Chapter 6 How Dare You Cheating

"Mr. Landy, that woman is Jessica Sandgren, 22 years old, the daughter of Brant Sandgren, and the girlfriend of Simon Capen, the boss of TYCompany."

After finishing speaking, Ray couldn't help but sigh, "This woman dares to cheat when she has a boyfriend. What a mess of a rich family!"

Timothy listened to Ray in silence, but his deep eyes fell on the woman in the distance who was filming with a veil.

Although most of her face was covered by the veil, Timothy recognized her as Jessica at a glance.

Brant's daughter couldn't be a whore.

With the bright red blood stain on the bedsheet last night, Timothy was sure that Jessica would never be a slut.

He was curious about what had happened to this woman so that she seduced him so boldly.

Even though he was casually dressed in a sports suit, his introverted temperament made him extremely attractive.

"Let's go." Timothy said coldly.

"Where are we going? Mr. Landy, our target hasn't appeared yet." Ray was full of confusion. During the time he spoke, Timothy had already walked away.

Timothy said, "To buy some clothes."

Full of confusion, Ray asked again in an uncertain tone, "Buy... Buy some clothes?"

"Cut the crap."

Jessica, acting in the disguise of Louise, certainly did not notice Timothy. Wearing a veil, she devoted herself to her role.

However, even if her face was covered, her eyes were full of emotion.

The director, who was originally very unpleasant, couldn't help but widen his eyes when seeing the heroine's acting skill.

That was great

It was rare for Louise to act that well this time, and that sight was what he wanted.

"Very good. This is what I want." The director was very excited at the side, and the crew members were also surprised at the scene.

They were also infected by the mixed feelings in her eyes.

Without a doubt, Jessica finished the scene in one shot.

When the director said "cut", many people couldn't help but praise her.

"Louise, your performance is really amazing, and surprises me a lot." The director walked up to Jessica and patted her on the shoulder happily.

Jessica didn't say anything and just expressed her joy with her eyes.

Just as she was about to come back to the dressing room, she didn't expect to hear a strange voice from the crowd.

"She's not Louise at all. Louise has a mole on her arm, but this woman doesn't. You claim that you never use an stand-in in filming, while in fact, you are really hypocritical."

For a moment, the expression on everyone's faces froze, and their eyes filled with confusion fell on Jessica, who was wearing a veil.

Of course, they wanted to see if there was a mole on Jessica's arm but she didn't show it to them.

The man who spoke walked up to Jessica. His identity as a reporter could be known from the camera in his hand.

“What nonsense are you talking about? She is Louise.” Louise’s agent, Priscilla Gadway, immediately stood in front of Jessica, full of vigilance.

Every time Jessica pretended to be Louise, she did it flawlessly. Where did she show her flaws this time?

“Oh, what are you afraid of?, we just need to take off her veil to see whether she is Louise or not.”

Chapter 7 Know Your Body After

The reporter’s words were like a bombshell, making many people suspicious

Even the director finally said to her, “Louise, take off your veil.”

He asked Louise to film this drama for several reasons. Firstly, the TY Group sponsored a large sum of money. Secondly, Louise promised him that she would never use a stand-in in this drama.

An actor should have his or her own professional code. The director felt that he should consider changing the female lead if she couldn’t even master the expression of emotion in her eyes.

Jessica appeared to be in a dilemma and she looked at Priscilla helplessly.

couldn’t

However, even Priscilla protect her anymore now.

Jessica had no choice but to take off her veil under the glare of the crowd.

At that moment, it was so quiet.

The woman in front of them was not

Louise at all. She only had similar eyes to Louise’s.

Moreover, someone recognized this woman. Wasn't she Jessica, who quit the entertainment industry a few years ago?

The director was so angry that he dropped his phone and left while the male reporter had already recorded the scene and ran away too.

The rest of the crew didn't dare to say anything in front of Jessica Louise, who was hiding in the dressing room was extremely scared and didn't have the courage to walk out.

"See? Louise was really caught in a dilemma because of you this time."

Priscilla poured all her anger on Jessica and walked quickly to the dressing room.

Jessica seemed to be indifferent. She did it on purpose.

Sure enough, she pretended to be aggrieved and frightened when she turned around to follow Priscilla in.

Jessica heard Louise calling Simon helplessly when she returned to the dressing room.

"Simon, what should I do? Now that everyone knows about my stand-in, what should I do?"

Jessica walked into the dressing room and changed into her own clothes. She had no intention of comforting Louise at this moment.

Louise was already gone when she came out of the dressing room.

Jessica snorted. She could imagine Louise crying in Simon's arms.

Just as she was about to leave, her phone rang

A string of strange phone numbers was shown on the screen.

She answered the phone as she walked.

"I'm waiting for you at the door. Come out quickly."

At the other end of the phone, a magnetic male voice sounded. Jessica recognized the person who called her as soon as she heard it.

"Do you know where I am?" Jessica was surprised.

"Come out and you'll know whether I know where you are." Timothy's voice softened a little.

Jessica snorted, not believing the man's words.

TI

She walked at a quicker speed than ever. She then saw a man in a suit when she reached the doorway.

It was Timothy who said to keep her as his mistress.

Jessica had seen and touched his sexy body last night but it was the first time she saw him wearing a suit.

His tall figure accentuated the well tailored suit and made him look elegant and dignified.

Timothy was aloof and introverted but he still let out a kingly manner even he wore a suit.

"How did you know I was here?" Jessica glared at Timothy. Her facial features became more and more charming with her vivid expression.

Especially her pair of eyes as a fox's, which were exceptionally bright, seemed to be ready to seduce the man's soul at any time.

"Can we change our topic?" After Timothy finished speaking, he took out a bank card and handed it to Jessica.

Jessica narrowed her eyes. "What do you mean?"

Chapter 8 His Eyes Were Blinded

"I will keep you as my mistress. It is all I have. Of course, I will work harder to make more money in the future."

Timothy's eyes were full of sincerity. Especially, when he said "keep," Jessica was blushed.

She thought this man was just talking, but she didn't expect him to be serious.

"Our relationship is a one-night stand. I don't want to be kept." After Jessica spoke, she planned to leave.

One step ahead of Jessica, Timothy stood in front of her.

Next, he pressed Jessica against the wall.

Jessica was angry at the man's behavior.

However, Timothy stuffed the bank card into Jessica's hand and said in an extremely determined tone, "If you dare to refuse again, I don't mind starting the second one-night stand now."

Jessica: ".."

Seeing Jessica's obvious shocked expression, Timothy kissed her on the forehead. "I'm busy now. I'll come to you later.”

The man strode away after speaking

Jessica looked at the bank card in her hand and then at Timothy’s back, speechless.

She put the card in her wallet, and just then, Simon’s call came.

“Jessica, hurry up to the company.”

After Simon gave the order, he hung up the phone with a bang without giving Jessica a chance to speak.

Jessica had known why Simon asked her to go to the TY company, but now the enemies were in the open and she was in a dark. Therefore, she had to pretend that she didn’t know anything as before so that she could alter the situation.

Once Jessica failed, she would lose everything

Simon and Louise, the two bitches, would be even more fearless, and the inheritance that belonged to Jessica, the daughter of the Sandgren family, would also be divided.

In less than thirty minutes, Jessica came to the TY Company by car.

As soon as she reached the door of Simon’s office, she heard Louise crying and Simon scolding

“You can’t do anything. What’s your use? I have hired a group of trash!”

Inside Simon’s gentle appearance was a restless and disrespectful heart.

A few subordinates were scolded harshly by Simon. Jessica pushed the door open, and Simon’s expression was slightly restrained. “Get out.”

“What’s wrong?” Jessica asked Simon, who was in a rage. “Who provokes you?”

Simon said angrily, “Look for yourself!

Then he handed the phone to Jessica

Jessica looked at the report on the phone about Louise using a stand-in today, and then she understood.

She didn't expect Mrs. Kimi to be so efficient and make it a trending hashtag. Jessica secretly cheered.

"How did it happen? Who wants to hurt Louise?" Jessica's expression was filled with anger. She looked even angrier than when she herself had a negative news.

Simon and Louise worked together to deceive Jessica for a long time. Both of them knew that Jessica was a stupid woman.

Jessica was so stupid that even if she was abducted, she would count money for the criminals.

Therefore, when Simon saw Jessica's angry expression, he was not surprised.

But they didn't know that the backstage manipulator was Jessica, whom they thought was a pushover.

"I wish I have known." When mentioning the uploader of the video, Simon gritted his teeth with hatred. "Jessica, what happened today was because you made a mistake, right? The company has already organized a crisis management team. You can go over and tell the reporters later that you suddenly wanted to act and begged Louise as a good friend. Louise was too embarrassed to refuse, so she allowed you to act."

When she arrived, Jessica had already thought that Simon would definitely ask her to take the blame for Louise.

But now hearing such ruthless words come out of his mouth, Jessica could only feel that her heart was torn apart bloodily.

Once she took the blame, she became the reviled target of the public, but Louise became a righteous angel who could sacrifice everything for friendship

It was the man she had loved for three years and was willing to give up everything

Her eyes were really blinded.

“Simon, why am I always the one to blame if Louise makes a mistake? I’m going to be your wife. Is an actor in your company more important than me? Or, is Louise more important than me?”

Tears welled up in Jessica’s eyes and her anger turned into a grievance. At this time, she could not tell whether she was acting or really wanted to cry.

“Louise is an entertainer that the TY Group supports. As long as she has a stain, it will be fatal to the TY Group. Jessica, you don’t work in the entertainment industry. What’s wrong with taking the blame for your good friend? It won’t affect you much anyway.”

Chapter 9 Whatever You Want

Simon was vexed about Jessica’s attitude. She was too selfish.

Louise, who was crying bitterly, sniffed and said, “Simon, don’t blame Jessica. It’s my fault this time. I’ll go to the press conference later to apologize for my mistake. Don’t argue with Jessica because of me.”

Louise looked so pitiful that she was like a victim. Her words made Jessica feel disgusted.

“L. L.” Jessica didn’t know what to say, but she was depressed because they force her by high moral standards.

She was too stupid. How could she like Simon and make friends with Louise?

Seeing Jessica hesitating, Simon knew that Louise’s words might work.

“Louise, go out first,” Simon said.

Louise hurriedly left Simon's office. When there were only Jessica and Simon in the office, he directly hugged her into his arms.

"Jessica, I know it is really unfair to you, but TY Company is everything to me. I can't destroy it just because of Louise's mistake. You know, TY Company is on the way up, so we need your help."

Simon's voice was soft and full of helplessness.

"I wouldn't have let you sacrifice if there is enough time."

Seeing Jessica hesitating, Simon knew that Louise's words might work.

"Louise, go out first," Simon said.

Louise hurriedly left Simon's office. When there were only Jessica and Simon in the office, he directly hugged her into his arms.

"Jessica, I know it is really unfair to you, but TY Company is everything to me. I can't destroy it just because of Louise's mistake. You know, TY Company is on the way up, so we need your help."

Simon's voice was soft and full of helplessness.

"I wouldn't have let you sacrifice if

there is enough time."

Jessica tried her best not to push him away and leaned against his chest silently.

"I love you very much, and I know you love me. Could you please help me this time? When it is over, I will compensate you."

Simon said affectionately, but Jessica sneered in her heart.

He claimed that he loved her, but he had sex with Louise many times.

Jessica felt that if she didn't speak again, she might be about to vomit because of the discussion.

"How?"

Jessica, who had never made a request to Simon, asked him directly. Simon was shocked.

But Simon quickly replied, "I can give you whatever you want."

Jessica gently pushed Simon away. "Okay, I'll help Louise, but it will be the last time."

Simon achieved his goal and wanted to kiss Jessica in her forehead, but she avoided it.

"I'm a little tired. I'll take a rest first. I'll be there when the press conference starts." After Jessica finished speaking, she entered Simon's lounge.

Anyway, the lounge was in the office. And Simon didn't say anything more.

Jessica closed the door of the lounge tiredly. The next second, however, she became excited.

Jessica told Mrs. Kimi about the things after Louise's substitute was exposed, and they were discussing their next steps excitedly

On the other hand, a man in a black suit stood in front of the french window of the single apartment and looked outside.

He was on the phone. As soon as the call was connected, a man said in surprise.

"Oh, is me hallucinating? Is Timothy that call me? Do you want to..."

"Investigate Brant's daughter, Jessica, and her conflict with Simon and Louise."

Timothy told Jacob directly.

"Damn, if you need to help you will call me. But you ignore me after things are done. Do you think I'm a condom?" Jacob's tone was filled with unhappiness

"What?" Although it was only a word, Jacob still felt scary.

"Give me some time and I will give you the answer, Timothy." Jacob's attitude changed so fast that he was almost like an actor.

After Jacob finished speaking, he hung up the phone. Half an hour later, a document was sent to Timothy's phone.

Chapter 10 Was It Wrong to Look

Timothy opened the document and began to browse it.

His deep pupils were glistening. He deleted the document after reading it.

With a sneer on the corners of his lips, he took out a cigarette and bit it in his mouth. His eyes were so shrewd and penetrating that it was impossible to know what he was calculating.

Half an hour later, Simon knocked on the door of the lounge, reminding Jessica that it was time to go to the press conference

Jessica then followed Simon to the press conference. As soon as she reached the door, she saw Louise and her agent sitting in front.

Louise's eyes were red, and she looked so pitiful.

She looked so frightened in the face of those aggressive reporters.

When a microphone almost hit Louise's face, Simon, who was walking with Jessica, immediately rushed over and threw the reporter's microphone to the ground, "Is this how you reporters interview celebrities?"

After seeing that he was the CEO of TY Group, the reporter did not dare to argue.

Jessica watched coldly as Simon publicly defended Louise, she felt as if her heart was pierced by needles.

The bone-chilling coldness spread from her feet to her whole body, and her hands clenched into fists.

The more Simon wanted to protect Louise, the more Jessica wanted them to go to hell.

Jessica sat next to Louise, and sensible reporters put their microphones in front of Jessica “Excuse me, Miss Sandgren, are you the one who begged Louise in the name of friendship to let you perform, so as to indulge your passion for acting?”

“Jessica, you know very well that Louise must personally perform in filming. You deliberately threatened her with the ground of friendship. Do you want to ruin her?”

Seven or eight reporters asked questions together, and Jessica waited until they finished asking. Jessica then answered, “I’m sorry, everyone. I didn’t expect that because of my sudden whim, it has such a big impact on Louise and even TY Group. Yes, I begged Louise to let me perform for a while as I love performing. You all know that I used to love this stage very much...”

After the press conference was over, Louise, who had been silent all along, said gratefully, “Jessica, thank you.”

Jessica felt so disgusted looking at Louise’s hypocritical face. She said coldly, “This is the last time I take the blame for you.”

Louise looked at Jessica’s back and wondered why Jessica seemed to have changed since her coming back this time?

What Jessica said at the press conference was quickly posted on the internet.

The title was, “The rich calls the shot. Miss Sandgren ruined a female celebrity.”

For a moment, it caused quite a stir on the internet

Many people looked at the headline and then watched what Jessica said at the press conference. The image of Jessica being the firstborn of a rich family who was arrogant and willful was conjured up. While Louise became a young and innocent lady who dared not resist the power and sacrificed everything for friendship.

Jessica flipped through a few pages of the report and kept smiling faintly.

In the entertainment industry, there was a trick called "destroying a person after pushing them to the peak of their career". The higher a person had reached in their career ladder, the more embarrassed they would be when they were knocked down.

Jessica put away her phone and left the TY Group.

As soon as she reached the door, she saw Timothy standing in the most conspicuous spot and was looking at her.

Jessica immediately walked up to Timothy and asked in a low voice, "Why are you here?"

"I said I will come to you. Besides, is it wrong for me to come to my woman?" Timothy looked at Jessica in front of him and asked with raised eyebrows.
