

Remarriage His Billionaire Ex-Wife By H.D. Cynthia

Chapter 213

Chapter 213

Lucas felt as if he had a headache. "Please don't get me wrong. That's not what I mean. I just feel that you have been trapped in this house for so many years. Now that you are in your later years, you don't have to stay here for anyone."

This was the first time Rebecca had heard Lucas say such sweet things to her. Rebecca's eyes turned red. "You don't have to worry about me. I'm doing well."

Rebecca was numb to many things now. She wished nothing but the best for her children.

Lucas knew Rebecca was stubborn and didn't want to say anything more. "Take care of yourself. I'll mind my own business."

"Okay, then come back to eat more often when you have time."

"I see."

Lucas responded and turned to leave.

Despite what he said, Lucas actually didn't want to come back even if he had time.

Rebecca was not the reason. It was just the Thomas family was like a cage to Lucas.

Too depressing. Too suffocating.

Rebecca saw Lucas off. She gazed at his back for quite some time before she wiped her tears off.

Rebecca walked out and Dwayne came over. "Mrs. Thomas, Mr. Justin Thomas wants to talk to you."

Rebecca paused. "I got it."

Rebecca knew what Justin wanted to say. But she was too timid to fight back against Justin. Even if Justin wanted to take Louis' mistress and that woman's son into the family, she would have to agree.

"I know, Dad."

No matter what Justin said, that was Rebecca's only reply.

Justin felt disgusted. He raised his hand and rubbed his temples. "Forget it. You may leave now."

Justin wondered why everyone around him seemed dissatisfactory.

Rebecca nodded and turned to leave the study.

However, Justin's words continued to linger in her mind. "Rebecca, you have been married to our family for forty years. I have always treated you well. Those words just now were just words of anger. The Thomas family, in the end, will still be handed over to Lucas. You are his mother, and you should try talking reason into him more often."

Rebecca couldn't tell whether Justin was telling the truth.

Lucas didn't know much about Louis' mistress and that bastard boy. But Rebecca did.

She didn't look into that herself. Olivia told her.

The other boy was a few years younger than Lucas. Louis kept that boy from sight. Nobody knew how he looked.

Louis did that because he was afraid of Rebecca's parents. But now that Rebecca's family was getting worse and worse, Louis became bolder and bolder.

Rebecca heard from Olivia that five or six years ago, Louis had sent the child abroad for further studies. Rebecca didn't know if the boy was back.

Rebecca thought it was not an accident that Justin knew about the child.

When Max was still alive, there would be no surprise about the inheritance of the Thomas family, but with Max's death, things had changed: Lucas was not obedient to Justin, after all.

Louis might be planning something, too. Rebecca felt a little uneasy at the thought, but she couldn't tell why.

Usually, she would go to Olivia when she encountered such a situation, but now, Olivia became very downhearted because she had to leave LA.

Rebecca had to return to her room.

The next day, Jessica woke up in the morning and found that there were more rumors about her online.

A certain netizen vowed that Jessica and Lucas had definitely gotten back together because last week, she had seen Justin at the airport in New York.

Justin had such a great age. He even got into the hospital in the middle of the night a few days ago. With such a poor health condition, Justin still went to New York by himself. So he must have been there for something important.

Coincidentally, that netizen happened to live in an apartment near the Hall's villa. When she went home, her car followed behind Justin's car. She saw with her own eyes that Justin's car went directly into the Hall's villa after coming out of the airport.

The netizen provided the photos taken all along the way. But the photos failed to show what happened inside the villa.

After all, the high-end villa that the Hall family lived in was not something ordinary people like her could enter. She also did not know the people living inside, so she could only stop at the gate.

But Justin visited the Hall family. It must be for Lucas and Jessica. What else could his trip be for?

Chapter 214

Someone else confirmed what the netizen said.

Justin did visit the Hall's villa in New York that day. After all, the plane tickets could be traced back easily.

Since the visit was true, the news that Jessica and Lucas were planning their remarriage must be true as well.

After Morgan read the jibber-jabber of these people, his face turned grim.

Morgan had learned about Justin's tricks before. So he figured out what was going on within a few minutes.

What an old fox!

Step by step, Justin pushed Jessica into the game. Now that Jessica was in, Justin blocked her way out.

After so many years, Justin was still as despicable and shameless as before!

After realizing this, Morgan hurried to call Jessica.

He was not in a hurry to settle accounts with Justin. The most important thing now was to let Jessica understand everything. It was just a trap set up by the Thomas family!

Jessica had just woken up. She didn't expect Morgan to call her so early in the morning, so she hurried to press the answer button. “Dad?”

“Jess, have you just woken up? Did I wake you up

Jessica's voice sounded lazy, so Morgan could tell that Jessica had just woken up.

Morgan was worried about Jessica. Yet Justin somehow set up a trap for Jessica. Morgan couldn't just sit there and watch, could he?

Jessica rubbed her eyes. “No, I woke up by myself. What's happening?”

Then Morgan said, “Jess, be careful of Justin. That's an old bastard. He must be the one behind all the rumors. He wants you to marry into the Thomas family.”

Jessica paused a bit. She didn't expect Morgan to know about that. “Dad, how did you find out about it?”

Hearing Jessica's words, Morgan was a little surprised. “You've found out about it too, Jessica?”

“I guessed it. Didn't you tell me about Justin's tricks before?” Jessica asked.

"I'm glad you still remember that. Don't worry, Jess. I won't let the Thomas family get away with what they had done."

Jessica smiled, "Dad, I know what should I do. Can you please let me handle it?"

Morgan hedged a bit. He believed that Jessica could handle the thing well, but he was still worried as a father. "Justin is too vile. Jess, you have to be careful."

"Don't worry, Dad."

After hanging up, Jessica noticed that Hannah had sent her a lot of messages.

She read the messages and knew why Morgan called her.

Sure enough, Justin was indeed a master when it came to dirty tricks.

Jessica didn't expect that Justin would be so eager to make her marry Lucas.

Justin would do anything for profit.

Now that Justin's plan was revealed, Jessica's response remained unknown.

This time, Jessica had to teach Justin a lesson.

She would let Justin stew in his own juice.

But her plan would get Lucas involved.

Jessica had been hedging. But recently, Justin had crossed the line over and over again. Luna and Trissy also caused her trouble. Jessica could no longer endure them.

Lucas owed her this. Jessica decided to settle the old scores once and for all.

Although the news of Justin visiting the Hall family seemed insignificant, it caused a stir in LA.

After all, with the status of the Thomas family and the Hall family, if Jessica and Lucas really got married, it would be a big blow to the other families.

Lucas went back to the Thomas villa to talk to Justin, but Justin just wouldn't stop.

Lucas' face turned gloomy when he saw the headline on Twitter.

Hari happened to come over to see Lucas. He saw nothing but coldness in Lucas' golden eyes. "I'm not in a very good mood. I don't think you want to mess up with me."

Hari clicked his tongue and did not take that seriously. "Lucas, you don't treat me as a friend anymore, do you? You and Jessica are going to get married again. Why didn't you tell me?"

As he spoke, Hari walked over to Lucas' desk and sat beside it.

That was when Hari saw Lucas' frighteningly gloomy face.

Lucas raised his head and looked at Hari with his golden eyes. Hari couldn't help but feel nervous under his gaze. He didn't dare to joke any longer. "I'm just curious. There's too much fake news online. Don't be mad at me! I just recalled that I still have a meet-up. I won't disturb you anymore. I'll see myself out. Bye!"

– Hari then hurried to push the chair away and left.

Soon, the door closed, and Lucas was left alone in the huge office.

Lucas gazed at the door, and after a while, he took out a cigar from a drawer and lit it.

The sky had completely turned dark, and there was no light in the office except for the sparks of the cigar.

When Vincent pushed open the door and entered, he was shocked by the darkness. He thought that Lucas had left. So he went to turn on the light.

The light illuminated the entire office. Vincent saw Lucas sitting in the office chair. With his head bent, Lucas had an air of coldness.

Vincent's hand trembled. "Mr. Thomas, I'm sorry. I thought you had already left."

Lucas simply looked up at him but didn't say anything. He then left his office with his car key and phone.

Lucas got into the car and drove directly to Jessica's apartment.

When he arrived, he stopped the car but did not get out immediately. He just lowered the window and glanced outside.

A blue sports car stopped beside him. The person who got out of the car was Hannah, Jessica's friend.

Lucas had checked on Hannah. Like Jessica, Hannah was from a rich family, too. The two of them had known each other for more than twenty years, and they were like sisters.

Hannah got out of the car and went straight into the apartment, not noticing Lucas' car at all.

Lucas retracted his gaze and looked down at his phone which was vibrating. He never pressed the answer button.

Give the caller ID "Grandpa", Lucas didn't have to answer the phone to find out what Justin meant to say.

Lucas thought Justin was too assertive. Justin must be thinking that Jessica was a silly girl, silly enough to remarry Lucas after Justin had played those dirty tricks.

What a joke! Maybe Jessica already knew what he had done!

Jessica had just finished dinner when her doorbell rang.

Jessica smiled when she saw Hannah. "Why are you here?"

"The news on the Internet is all nonsense. Why are you not angry?"

Hannah was really mad. The rumors about Jessica's private life had gotten on her nerves. Yet hours ago, Hannah even heard someone say that Jessica and Lucas were going to get married again.

Jessica poured Hannah a glass of water and said, "What's to be angry about? It's not true anyway!"

Hannah had just finished her meal and was indeed thirsty. She raised her cup and drank more than half the water in one gulp.

With that, Hannah continued in a huff, "This is what makes me most angry! It's fake, yet so many people are buying it! You have no idea how many people asked me if it's true. They ask me if you are going to remarry that scum Lucas! I'm so angry!"

Jessica raised her eyebrows and said, "You're not just here to vent your emotions, are you?"

Jessica knew Hannah well. Before Jessica woke up, Hannah had already vented her anger in a dozen voice messages. Yet still, she rushed over. It must be for something else.

Hannah quickly took out her phone, found a recording, and played it to Jessica.

"What's going on? Why are the netizens all talking about Justin visiting the Hall's villa? Is Lucas really going to remarry Jessica?"

"Don't worry, Trissy. It's just a groundless rumor. We spread the news that Jessica's private life was ruined. Besides, even if Justin is determined to let Jessica and Lucas get married again, I've hired that actor and made that photo at ob gyn, right? If Jessica heard that I might be pregnant, how could she not care about that at all?"

"You are right!"

It was a recording no longer than 20 minutes, yet the voices were clearly recognizable.

Jessica couldn't help but click her tongue when she heard this.

"Where did you get that from?"

Hannah raised her eyebrows proudly. "This is a big surprise, right, Jess? When I was eating out today, I saw Trissy and Luna carrying shopping bags. I was looking for a chance to play tricks on them, but I didn't expect that I would hear this. So I took my phone and recorded it!"

Jessica's lips curled into a smile. "You've done well this time, Hannah!"

Hannah continued, "Chances are the Cheek sisters are behind the whole thing."

Jessica agreed. "Indeed. You are quite smart this time and that's rare."

Hannah breathed a sigh of relief. She decided to ignore Jessica's teasing. "Then how are you going to deal with these two bitches; Jess?"

— Jessica picked up Hannah's phone and said, "I haven't decided yet. Let me email the recording to myself first."
