Life at The Top – Chapter 1721 - 1725

<https://myfinder.live/>

“Anna...”

A woman’s voice came from behind Anna.

Anna turned around and looked at the beautiful woman who approached her. She was about to say hello when she saw a tall, blonde, handsome man next to the woman.

Anna frowned and said flatly, “Katrin, can I help you?”

Katrin walked up to Anna, suppressed her excitement, and said, “Congratulations on winning the gold medal in this fashion design competition. I heard that you have already received the invitation to Paris Fashion Week, I really envy you. You’re the only one who got it among so many of us.”

Anna chuckled. “It’s not like there is no other way to go to Paris Fashion Week. Knowing you Katrin, you must have a way in.”

Katrin shook her head and said, “That’s different. You are invited as a new designer, and you can have the opportunity to exhibit a set of clothes you designed. Even if I go there through other means, I can only be a spectator.

“Let’s stop talking about me, Anna, this is my brother Jeremiah. Do you remember him? He always wanted to have a good chat with you,” Katrin suddenly said excitedly.

Anna looked helpless and said, “Katrin, I really don’t want to become familiar with any other friends of the opposite sex. Do you know what I mean?”

“Anna, I think you should give me a chance.”

Jeremiah suddenly spoke and said, “We are just making friends. Even an ancient and conservative country will allow the opposite sex to make friends, right?”

Anna looked cold and said, “Sir, I hope you can be more polite when you speak. I will not tolerate you talking about anything discriminatory or ridiculous so casually.”

The corners of Jeremiah’s mouth twitched, and he said, “Sorry, I didn’t mean that. I know that tomorrow is your birthday, so I want to hold a birthday party for you. Can I?”

As if afraid that Anna would refuse, he said hurriedly, “I know, your family is in Somerland, so this time you can only spend your birthday alone in the United States. And I also invited all your friends and mentors from your fashion design course. Everyone is very happy to attend your birthday party. Anna, will you give me a chance?”

Anna looked helpless and said, “Mr. Jeremiah, I understand what you think, but first of all, I really don’t have any interest in you. Secondly, I don’t really want to attend this birthday party, so I hope you can understand.”

Jeremiah was anxious. He said, “You’re the best fashion designer around and you have a powerful family while I am the future heir of the largest clothing production company in the United States. Don’t you think we are a match made in heaven?”

“Damn, a foreigner who knows such advanced terms? What a treat!”

A voice was heard without warning, causing the people present to suddenly looked up.

Anna saw Jasper coming up the stairs and she had a look of disbelief on her face.

Meanwhile, Jeremiah’s face fell instantly. “Who are you? Why are you here?”

“Isn’t the United States known as the freest country in the world? Since this is not your private residence, what does it have to do with you whether I’m here or not?”

After Jasper finished speaking, he swaggered over to Anna and offered her his arm naturally.

Anna covered her mouth and giggled. Then, she reached out her hand to hook it around Jasper’s arms.

‘Smart lass.’

Jasper looked pleased.

He tilted his head and said to Jeremiah, whose face was filled with jealousy and anger, “Westerner, don’t even think about putting your hands on her. A match made in heaven? Why don’t you look at yourself to check if you’re a match with her?”

“The biggest clothing brand in the United States? Is that good? I own the biggest private enterprise in Somerland, the biggest mobile phone brand in the world, and the most profitable Internet company globally. Do you see me telling that to everyone I see?”

After Jasper said that, he pulled Anna away.

While he walked away, he mumbled, “Look at the people you mingle with around with here. They’re all looking at you like wolves staring at a piece of meat. It’s not a good thing for women to come to a foreign country alone. You have to know how to protect yourself, understand?”

“Also, what kind of gown is this? Why are your shoulders outside? Put on my coat. What if you catch a cold?”

Chapter 1722

<https://myfinder.live/>

“Damn Somerland monkey, stop right there!” Jeremiah’s angry voice came from behind and Jasper stopped in his tracks immediately.

He slowly turned around, narrowed his eyes, and looked at the tall Jeremiah, who was barging over aggressively. “Can I consider what you just said to be racial discrimination?”

In the United States, racial discrimination was a very serious crime. However, it depended on the situation.

For example, if someone from Somerland was racially discriminated against by someone from the United States, no one would care.

In addition to that, this guy was also the son of the owner of the largest clothing brand in the country. Obviously, this was not the first time Jeremiah did something like this. He raised his finger to Jasper's nose and said, "Damn you, Somerland monkey, you're the one who humiliated me first. Who do you think you are? I'm going to push your head into the toilet!"

Jasper turned his head and looked around. He saw a wine tower made up of wine glasses on the table next to him and spotted an unopened bottle of red wine next to it.

Without a word, Jasper picked up the red wine bottle, swung it around, and smashed it against Jeremiah's head.

This unexpected move caused Katrin and the women next to him to scream in shock.

Jeremiah also did not expect Jasper to have the balls to do this. He was knocked down by the bottle and fell toward the wine tower.

Crash!

The tower was smashed by Jeremiah's collapsing body. Red wine splashed all over the place and wine glasses smashed to pieces. The scene looked astounding.

Jasper dropped the red wine bottle in his hand that only had the mouth left in tact and said to Jeremiah who was lying in the ruins, "Watch your mouth. The United States is just a country of immigrants with a history of hundreds of years."

"Your ancestors are either from Europe or native Indians. To put it bluntly, they are all mixed race, so why are they eligible to discriminate against a nation with five thousand years of cultural heritage?"

"You *sshole! I want to sue you! I want to send you to jail and I want you to go bankrupt!" Jeremiah roared as he clutched his head. He was covered in red liquid and no one could tell whether it was his blood or the wine.

"Before that, please wait for my lawyer's letter."

Anna stood up and said coldly to Jeremiah, "There are surveillance cameras installed everywhere. I will let my lawyer take the evidence as soon as possible. It will prove that you're the one who racially discriminated and insulted us first. I can also view you pointing your finger at my partner as a personal attack, which led to him counterattacking in a panic."

“My lawyer will discuss your racial discrimination and personal attacks with yours. You ‘d better prepare for this lawsuit from my team of lawyers in advance.”

After Anna finished speaking, she did not even look at the stunned Jeremiah. Instead, she raised her head to look at Katrin, who was in a panic and wondering what to do. She continued, “Katrin, I hope we will still be friends in the future.”

After a small pause, Anna continued, “But if you think this will make it awkward, then it’s fine by me too. Goodbye.”

After speaking, Anna left with Jasper.

This time, Jeremiah did not dare to spew nonsense anymore as he watched them leave. The heavy blow from Jasper just now almost killed him on the spot.

After the two of them left the scene, Jeremiah stood up tremblingly with the help of others.

Although his palm was holding his forehead, blood still poured through his fingers profusely.

Jeremiah gritted his teeth with hatred and said viciously, “If Anna hadn’ t supported him, I would have killed that damned Somerland monkey.”

“Jeremiah, that’s enough!”

Someone from the crowd who came to watch the drama said with a grin, “You’re being beaten for no reason, but you will also definitely be prosecuted.”

“The Somerland monkey you mentioned is named Jasper Laine. He is right, he is indeed the owner of Somerland’s largest private company, and just today, he bought Nokia for 25 billion US Dollars. What is the market value of your father’s company again? 3 billion dollars?”

“His JW Foundation caused the United States stock market to hit a trading curb for several days. Up to now, there are still hundreds of billions of dollars in the capital pool.”

“Does he need Anna to support him? If he wants, he can completely bankrupt your company and then sue you until you have nothing left.”

Upon hearing these words, Jeremiah’s face paled. It was unknown whether it was caused by excessive blood loss or fear.

Downstairs, Anna stood in the elevator with a sullen face.

The moment she got out of the elevator door and stepped onto the street outside, Anna went back to her original self.

“Ah!”

She hugged Jasper’s neck. She was so happy she was shouting and jumping with joy.

Jasper was shocked by her, but when he felt Anna’s warm and supple body rubbing against him, Jasper also became happy.

“When did you come over? Why didn’t you say anything when you first called? This is so sudden!” Anna looked at Jasper with gleaming eyes. Normally, she would not be so excited.

However, since she did not expect this, this surprise was so sudden that even Anna could not suppress the emotions in her heart.

Jasper smiled and said, "I just wanted to surprise you."

Anna said while pursing her lips, "Hmph, I think you finally found your conscience."

Jasper laughed and replied, "It doesn't matter if I found it or if it was eaten by a dog, at the end of the day, I am in front of you now."

"Are you here for me?" Anna asked softly.

Jasper grinned and walked to the side of the road while holding Anna's hand. Then, he snapped his fingers lightly.

After that, as if it was magic, the entire city was illuminated with colorful lights.

Anna looked up and looked at the countless skyscrapers around her. All the lights and display screens had changed their primary colors to light purple. Light purple was her favorite color.

It was not only the skyscrapers that Anna could see, the same applied to all the buildings over 100 meters high in Los Angeles which were equipped with electronic display boards or light strips.

As for the taxis on the road, a dazzling purple color also appeared on the small displays attached to their roofs. At this moment, no one knew what had happened. All the citizens of Los Angeles watched in confusion as the city they lived in was enveloped and painted purple. Immediately afterward, all the purple light dimmed, and then gradually faded.

Just when everyone, including Anna, thought it was just an accident, those display screens and light strips turned on again.

This time, what appeared was a set of countdowns. Counting down 19 hours, 21 minutes, and 33 seconds. It kept changing until it reached zero.

“The whole city is counting down and celebrating your birthday for you.”

Chapter 1724

She looked at the passersby on the side of the street as they whispered to each and guessed what the countdown meant. Then, she looked out at the entire city of Los Angeles, the second largest city in the west of the United States and the largest city in the state, as countdowns filled every corner. Anna pursed her lips and was speechless.

“What’s wrong? Don’t you like it?” Jasper panicked.

All of this was arranged according to his ideas. Of course, Henry’s side was the one who pulled strings while Jasper only needed to pay up.

Still, the countdown of more than ten hours alone cost Jasper at least 6 million US Dollars.

However, this money and thoughts were nothing compared to Anna’s help to Jasper.

Therefore, if Anna did not like it after all the thoughts and efforts, it was really not worth it.

“No, I like it very much.”

Anna looked at Jasper with scorching eyes and said softly, "It's just that I never thought you would prepare this for me."

With a chuckle, Jasper was feeling much relieved and replied, "This is just the beginning."

"Come with me." After Jasper finished speaking, he pulled Anna into the car.

The car quietly left Los Angeles. On the way, one could see electronic signs counting down everywhere. Countless people were taking pictures or asking someone what was going on, but they were destined to never get the answer.

After the car left downtown Los Angeles, it drove to Mt. Hallavu.

Next to the huge world-famous Hallavu sign, one could see Santa Monica Bay from a distance and the entire city of Los Angeles nearby. The mountain breeze was blowing gently.

After Anna got out of the car, she saw the whole city of Los Angeles bathed in the soft purple light at a glance.

At this moment, the dreamlike picture made Anna feel as if she was in a dream.

“It must have been a lot of effort, right?” Anna asked.

Jasper smiled.

In truth, to do this, money was only a trivial matter. The main problem was that it was very difficult to pull strings to get it done. Fortunately, Henry was quite good in this aspect.

If they were easy going, just talk to them until they agreed. On the contrary, if they were not that easy going, just throw money at them until they became easy going. That was how this thing was done.

Even so, it took nearly a month to get it done.

With a squeeze of Anna’s hand, Jasper said, “I want to give you an unforgettable birthday, that’s all.”

Anna looked up at Jasper, pursed her lips, and smiled. “This is indeed my most unforgettable birthday.”

Anna and Jasper were sitting on the ground of the observation deck in Mt. Hallavu without caring about their images. Then, Anna rested her head against Jasper.

At this moment, none of them mentioned business or domestic affairs. They also did not mention the relationship between them. This was the mutual understanding between them.

Anna closed her eyes slightly and said, “It’d have been amazing if I met you earlier.”

“No..?”

Anna did not lift her head, but she seemed to see Jasper’s pained expression. She continued, “Never mind, let’s not think about that...”

After they left Mt. Hallavu, the sky had turned bright. The countdown that filled the skyline read 16 hours, 21 minutes, and 3 seconds now.

This time, Jasper was the one driving. Anna did not ask him where they were going. She just obediently watched the countdown that could be seen everywhere outside the car window, allowing Jasper to take the lead.

Jasper drove to Beverly Hills. It was a rich area that was famous all over the world, let alone in the United States. The villa here was worth hundreds of millions of US Dollars. Even if one had so much money, they might not necessarily be able to buy it. After all, person buying it had to possess a certain social status.

Jasper also used this place as a pilgrimage site in his previous life, but now that his status had reached this level, he knew that in reality, as the place became more famous, many of the real elites had moved away.

The people who replaced them were celebrities, football stars, and upstarts.

Jasper would naturally not buy a villa here, so instead, he rented one.

Inside the villa, food and daily necessities had been prepared.

When Jasper was cooking and preparing breakfast, he saw that Anna was already lying on the sofa fast asleep. After eating breakfast by himself, Jasper picked up the phone and dialed a number.

“Has everything tonight been arranged?” Jasper asked.

“Mr. Laine, everything has been arranged properly. There will be no problems.”

“Okay, thank you for your hard work. After I go back, everyone will be paid half a year’s salary. I will be the one paying.”

If you wanted a horse to run, you could not forget to feed the horse. Hence, Jasper would never make a mistake in this regard.

After putting down the phone, he looked back at Anna, who was still asleep. Jasper then turned around and started to prepare a hearty meal.

Echo and his three subordinates walked out from the aisle with dark faces.

“Jasper, I want to see where you’ll run to this time!”

At the entrance of the airport, Echo mumbled with a malevolent look on his face. At this moment, one of his subordinates asked, “Mr. Welch, where are we going now?”

“We’re going to look for Jasper, of course...”

After he said that, Echo also realized something was not right. It was because he had no idea where Jasper was.

This was Los Angeles in the United States, not Finland of which Fabian had investigated thoroughly. No one knew where Jasper went after he got off the plane.

When Echo thought about this, he felt sullen and aggravated in his heart.

So, he called Fabian.

Because of the time difference, Fabian was sleeping soundly when he was woken up by the call.

“I asked Morrison to look into it, but he still needs some time. I’ll tell you immediately when there’s a result.” Fabian hung up immediately after he finished talking.

Echo also put the phone away slowly.

“Mr. Welch, do we have an address?” The subordinate asked.

“Let’s find a hotel to stay in,” Echo said coldly after shaking his head.

“They’re looking for Jasper’s location. The moment they find out where he’s staying, we’ll go over immediately. After we killed him, you guys should leave instantly.”

Echo looked at his three subordinates and said slowly, “You three are death fighters who grew up with me. After I was kicked out of the family, you guys were also removed. Jasper was the one who brought this humiliation upon us, so we cannot let him go. I’ve prepared some money for you guys, and it’ll be enough for the rest of your lives.”

Chapter 1725

The next day, it was already evening when Anna woke up leisurely.

The golden sunset shone through the wide and transparent French windows and filled the room. Anna lifted the quilt and got up, but when she stepped on the soft carpet, she noticed something strange under her feet. When she looked down, she saw that there was a path made of rose petals. It extended from under her bed to outside the house.

Also, there was a small card on the bedside table.

[Are you awake? Follow the rose petals and come out of the house. There is a surprise waiting for you.]

“This guy... I wonder which woman taught him so many tricks. He didn’t know how to do all this before.”

Anna snorted. Even if she was saying that, she still walked along the path of rose petals lovingly and obediently.

The bedroom was just a place to put a bed to sleep in this kind of top luxury villas, while the bathroom would be located outside the room.

Following the path of rose petals, Anna saw all the toiletries placed on the counter, as well as a complete set of delicate and valuable jewelry such as earrings and necklaces.

Anna could tell at a glance that this set of jewelry was made by a top master. It was definitely not the kind of ordinary goods that could be bought anywhere in the store.

After washing up, Anna carefully put all the jewelry one by one on her body.

At this moment, Anna, who was standing in front of the mirror, looked at herself with satisfaction. Then, she turned and left the bathroom.

The rose petal path was still extending, and this time, it led to the cloakroom. After she walked into the cloakroom following the path, Anna saw a set of long dresses placed on the hanger in the center.

This dress surprised Anna.

This dress was the final year project that she had designed by herself. It was also the project that won the gold medal and got her the tickets to compete in Paris Fashion Week.

Anna did not know how Jasper obtained this dress, but this did not stop her from feeling excited as she stood in front of it.

For any designer, it would be a wonderful thing to be able to wear their own designs.

After she put on the dress, the delicate cutting perfectly fit her body, accentuating her curvy figure.

After walking out from the cloakroom, she saw that the rose petal path this time was slightly longer. Anna followed the path and walked into the dining room.

There was a small dining table in it It was enough for a man and a woman to keep a delicate distance but still not lose the intimacy. Red wine, food, and candles adorned the table.

At this moment, the electric curtains on the French windows around Anna closed slowly.

The room gradually dimmed.

However, Anna did not panic.

She was enjoying what Jasper had prepared for her. With a snap, the candles on the table seemed to self combust and yellow flames began dancing in the dim room.

Then, Jasper's face appeared on the edge of the yellow ray.

He walked in front of Anna with a grin on his face. Then, he lifted his hand and offered it to Anna gentlemanly.

Anna giggled softly and reached out her hand to place it on the back of Jasper's hand.

Jasper had a smile on his face as he turned his hand around and held Anna's fair and supple fingers. With a soft pull, he enveloped Anna, who did not resist at all, into his arms.
