

Time Travel to Become Your Sweetheart Chapter 18

It was noon, and the nurse and Lainey weren't around. Jane sat in an electric wheelchair, going downstairs to shower in the sun on the lawn.

...

Then, her phone rang.

Jane lowered her head, taking out her phone.

In the past few days in the hospital, Colin was the only one who called her at the same time every day to ask her how she was doing. Dayton would also say a few words on the phone. For the rest of the time, it was quiet.

Jane used the facial recognition system to unlock her phone, seeing a message, "I'm sorry, baby."

"Baby, are you angry with me? I'm hoping you can forgive me."

"I didn't stand you up on purpose. I was followed by two crazy fans, and I couldn't get rid of them. You know that I'm on the rise in my career, and we...."

His profile photo in WeChat, an instant messaging application, was a sailboat, and his name in WeChat was Sailboat. Jane recalled that this person was the so-called adulterer Randy.

Randy used an ellipsis. Jane understood what he meant.

Their relationship should be kept as a secret. Therefore, Randy didn't dare to show up, and he let the female lead down.

"Is it inconvenient for you to reply now?"

Jane didn't reply, so Randy asked again.

Finally, he added, "God covers tigers on the land."

Jane didn't know what to say. The female lead had an agreement with Randy that they would send a code whenever they wanted to talk.

One person said "God covers tigers on the land". If it was convenient to reply, the other one would say "The pagoda suppresses monsters in the river". If it was not convenient, the other one could say "Chicken stewed with mushrooms".

Randy had sent the code, waiting for Jane to reply.

Jane stared at the screen for three seconds and realized something.

Regardless of why Randy approached the female lead, it was not simple. She didn't believe that he loved her.

When a man and a woman were together, it was only about two things: money or body.

Looking at her round belly, Jane couldn't help but feel upset, 'Alright, what Randy wanted was my money.'

'Never mind. If Randy had something to do with the kidnapping, he would let the cat out of the bag.'

Randy was sitting on a sofa, shaking his crossed legs. Ignoring his posture and looking at his face, most people would consider him a handsome man. He was wearing a white shirt and a pair of black trousers, looking fresh and forthright.

"Mr. Randy, what's so funny?"

The assistant handed Randy a washed apple and asked him.

"What's funny? I'm waiting for the fatty to reply."

Randy's lips curled into a wicked smile and then he took a bite out of the apple, 'A wealthy lady who was empty, lonely and frustrated. It was easy to tempt her. So cheap.'

"Mr. Randy, you are a charming man."

The assistant flattered Randy. And he gave Randy a thumbs-up in his heart, 'He dared to steal Mr. William's wife. Even if Mr. William didn't like Jane, she was still Mrs. Duncan.'

The assistant knew the reason. Randy had an older half-sister, Kylie, who was a movie queen.

Kylie was a ravishing new movie queen. Meanwhile, she was an ambassador of some brand of the Duncan Group.

Randy and Kylie weren't close.

However, they had an agreement in private that as long as Randy hooked up with Jane and got William to divorce Jane, Kylie would provide various connections and resources for Randy regardless of whether Kylie could be William's wife.

Hooking up with Jane should be difficult. It was hard for people in the show business to come into contact with wealthy families, especially the Duncans, who was not ordinary wealthy family.

However, Jane happened to be a fan of Randy's, so it just happened.

Chapter 19 Suddenly, He Has Egg on the Face

"That's right, my charm is peerless..."

Randy suddenly froze. The WeChat interface showed that Jane was typing. After waiting for a long time, he sent the message again and discovered that it was rejected by Jane.

"Holy shit!"

Randy threw the apple away, got up from the sofa, called his assistant and said seriously, "Jovanny, do you think my phone doesn't work?"

The reminder on the screen was quite hard to read, but it showed that the message had been sent, but it was rejected by Jane.

"Well ... Randy, there's nothing wrong with your phone. She blacklisted you!"

Seeing that Randy was petrified on the spot, Jovanny twitched his lips.

Just now, he was bragging, and he didn't expect to have egg on his face so suddenly.

"How could it be?!"

Randy couldn't believe that the fatty who would exclaim when seeing him would blacklist him without hesitation.

Hearing that she was kidnapped, Randy didn't care at all. Anyway, as long as he condescended himself, this fatty would be dead set.

But she had a tantrum?

"In less than five minutes, she will regret it. When the time comes, she will befriend me again and take the initiative to apologize."

Randy firmly believed that Jane's infatuation with him was real. If it wasn't, then Jane could replace his sister to be the actress of the year.

Five minutes passed. A red exclamation mark was there. Ten minutes passed. It was still there.

Half an hour later, Randy suddenly came to a realization. He stared at his phone and muttered, "I know the reason."

"What is it?"

Jovanny pricked up his ears and inquired. Did Mrs. Jane suddenly realize that Randy was double-faced, so that she changed from an admirer to a detractor?

Well, it was very likely.

"The fatty lost her phone."

Randy nodded. He convinced himself that he should have confidence in his charm. The fatty was infatuated with him a few days ago, and she would not change so fast.

Jovanny was speechless.

It was so typical of Randy. He wouldn't act like those normal people. He was so narcissistic!

After blacklisting Randy, Jane again had a peaceful life. Almost no one contacted her. It was as if she had been forgotten, and her life became dull.

She stayed in hospital for ten days and had a regular schedule. She went to the lawn every afternoon to have a sunbath and watch the latest jewelry show and yoga videos.

In the afternoon, she was told by the doctor that she could be discharged.

"Madam, Master Duncan asked us to pick you up."

Lainey brought a maid to help Jane pack her luggage.

During the past few days in the hospital, in addition to clothes, Lainey also brought some jewelry that Jane usually wore and a few pairs of high heels that she collected for her entertainment.

As the mistress of a rich family, Jane had to have her own style. Jane was able to walk on her own. Lainey and the maid supported her, followed by four black-clothed bodyguards, one of whom was carrying her bag.

Jane was not used to this.

“Who’s in the house?”

Sitting in the extended version of Rolls-Royce, Jane closed her eyes. She was about to return to the Duncan’s and meet Colin. She was so nervous.

This was the only person who cared about the female lead. Jane lived under this title and deeply felt sorry for Colin.

“Madam, Master Colin said it was improper to spread the news of your hospitalization. We will be back for a family gathering. There are no outsiders.”

Lainey rolled her eyes, blaming Jane for her restlessness. She had just escaped death and was discharged from the hospital, but she was thinking of holding a party at the mansion.

Those from poor families loved to show off. Even though she was raised up by Colin, she learned nothing about keeping a low profile like the Duncans did.

Chapter 20 The Mysterious Duncans

“Family...”

Jane was upset. She didn’t want to face the whole family, especially William. She was worried that he would throw the divorce agreement onto her face.

At that time, even if she begged, it would be useless.

Therefore, the best way was to stay away from William so as to maintain the marriage until she found out what was behind the kidnapping.

“Yes. William had the business trip postponed and he’ll be home at four o’clock.”

Lainey finished and said nothing more.

They arrived at the suburb, which was famous for being a rich community in the city.

The Duncan’s was located halfway up the mountain, but the road was well built and it was not steep.

Although Jane had the female lead's memories, she was still shocked by the house in front of her. The shock in her heart was indescribable.

She thought that living in a villa was amazing, especially in City J where the land was so expensive.

As for the Duncan's, it had the style of the 30s. It was somewhat vintage, but each wall and roof was delicately designed.

Not only were there rockery gardens, there was also a large artificial lake. Surrounded by mountains and water, those outsiders would probably think that this was a scenic spot.

But the most mysterious thing about the Duncan family was its background.

The female lead was raised up by Colin, so she had understandings about the family. It wasn't a nouveau riche family but was very rich a long time ago.

The family had properties in all industries around the world, and perhaps even William didn't know how much money the family had.

The family had so many antiques, whose value was immeasurable.

"Jane is back. Let me take a look!"

Just as Jane got out of the car, a gray-haired old man in a wheelchair came out from the entrance. The man's beard was gray as well, but he looked pretty vigorous.

"Grandfather, why are you here?"

The female lead's feeling made Jane extremely close to the old man. Colin was doing well. He heard that Jane had been abducted and fell down out of anxiety, so he had to use a wheelchair.

"With this wheelchair, I can be mobile."

The old man glared at and complained about the servants. His grandson instructed them to nourish him by feeding him pork bone soup.

The old man hated bland food. He especially loved sweet foods. He thought that when Jane came back, he could grab a piece to satisfy himself.

"Grandfather, William is doing this for you, so don't be angry."

Jane stepped forward, pushed the wheelchair, and spoke to the old man with a smile.

Before coming here, she was a little worried that she would be stilted. However, when she saw Colin, she immediately felt an intimacy from the bottom of her heart.

“Save it, you’re a couple. You’re defending that bastard.”

Colin waved his hand and then winked at Jane, signaling her to rid the servants and talk to him alone.

Jane could not help feeling funny in her heart.

The mysterious William was a bastard to Colin. Indeed, there would always be someone conquering another.

Colin turned around and saw that his granddaughter-in-law was happy and his mood improved.

William didn’t like Jane. He strongly opposed to it back then, but the old man had been there. In reality, the so-called love at first sight did not exist. It was all about appearance. Only by getting along would they fall for each other and live together forever.
