS after he was kicked out of the family?”

Morrison widened his eyes and looked at Fabian In disbelief.

With a shrug, Fabian said, “I also got news from a top secret insider. Echo was indeed diagnosed with AIDS, so, understandably, he went crazy, right?”

“Oh my god...”

Morrison was so shocked that he started speaking in English. “Damn, there’s a bloody line on my neck after he held the knife to my neck. Hospital! I’m going to the hospital right away!”

Fabian laughed when he saw Morrison yelling in panic. He said, “Don’t worry, the weapons and equipment in his hand were all provided by me after he came here. As long as he didn’t stain that knife with his blood, you’re safe.”

“Who knows if that pervert will self mutilate when he’s bored?”

Morrison said irritably, “Send me to the hospital right away. I want to get a vaccine and a comprehensive examination. I don’t want to die with that lunatic.”

Fabian said as he shrugged, “Since you insist, then all right, I will arrange for someone to take you there right away.”

Jasper, who was far away in Finland, naturally did not know that Echo was coming with a group of people to kill him. At this time, he was preparing to sign a share transfer agreement with the Finland National Social Security Fund.

Despite the difficulties, it was done with Viscount Grey's great help.

This kind of transaction, which was not very glorious for the Finland National Social Security Fund, was not carried out extravagantly. Instead, only a simple and small signing was held.

The ones participating in the signing were the director general of Finland's National Social Security Fund, Dalvira, the current chairman of Nokia, Jodaville, and Reynoldson, the president of Nokia.

When Jasper arrived, Reynoldson immediately got up to greet him and then sat down beside Jasper overtly. Nokia's chairman, Jodaville's eyes were burning when he saw that.

Reynoldson seemed calm as he was faced with Jodaville's insults.

Before they had a complete fallout, they were still pretty respectful toward each other, but now they had shed all pretense of cordiality. There was no more mutual affection between the two, but Reynoldson was very calm.

"Jodaville, I'm just standing on the side of the Winner. If Nokia is led by a group of people who don't know anything like you guys, this company will be finished sooner or later. So, I am rescuing Nokia!"

"Nonsense!"

Jodaville was furious. He pointed at Reynoldson and cursed, "You mean and shameless dog! You colluded with foreigners to sell the pride of Finland, but you're still saying that you are saving Nokia? Why are you so despicable and shameless?"

"It's better to sell than to close down."

Reynoldson chuckled coldly. After speaking, he turned his head straight away, "I don't want to waste time explaining to you. In short, time will prove everything."

“I like this sentence.”

Jasper chuckled slightly. He looked at Jodaville after interrupting and said, “Mr. Jodaville, your set of ideas is workable, but the world is constantly evolving. Even if Nokia is very strong right now, it will still be eliminated if it can’t keep up with the global pace of development.”

Jodaville had a grim expression and replied angrily, “Someland punk, wipe away the smile on your face that disgusts me whenever I look at it. It’s so hypocritical and dirty!”

“Don’t think that you can take away Nokia by acquiring so many shares. Nokia will always be the pride of the Finns. In the board of directors meeting, our conservative forces still occupy the majority and no one will implement your decisions!”

Jasper shrugged calmly and said, “Really? If this is the case, I think the entire board of directors can be reorganized.”

Jodaville said coldly, “Who do you think you are? Do you think you can reorganize the board whenever you want?”

Shaking his head, Jasper replied calmly, “I think you are really blinded by anger. My shareholding ratio exceeds the absolute holding line. I can immediately reorganize the board of directors at any time and any where per my wishes. Neither you nor anyone else can change that.”

As Jasper said that, he patted Reynoldson next to him on the shoulder and smiled. He said, “Right? Chairman Reynoldson?”

As soon as these words came out, Reynoldson was taken aback and then became ecstatic. He knew that his hard work and the risk he took in siding with Jasper during this period had finally paid off.

This return was to turn him from a president to a chairman.

There was a flush of excitement on his craggy face and Reynoldson said excitedly, “I will obey all your orders.”

Jasper then pointed at Jodaville and said, “Look, you are about to become the former chairman. This is the difference between you and Reynoldson, and this is also why he can replace you.”

“Okay, Mr. Laine, let’s sign.”

Dalvira, the director general of Finland National Social Security Fund, felt that his seat was getting hot. He knew that signing this would cause countless people like Jodaville to curse him, but he had no choice because he had to consider his family and his children's needs. He had already thought about it, and after signing this agreement, he would immediately file for his resignation next month and leave with the money.

“Dalvira, you can't do this! Once this agreement is signed, you will be a sinner in Finland!” Jodaville roared at Dalvira like a dying beast.

“Jodaville, there are many things which you can't stop and there is nothing I can do right now. I'm sorry.”

After Dalvira finished speaking, he bowed his head blankly and signed the contract, stamped it, and then pushed it toward Jasper.

Chapter 1712

<https://myfinder.live/>

Jasper looked at the extremely formal agreement document in front of him. He would be lying if he said he was not excited.

Once he signed this, it meant that a transaction worth tens of billions of US Dollars was officially completed. It also meant that Jasper's JW Company would have completed its overall acquisition plan for Nokia.

This acquisition plan involving a total of more than 25 billion US Dollars was the largest acquisition of overseas assets by a domestic private enterprise in Somerland. Moreover, this acquisition was an acquisition of assets as a whole. It was not some gimmick project of later generations that would increase the number of funds by several tens just to campaign and promote a bunch of empty shells.

After exhaling deeply, Jasper picked up the pen.

At this moment, Jodaville came up to snatch the contract like he had gone crazy.

However, on such an occasion, how could he be allowed to mess around as he pleased?

The moment he got up, Reynoldson quickly held him down, and then, with Dalvira's acquiescence, several security guards forcibly came over and pressed Jodaville against the chair, immobilizing him.

"Jasper, I will never forgive you!"

"If you dare to sign it, I will do everything possible to kill you!"

Jodaville was pushed against the chair as he yelled frantically and threatened Jasper.

Jasper did not even look at him. He even pretended like he did not hear what Jodaville had just said. With a wave of his hand, he signed his name on the document.

After watching the signing of the contract, the people present at the scene all had mixed feelings.

Reynoldson was excited and thrilled. After paying such huge risks and costs, he had finally succeeded. He recalled how dismissive he was of this man from Somerland when they had first met.

Now, Jasper had proved his ability and put his money where his mouth was.

Reynoldson exhaled deeply. He was glad that he had made the right choice.

As the director general of the National Social Security Fund, Dalvira also breathed a sigh of relief.

This kind of feeling was like an ordinary person committing a crime for the first time. Before acting, they were uneasy and anxious, but after it had become fact, they felt relieved.

He knew that he had become a sinner in the eyes of Finland, but it did not matter. Soon he would resign and then take his family and children to flee far away with the generous remuneration package. Finland and Nokia would not have anything to do with him anymore.

The most emotional person was Jodaville. He was like a deflated ball as he sat dispiritedly on the chair. Suddenly, he burst into tears. It was unknown if he was upset because he would be kicked out of Nokia or because this national brand was going to become history for the Finns.

“Thank you, Mr. Jodaville.”

After Jasper signed the document and exchanged it with Dalvira, they shook hands and smiled at each other.

Dalvira grinned and said, “No need to thank me. At the end of the day, the world belongs to the strong, and Mr. Laine, you’re one of them.”

“However...”

With a sigh, Dalvira looked at Jodaville, who was wailing pitifully, and continued, “If possible, please give Jodaville a good ending. Among the many people in the room, he’s the only one who loves Nokia and this country.”
