

The Mans Decree Chapter 693

Chapter 693 Stomachache

Inside the mansion in Dragon Bay. Josephine stared at Jared's detoxification pill in disgust and scowled. "What the hell is this? Ugh, it smells horrible and looks so disgusting."

Jared wanted Josephine to take the detoxification pill, but she obviously hated that idea.

"Lizbeth, take the pill. It's amazing, and I promise your strength will increase several folds after taking it," urged Jared who had since turned his attention to Josephine.

Unfortunately, Lizbeth was also having a hard time swallowing that pill. However, it was understandable since the smell was simply too much.

Jared was utterly speechless when he saw how both ladies refused to take the pills. He had no choice but to keep trying. "This pill is known as the detoxification pill, and it is highly coveted. Many would kill to get their hands on it, and I had to spend so much effort to get it for the two of you. Haven't you both been wanting to practice cultivation? You'll have to take the pill before you can do that."

Josephine saw how irritated Jared looked, so she bit down and made her decision. "Okay, fine! Let me warn you, if this detoxification pill isn't as great as you claim it is, I will beat you up. Seriously, why didn't you put some sugar in it while you were making it? This smell is just too disgusting."

After saying that, Josephine pinched her nose, popped her mouth open, and swallowed the pill right after.

The effects of the detoxification pill weren't something regular folks could handle. Josephine frowned soon after, and her stomach grumbled.

“Are you sure that’s the detoxification pill? Did you take the wrong pill and gave me laxative instead?” asked Josephine. She had turned pale. Her hand was on her stomach as the pain ambushed her. There was no way to hold it in.

“Josephine, what’s wrong?”

Lizbeth was going to take the pill after she saw Josephine taking it, but the way Josephine reacted after that discouraged her. She hurried over to ask how Josephine was doing.

Powered by Hooligan Media

“Are you okay?”

Jared panicked as well.

He had never taken a detoxification pill before, so he didn’t know what was happening either. When he saw how much pain Josephine was in, he quickly reached out for her hand to check her condition. However, she ran to the washroom before he could get to her.

Pfft!

The continuous sound of passing gas stunned Jared. Does Josephine have food poisoning? Or is there something wrong with the pill?

Curious, Jared inched closer to the washroom and knocked on the door. “Josephine? Are you okay?”

“Yeah, I’m fine. Just wait there and don’t come in,” replied Josephine. She was panicking a little and was quick to lock the door. It was simply too embarrassing. I can’t believe it stinks so badly! Oh gosh, this is so nauseating.

Josephine had to turn on the exhaustion fan and basically do everything she could to deal with the smell.

“Jared, where did you get that detoxification pill from? Were you conned? Seriously, if anything were to happen to Josephine... Well, I guess you’ll just have to drown yourself in regret.”

Lizbeth glared before tossing the detoxification pill back to him.

Jared caught the detoxification pill while having an utterly confused look on his face. It was highly unlikely that Rayleigh would lie to Jared. After all, the latter was there and watched as the former create the detoxification pill. There shouldn't be anything off with it.

"Josephine, are you okay? Should I call an ambulance?" asked Lizbeth.

Jared was an incredible medical practitioner but Lizbeth still thought it was better to call the ambulance. It was inappropriate for a man to be too close to a woman, after all.

"No, there's no need for that. It's just a stomachache," replied Josephine as quickly as possible.

With that, Jared and Lizbeth had no choice but to wait patiently. They were there for thirty long minutes before they saw Josephine leaving the toilet while blushing hard.

"Are you okay?"

Jared hurried over when he saw Josephine.

However, he stopped short before he could finish asking all of his questions.

Josephine's skin was practically glowing at the time, and her cheeks were a little pink. Even without her make-up on, she looked as stunning as an angel.

Lizbeth's eyes bulged as well. She stared in astonishment, which made Josephine a little uncomfortable.

The Mans Decree Chapter 694

Chapter 694 Fantasy

“What’s wrong? Is there something on my face?”

Josephine touched her face and was panicking a little. She even sniffed the air to check if the horrendous stench was still detectable. Yep, it’s definitely gone.

Truth was, Josephine was done ages ago, but she stayed inside for half an hour to wait for the smell to dissipate. She didn’t want to ruin Jared’s impression of her.

Hence, she was troubled when she saw how Jared and Lizbeth were stunned.

“No, that’s not it at all. Come. You should see for yourself,” replied Jared. He led her right to the mirror after that.

“My gosh, Josephine. It’s as though you’ve changed into an entirely different person. Your skin is smoother than a baby’s butt now,” said Lizbeth enviously while standing at the side.

Josephine was dumbstruck as well when she looked at her own reflection.

“Is that me? Oh, my gosh! I look so wonderful.”

She was still the same person she had always been, but the glow on her entire body was incredible. Her skin looked livelier, and her figure became sexier, too. In that state, any man would be tempted to stare at Josephine.

“Jared, what is going on? Does the detoxification pill have beautifying properties?” asked Josephine. She was so excited that she was trembling a little. Gah, my skin is so perfect, and it’s as though I am a newborn baby.

Jared sighed a breath of relief and reached out for Josephine's wrist to check her pulse. He wanted to examine her physical condition. As suspected, Josephine's blood flow was smoother. The most incredible bit, however, was that her body had zero toxic substances. It's as though she is a newborn baby.

Powered by Hooligan Media

It only took Jared an instant to figure it out. Ah, so the detoxification pill expels all toxins in a person's body and reverts one back to the state of a newborn baby. Being in this state is the only way to know if a person can enter the heavenly realm and learn how to cultivate spiritual energy.

The mere thought of it prompted Jared to clench his fists tightly. If Josephine makes it to the heavenly realm, then we can stay together forever.

"The detoxification pill truly is an amazing medicine."

Jared was practically overflowing with excitement.

Josephine sensed his emotions. That allowed her to deduce how the detoxification pill truly worked.

At that moment, she no longer blamed Jared for causing her stomachache. She flung herself into Jared's arm even though Lizbeth was standing right there.

Unfortunately, Lizbeth pried the two of them away as soon as they hugged.

"Lizbeth, what are you doing? Are you jealous?" asked Josephine. She couldn't help smiling when she saw how eager Lizbeth was to pry them apart.

"Jealous? Puh-lease," replied Lizbeth. She rolled her eyes at Josephine before turning her attention to Jared. Her hands reached for his shirt seconds later.

Jared was so surprised that he jumped backward. "Lizbeth, what are you doing? I am an honorable man, and Josephine is standing right there. How could you...?"

Lizbeth responded by grabbing Jared's collar and dissing him. "What is wrong with that brain of yours? I'm just trying to get the detoxification pill back from you!"

After saying that, she fished the pill right out of his pocket and swallowed it without hesitating.

It didn't take long before she frowned, then rushed into the washroom.

Jared and Josephine became the only ones left there. Unexpectedly, when he stepped forward to hug her, she pushed him away.

Josephine glared evilly and demanded, "What is the meaning of this? Would you have gotten together with Lizbeth if I wasn't there earlier?"

"Huh? What do you mean? I don't understand what you're saying at all. Wait, you're not trying to con me into saying something weird, are you?"

Jared looked away guiltily to avoid Josephine's gaze. He walked right into the living room to sit on the couch.

"I knew it. Men are all pigs."

Josephine pouted a little, but she wasn't actually angry.

She felt as though she would be fine, even if Jared and Lizbeth had done something heinous together. All that matters is that he loves me.