

The Mans Decree Chapter 745

Chapter 745 Debut

Thinking that he would be reduced to a useless person should he lose his negative energy, Carlos ordered, "Members of Empyrean Sect, stop him no matter what!" He then leaped to his feet abruptly before running toward the woods. I need to get away from him now! When Father comes back, we'll take revenge together.

Unfortunately for him, Jared saw it coming. As soon as Carlos started running, Jared took a leap toward him. Landing right in front of Carlos, Jared swiftly kicked him to the ground.

Clouds of dust rose, and a loud thud followed when Carlos' body crashed heavily onto the ground. There was so much force packed behind the kick that he was sent a meter deep into the ground upon impact.

"Mr. Xuereb!" the members of the Empyrean Sect yelled.

Seeing that, they all ran toward Carlos to dig him out. By the time they got him out, all the bones in his body had already been shattered. He was so gravely injured that he needed his members to hold him because he could no longer stand on his own.

"How dare you try to run away from me?" Jared stared at him coldly.

"Please let me live, Jared. You can take everything from the Empyrean Sect. All you have to do is let me go," Carlos begged.

He reckoned it was never too late for revenge. Should Jared agree to let him live, he would become a Martial Arts Grandmaster and seek revenge alongside his father.

"Let you live?" Jared grinned and added, "If I let you go now, you'd surely come back for me in the future."

With that, he dashed toward Carlos.

Seeing that, the members of the Empyrean Sect who were supporting Carlos tried to stop Jared. However, they were all sent flying in the air when Jared released a wave of martial energy.

Powered by Hooligan Media

Without the support from his members, Carlos started falling to the ground again. Before he could reach the ground, however, Jared reached out his hand and grabbed his head.

At that moment, Carlos felt an enormous pulling force on his head. Just like that, all the negative energy in his elixir field was absorbed by Jared.

“Y-You’ve learned Astral Attraction?” As Carlos widened his eyes in fear, he desperately tried to struggle free. Unfortunately, his efforts were futile.

Everyone at the scene froze when they saw Jared absorbing Carlos’ negative energy.

Before long, Jared had taken away every ounce of negative energy in Carlos. When he eventually let go of Carlos’ head, the latter fell heavily onto the ground again.

Without negative energy, Carlos was nothing more than a commoner. Since all the bones in his body had been shattered, it would be almost impossible for him to cultivate again.

“Now that you’ve taken my negative energy, will you leave?” Carlos murmured while lying flat on the ground.

Even though he was drained of negative energy and had all his bones broken, he was still determined to take revenge.

“Leave?” Jared chuckled coldly. “Did I say I was leaving? If I don’t kill you, how would those hundreds of girls ever get their justice? Do you even know the pain they had to go through because you’ve taken their negative energy?”

While he was saying that, he suddenly reached out his right hand. Gradually, a shimmering sword started to show itself in Jared’s grip. The color of the sword then slowly changed from the initial bright white to red. A blood-like liquid could be seen flowing within the sword.

"I've just gotten this Dragonslayer Sword today. I'll debut it with your blood!" A red gleam from the blade whizzed through the air when Jared took a swing with it.

Carlos was terrified as he screamed, "No! Please don't!"

A loud bang was heard the next second. When the red gleam disappeared, so did Carlos' body. His body had been vaporized by the red gleam emitted by the sword.

"Wow! This Dragonslayer Sword is powerful!" Since Jared had never used the Dragonslayer Sword before, he was surprised to see how strong it was.

The Mans Decree Chapter 746

Chapter 746 Alone

Everyone from the Emyrean Sect was stunned when they saw Carlos vanish before their eyes.

They were so terrified they didn't even feel anger anymore. At that moment, they felt as though Jared was a deity from heaven. It was undeniably a mind-blowing sight.

Lyanna gaped in disbelief as well when she saw even the bones had vanished into thin air. How is that sword so powerful?

After keeping his sword, Jared looked at Lyanna and said, "All right, Carlos is dead. It's time for us to go."

Lyanna nodded and followed Jared out of the Emyrean Sect. The people from Mapleton were following close behind as well.

As he was walking past the members of the Emyrean Sect, Jared didn't forget to throw them a glance. Upon seeing that, they all scrambled away in fear. Not only did they not stop him from leaving, but none of them dared to even look Jared in the eyes.

After leaving the Emyrean Sect's vicinity, the five leaders and the people of Mapleton tried to keep Jared and Lyanna with them, but the duo had no desire to go back to Mapleton.

After all, Jared only agreed to go to the Emyrean Sect for the spirit spring. He had no interest in the well-being of the people in Mapleton.

Although Jared knew the Emyrean Sect would definitely go after Mapleton again should they fail to seek revenge on him, he had no obligation to keep the people of Mapleton safe.

That was the reality of the feuds between those clans. The weak ones would always get pushed around. The only way to survive was to strengthen oneself instead of relying on others to offer protection.

The two of them got on a plane and headed for Horington. After a few days apart, Jared was starting to miss Josephine and the others. Especially now that he had found out Josephine was of fiery constituent. I wonder what she could achieve after cultivating.

Powered by Hooligan Media

However, Josephine and Lizbeth were nowhere to be seen when Jared and Lyanna arrived at the mansion at Dragon Bay.

Jared tried calling, but he couldn't reach either of them.

After that, Jared called William and Walter to see if they knew where Josephine and Lizbeth were. He was starting to get worried when neither of them knew where the girls were.

Right then, Jared remembered Rayleigh was with them when he left. They should be fine. After all, not a lot of people in the martial arts world can take Rayleigh on.

After a whole day of searching, Jared still couldn't find them. His calls to Rayleigh were to no avail as well. In the end, he decided not to search for them anymore. Since they're all together. I guess nothing bad can happen.

With July 15th fast approaching, Jared decided to start his cultivation. Coincidentally, that was when Tessa arrived with a carload of spiritual stones.

Tessa was surprised when she saw Lyanna in the mansion with Jared. Although she had already seen Josephine and Lizbeth around, she still couldn't help but feel upset when she saw another pretty lady with him.

"I never knew you kept so many women by your side, Mr. Chance. It seems like you're getting an endless stream of beauties." A hint of jealousy could be heard in Tessa's voice.

"You've mistaken, Ms. Snyder. She's just a friend of mine," Jared answered helplessly.

"Just a friend? Yet, the two of you are staying alone together. Where are Ms. Sullivan and the rest?" Tessa took a cursory glance at the mansion and asked.

"They've gone out. By the way, perhaps you should just get someone else to send these spiritual stones in the future. I mean, isn't it a bit weird for you, a superstar, to do it by yourself?" Jared didn't want Tessa to send those spiritual stones because he could tell that she had feelings for him. Since he didn't feel the same toward her, he would rather not lead her on.

"Why? Is it because you don't wish to see me?" Tessa's expression suddenly turned grim. "I know you have an abundance of stunning ladies around you. However, am I worse than any of them in terms of looks and status?"

"This is a misunderstanding, Ms. Snyder! That's not what I meant!" It was an awkward moment, and Jared was having trouble trying to explain himself.