

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

A Man Like None Other Chapter 227

Chapter 227 Virgil

“Why are you here, Jared?”

Juliette frowned upon spotting Jared. After Warrick and the others were beaten up by the man back then, she had been practicing much more restraint.

“Oh, we bumped into him outside, so we invited him to join us! We’re all former classmates, and we know him anyway!” Leroy interjected with a smile.

Only then did everyone notice Jared, who was standing behind Leroy. As they clocked his dressing, disdain showed in their eyes. Only one man shot to his feet and exclaimed excitedly, “When did you get out, Jared?”

It was clear as day that he also knew about Jared’s incarceration.

“Virgil? You’re here as well?”

Jared was likewise a touch surprised at the sight of the man.

That man was Virgil Hancock. He was also Jared’s former classmate, and they were even from the same dorm. As such, their relationship was pretty close.

Back during university, Virgil often helped Jared out financially though he wasn’t from an affluent family. Therefore, Jared didn’t expect him to attend the class reunion this time. After all, the current class reunion had already changed in nature. They were hosted by those who were loaded and used to flaunt their wealth.

“It’s been several years since we’ve last seen each other! I missed you so much! Quick, come and have a seat!”

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

Dragging Jared over to the seat beside him, Virgil asked animatedly, "Why didn't you tell me that you've been released from prison, Jared? I could've thrown a celebration for you!"

"I've only been out for a few days, and that'll be too troublesome, so I didn't bother you."

A faint smile bloomed on Jared's face, and his mood improved significantly. Initially, he only agreed to attend the class reunion with Leroy to see how materialistic his former classmates were before proving their assumption of him wrong. But at the sight of Virgil, he felt that he had indeed made the right decision.

"How inauspicious to dine with an ex-convict at the same table!" someone grumbled in a whisper.

Yet, everyone could hear that.

Of course, Jared was no exception. He cast that former class of his a frosty look, but he didn't blow his gasket. The others all looked at him with contempt on their faces.

Contrarily, Virgil wore an embarrassed expression. He quickly tugged at Jared and inquired, "Have you found a job since you've just been released, Jared?"

"Nope!" Jared shook his head.

"How about working with me? I've got a few construction teams under my command. I'm the captain. Although the work is rather grueling, you can still earn three to five hundred a day!"

Virgil only attended the reunion to obtain some construction projects through his connections with his former classmates.

"Virgil, would the high and mighty president of the student council do such laborious work with you? And you even dared term them as construction teams and yourself as the captain? You feel that you're something else just because you've got a few migrant workers under your command, huh?" Leroy questioned disdainfully with a cigarette in his mouth, placing the car key to his Mercedes-Benz in front of him.

A bitter smile tugged at Virgil's lips, and he hurriedly replied, "Compared to you, Leroy, I'm naturally nothing at all! I'm even hoping that you'll be so kind to help me out!"

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

All smiles, he fawningly lit the man's cigarette for him.

Relishing that obsequious attitude, Leroy nodded and drawled, "Sure! Any random construction project from me will be enough to support you for a year!"

"In that case, I thank you, Leroy! Here's my business card!"

Virgil handed his business card to Leroy, but the man tossed it onto the table after a cursory glance.

Taking a long pull from the cigarette, Leroy exhaled a cloud of smoke at Jared. "Jared, not only were you the president of the student council back then, but we're even former classmates, so I'll give you a job as a security guard in my company. It pays three thousand a month. How about that? Then, I don't need to use my Tibetan Mastiff to guard the door. It isn't cheap, so it's a waste to have it guard the door!"

As soon as his words rang out, everyone burst into raucous laughter.

Juliette cackled the loudest. In the beginning, she was still a smidge irate at Jared's presence, but judging from the look of things, it was great that he came. Otherwise, she wouldn't have been able to see him humiliated.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 228

Chapter 228 A Call From Tommy

"Jared is a lot stronger than your Tibetan Mastiff, Leroy. He learned martial arts in prison and he's awesome. He even broke Warrick's legs," Juliette said with a sarcastic smile.

When the others heard Jared breaking Warrick's leg, they turned to look at the former with shock.

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

"If he can break Warrick's leg, then he may indeed be stronger than my Tibetan Mastiff. Seems like I'll have to add a bit more money!" Leroy sneered at Jared.

"Believe me, I will break your legs too," Jared said in a calm tone.

"What did you just say to me? I dare you to say it again." Leroy grabbed a wine bottle and glared at Jared with fury.

"There's no need to be angry, Leroy. Jared is just joking with you." Seeing how Leroy was really angry, Virgil quickly stood up to try and resolve the situation peacefully.

"This is Fortune Street, Leroy. The entire street is under Mr. Lewis' control, including this restaurant. If you cause a mess here, you'll be incurring Mr. Lewis' wrath!" Someone else attempted to calm Leroy down.

"There's nothing I need to be afraid of! My cousin is the manager of this place, so I can do whatever I want!" Leroy said proudly.

The others immediately looked at him with admiration when he said that.

"Leroy is so awesome! I can't believe he has a cousin like that!"

"This means that his cousin is one of Mr. Lewis' men! He must be pretty special!"

"There's no need for us to worry here as long as Leroy is with us!"

Everyone was praising Leroy to the high heavens. As for Leroy himself, he looked pretty flattered. "If any of you encounter any sort of trouble in Fortune Street, just give me a call and I'll deal with it! I also plan to hold my wedding with Pamela here. You guys have better make sure to attend our wedding!"

"Of course! We'll definitely attend your wedding..."

All the others nodded. It was then that Juliette understood why Leroy recommended her to host the reunion there.

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

She would've undoubtedly spent quite a lot of money on the meal, but after that revelation, it might be possible that she would be able to eat for free!

When she thought about that, it instantly made her much happier.

At that moment, Tommy called Jared. He had been waiting for Jared for quite some time yet to no avail, which was why he decided to call and ask, "Are you here yet, Mr. Chance?"

"Wait for me," Jared replied before ending the call abruptly.

"Who called you, Jared? Do you have something you need to attend to? If you do, you can just leave first." Virgil was trying to save Jared from an awkward situation. After all, there was no point for him to stay after pissing Leroy off.

"It's nothing. Tommy called me." Jared shoved his phone back into his pocket.

"Tommy?" Virgil was stunned as he found the name to be familiar. It took a while before he realized who that person was. "Do you mean the owner of Meadow Restaurant, Tommy Lewis?"

"I guess so." Jared nodded.

He wasn't sure because he genuinely didn't know the businesses that were under Tommy. The only thing he knew about Tommy was that the man took care of Templar Regiment.

Then again, a regiment as large as Tommy's wouldn't be able to expand if he didn't have a collection of properties. Therefore, it wasn't odd that he owned a restaurant.

"Pfft..." Leroy spat out the water he was drinking and laughed. "I didn't expect you to be a joker, Jared! You said Mr. Lewis gave you a call and then you made him wait for you? If you want to lie, at least make it more convincing!"

The others laughed as well. Pamela narrowed her oval-shaped eyes and sneered, "I bet you never even met Mr. Lewis before. You have some nerve to lie about him calling you."

Among everyone there, Juliette was the only one who knew Jared met Tommy before on Sandy's wedding.

However, she didn't know a thing about their relationship.

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>

Read full novel here <https://myfinder.live/>

JOIN OUR FACEBOOK GROUP FOR MORE UPDATES
<https://www.facebook.com/groups/290033213315583/>