

NH

The security guard dragged them before the coffins, in an attempt to stuff them inside.

Both of the ladies broke down.

The mere thought of suffocating to death in the tightly sealed coffin was overwhelmingly scary!

Everyone felt sorry for these two, absolute beauties.

They were both gorgeous, but they were forced to marry the dead. What a waste!

Mrs. Moore snickered, "Now, we are just missing Zeke Williams' head. Hmm, the funeral will begin the moment his head arrives."

Lacey and Mia shuddered from head-to-toe.

What is going on? Why is Zeke Williams involved too?

Zeke Williams' head?

Did something happen to him?

Pew!

At this very moment, a shrill sound broke through the air.

A flurry of electric sparks headed for Mrs. Moore and finally found their way into her right arm.

She stumbled backward, before landing on the floor with a heavy crash.

NH

Her shoulder broke on the spot and blood spurted in all directions.

Bullet!

It was actually a bullet!

Based on its strength, it was most likely an army-issued bullet!

God, why would there be a bullet aiming at Mrs. Moore at a funeral?

The guests could not remain calm any longer. They all got up and looked towards the direction from which the bullet had traveled.

A row of army tanks was driving towards them swiftly.

Unquestionably, the bullet came from that row of tanks.

The first car at the row was a saloon car, that appeared as if it were guiding the army vehicles.

Finally, the fleet of cars halted, near the funeral. Up to a thousand armed soldiers hopped off the vehicles and immediately surrounded the funeral venue.

Everyone was taken aback by the sight of their heavy, black guns.

An uncountable number of unkempt commoners jumped off the last army vehicle.

NH

They were accosted by a group of soldiers and were walking towards them.

Mountain robbers!

They were the mountain robbers of the Earth Emperor's Mountains!

Finally, the door opened to the first saloon car. The owner soon alighted the car.

There was a commotion when everyone caught a clearer glimpse of the owner.

Zeke Williams!

D it, what'd happened? Wasn't he abducted and killed by the mountain robbers?

How did the opposite occur? It seems like the mountain robbers were captured, while Zeke and his crew were left unharmed!

The sight of Zeke, the army troop, and the robbers filled Mrs. Moore's heart with fear, to the point where she had forgotten the piercing pain, striking throughout her arm!

She could sense that the master had lost, terribly!

The moment Zeke alighted the car, he noticed Sage, Lacey, and Mia at the venue.

The Walters had tear-stained faces, while Lacey and Mia were almost being stuffed into coffins!

At that moment, Zeke was about to explode in anger.

Mrs. Moore was about to bury Lacey and Mia alive?

How dare she do this?

Zeke rushed over to Lacey and knocked the security guard out, with one punch. "Lacey, are you all right?"

Taken aback, Lacey asked him, "Williams, what... What are you doing here, at Atheville? Also, how are you related to the Moores? They'd just announced that you'd died."

Zeke responded, "It's a long story for another day."

He immediately ran towards Mia, saving her as well. "Mia, are you alright?"

Mia was completely pale as she stammered, "I... I am alright."

Zeke patted their shoulders and stalked towards Mrs. Moore slowly, with a murderous look in his eyes.

Mrs. Moore collapsed, as she slowly tried to wriggle her way backwards, in an attempt to maintain a further distance, from Zeke.

Xander wanted to bury Lacey alive, and he was buried alive by Zeke.

Now that I had attempted to bury Lacey alive as well, what will he do to me?

NH

“Wh... What do you want to do.... don't come near me, don't come near me!”

Wordlessly, Zeke kicked Mrs. Moore's jaw.

Her porcelain teeth flew out of her mouth, while her jaw soon dislocated and slanted to the side.

Rate the Translation to Get 2 Pearls.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!

NH

Zeke gritted his teeth, “You seem to love burying people alive. Fine. Let me help you with that!”

Zeke kicked her in her stomach, flinging her into the air and causing her to land in Xander’s grave.

Xander had been freshly unearthed, so Mrs. Moore and Xander looked like two corpses side by side.

“Ah! No, no!” Mrs. Moore screamed her lungs out. Zeke is going to bury me alive as well!

Zeke picked up a shovel and started burying them without hesitation as the crowd watched in silence. That demon is at it again!

Yet, none of them held it against Zeke. Since Mrs. Moore had the intention of burying someone else alive, she was simply getting what she had asked for.

As Zeke buried her, he had a torn expression. He muttered to himself, “If I kill her, I’ll be missing one person to carry my buddy’s casket for the reburial. If I don’t bury her alive, I won’t be satisfied with my revenge. What now? What should I do?”

Wolf’s Greed immediately understood Zeke’s intentions and gave a signal to his adjutant.

The adjutant nodded and brought the butler to the grave.

He demanded, “Butler, take a good look at her and tell me if she was the one who ordered you to kidnap innocent civilians.”

NH

The butler stuttered, “Y-Yes, that’s right.”

The adjutant ordered, “Men, seize her!”

A few soldiers seized Mrs. Moore from the ground, dragged her out, and threw her into the car.

Mrs. Moore heaved a sigh of relief. It’s much better falling into the hands of the military than of that demon!

The adjutant scanned the area with an icy glare and declared, “We’ve gotten rid of the bandits, but this matter isn’t resolved yet. We’ll investigate everyone who worked with these bandits.”

The military left as soon as they came, leaving a mess behind.

Zeke threw the shovel aside and headed to Lacey’s side.

Lacey jumped into Zeke’s arms and started bawling. Her heart was filled with fear when she thought of how she was nearly buried alive.

Zeke stroked her hair endearingly and consoled her, “Sorry, Lacey. I didn’t manage to protect you well.”

Sage headed to Zeke’s side and cried, “Mr. Williams, you scared me to death. I thought you...”

Zeke chuckled as he dried Sage’s tears, “Don’t worry, Sage, I have nine lives; I won't die so easily."

NH

Lacey ceased sobbing. She glanced at Zeke, then at Sage, with jealousy.

Zeke quickly explained, "Lacey, this is my buddy's sister, Sage. If you don't mind, I'd like to take her as my sworn sister."

Lacey remained doubtful.

Sole Wolf and Wolf's Greed approached Sage.

"Sage, are you alright."

"Sorry we were so late."

"Don't worry, we'll definitely make the scumbags from the Moore family pay the price."

Upon seeing Sole Wolf and Wolf's Greed doting on her, Lacey felt a little more relieved. Looks like the two of them like this little girl.

Lacey held Sage's hand and introduced herself, "Hello, Sage. I'm Mr. Williams' girlfriend. If you're alright with it, you can call me Lacey."

"Hi, Lacey," Sage greeted her bashfully.

Zeke said, "Let's get going."

After Lacey and the others got onto the car, Zeke turned his gaze to the guests present.

All of them started to tremble as though they had seen the reaper himself.

NH

Zeke jeered, “All of you seem to love attending funerals. I saw you guys last time, and here you are again. Fine, then. Six days later, my buddy will be having a reburial. I humbly invite everyone present to attend. Otherwise, I’ll hold a funeral for you myself.”

That one sentence struck fear in everyone’s hearts. He’ll hold a funeral for anyone who doesn’t attend! What a blatant threat!

Rate the Translation to Get 2 Pearls.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!