The Man's Decree Chapter 183 - 184 (The Man like none Other chapter 183 - 184)

After hearing what Kai said, Tommy knew what to do. No matter how much Toby pleaded, Tommy still dragged him to the car. Only death awaited him.

The woman watched while her husband got taken away. Staring at the Maserati, which had been utterly destroyed, she became dumbfounded.

It took a while before Mark and the other security guards returned to their senses. Mark said to the security guards, "If you see Mr. Chance in the future, you better be respectful. Anyone who dares to disrespect him will be fired immediately!"

Meanwhile, Kai drove up the hill. A short while later, he bumped into Zayne and the rest, who had already reviewed the houses and were preparing to leave with the sales associate.

When they saw Kai driving his damaged Ford, they were stunned. They could not figure out how he managed to enter.

"Kai must have barged in with his car when no one was looking. He's probably afraid of getting beaten up," said Lydia as she stared at the car's damaged hood.

"He's so bold. How dare he barge into Dragon Bay?" mocked Zayne.

When the sales associate heard their conversation, an idea popped into her head. She dashed over and stopped Kai.

If this guy really barged in, the company would definitely reward me for stopping him.

The sales associate's thoughts were very naive. As she did not work in the maintenance department, she had no idea that Kai lived in Dragon Bay.

“How dare you barge in with your car?” interrogated the sales associate loudly after stopping Kai.

Kai was stunned. “I didn’t barge in. I drove in. Even your manager saw me.”

“Stop defending yourself, Kai. Look at how damaged your car is. You must have barged in with your car because you’re scared of being beaten up. There’s probably someone chasing you, right?”

Lydia sauntered over with a mocking look.

“Kai, only tenants are allowed to enter the district. Even though we’re here to buy a property, we have to be allowed in. Since you aren’t here to buy anything, nor are you a property owner, this is considered an encroachment!” said Zayne with a smirk.

“Who told you that I don’t own a property here?” asked Kai calmly.

When everyone heard what he said, they were stunned. The sales associate asked hurriedly, “Did you buy a house here? Why don’t I have an impression of it?”

She checked Kai out. He did not seem like someone who could afford a house there. Furthermore, everyone who had bought houses there was all filthy rich. She knew a lot of them and even had their phone numbers.

“Stop boasting, Kai. Do you know how much these houses cost? You can’t even buy the smallest houses at the foot of the hill with your life savings. How dare you call yourself a property owner?”

Zayne continued disdainfully, “I’ve been a manager for so many years. Even with my bonus, I can only afford the down payment for the cheapest house here. How can you, who have just started working, afford a house? You can’t even afford a house in the countryside. You only deserve to live in a run-down, dingy district.”

Contempt was written all over Zayne’s face. He did not believe that Kai had bought a house there.

Even Lydia and Maria did not believe him. If Kai was capable enough to buy a house there, there was no need for Maria to find a job for him.

“Sir, since you claim to be a property owner here, please point out which house is yours. Don’t even think of lying to me. I know the owners of all the houses here!” the sales associate ordered Kai.

“Yeah! If you can, point out which house is yours. Why don’t we have a sit in your house?” asked Lydia in an ambiguous tone.

Kai pointed at the top of the hill. “The one at the top of the hill is mine.”

“At the top of the hill?”

Zayne was stunned for a while before bursting into laughter. “Are you kidding me, Kai? Do you know how much a mansion on the top of the hill cost? Even if you sell your family, you still can’t afford it! Your boast is simply so ridiculous that it’s unrealistic!”

“Kai, can you be more realistic? You barging into Dragon Bay today is probably the first and last time you can enter the district. How dare you claim that the mansion at the top of the hill is yours? I bet that you’ve never even been up there!”

Even Lydia started laughing out loud.

Meanwhile, Maria rolled her eyes at Kai. To her, he was simply an incompetent man who would never amount to anything.

“Sir, do you know how much the mansion at the top of the hill costs? How dare you boast about it here?”

The sales associate laughed too.

"Who are you to say that I'm boasting?" demanded Kai coldly.

"I was the one who sold the mansion. The owner's last name is Sullivan, not Chance. How can you say that it's yours?"

The sales associate stared at Kai mockingly, waiting for him to explain.

"Someone gave it to me!" replied Kai with a smile.

"Gave it to you?" The sales associate hid a chuckle behind her hand. "Sure! You can even claim that someone gave the entire district of Dragon Bay to you! That's not illegal. However, you've barged into Dragon Bay without permission. According to the rules, I have to chase you out."

Immediately after the sales associate finished speaking, a guy wearing a security guard uniform sauntered over with a baton.

"Faith, why have you come here today?" asked the security with a flattering smile when he saw her.

"It's you, Kevin. Someone barged into the district! You've come just in time to chase him out."

When the sales associate saw the security guard, she immediately pointed at Kai.

The security guard sized Kai up before glancing at the battered Ford beside him. He immediately said furiously, "D*mn it! How dare someone barge into the district I'm in charge of? Do you want to die? I'm the head of the security team here. You should've asked around..."

"Kevin, Kai even crashed into a luxurious car at the entrance, and the person threatened to beat him up. He probably barged in with his car because he was scared. If you manage to capture him, you would've gotten yourself a huge achievement!" Zayne said to Kevin.

"Yeah! We saw it just now. He crashed into a Maserati!"

Lydia nodded vigorously too.

Although Maria did not speak, she looked quite upset too. I really don't want to care about Kai anymore. I'm really annoyed at how he keeps boasting!

"You jerk. How dare you crash into a car and barge in afterward? It's really unlucky that you've bumped into me today."

As Kevin spoke, he reached out his arm to grab Kai.

However, the moment he extended his arm, Kai gripped his wrist and twisted it lightly. Just like that, he restrained Kevin, who yelped in agony.

"That hurt, you jerk! Let go of me now! Do you know who I am? The manager of the maintenance department is my brother-in-law! If you dare to touch me, I won't let you leave this place!" bellowed Kevin.

"You attacked me without figuring out the situation! How did you become the head of the security team? I said that I own a property here. Is this how you serve your clients?" said Kai.

"J-Just let go of me... I'll find out after I ask."

Seeing that Kai was skilled in fighting and could defeat him at any moment, Kevin had no choice but to ask Kai to release him.

The latter released his grip on Kevin. Massaging his wrist, he shot a vicious glare at Kai before whipping out his walkie-talkie.
