A Cue for Love chapter 881

Chapter 881 Where Is Daddy Part Two

Xavian quickly clutched his head. "Oh no! I said something wrong!"

"You're too dense, Xavian!" Sophia burst out laughing.

Although Franklin, Clayton, and Yumi did not say anything, they were grinning happily.

Sophia's appetite was just like Natalie's. Just like a little glutton, she finished all the bagels within a short moment.

"There are still some left in the oven..."

Emma lifted Sophia's plate, wanting to add two more bagels. However, Natalie stopped her.

"She ate five for breakfast. That's enough! We can't give her anything else, or she'll be too full."

"I see..."

On the other hand, Emma was afraid that Sophia would be disappointed. Kids at her age would definitely cry or kick up a fuss if they could not eat to their heart's content. However, when Emma turned around, she saw Sophia sitting there obediently. Sophia flashed her a sweet smile and said, "You really dote on me, Mrs. Bunton! But Mommy's right. I can only eat five bagels, or I'll be too full."

Emma's heart softened when she saw how obedient Sophia was.

Rubbing her stomach, Sophia said in a mixture of happiness and pity, "Mommy's bagels are really yummy. It's a pity that Daddy isn't here! If only he's here with us and can eat Mommy's bagels!"

Natalie, who was halfway through eating a bagel, was at a loss for words.

Before she could say anything, the kids started discussing in front of her.

"I wonder what's Daddy busy with! He won't answer our calls." Sophia was filled with indignance.

"Hmph! He abandoned us to Mommy and stopped caring about us!" Franklin raised his eyebrows.

Yumi cupped her cheeks and asked, "Is he too busy with work?"

"Busy? No matter how busy he is, he can't just ignore Mommy and our feelings!"

"Yeah! Mommy's ranked number one. No one is more important than her! How can he ignore us? When I'm free, I'm going to track his IP address," suggested Xavian.

When the other four kids heard that, they nodded in agreement.

"Yeah!"

"Let's do that!"

Natalie was stunned when she heard the children's conclusion.

Track what?

Although the five kids were still quite young, they were extremely smart. They might discover that Samuel had abandoned them in their investigation.

"You're not allowed to investigate him." Natalie placed her chopsticks down and educated them earnestly, "Your daddy needs to finish an important task, so he can't come to Loang with us. If you really miss him, I can bring you back to him."

When Natalie said that, the five kids stopped discussing. They lowered their heads and fell silent.

Upon noticing the tense atmosphere, Emma asked, "Children, have you decided what you want to eat for dinner?"

"Chicken wings!"

"Lettuce!"

"Grilled pork!"

"Roasted chicken!"

"BBQ pork!"

As expected of little kids, their attention was directed away when Emma asked about dinner.

When they finally stopped asking about it, Natalie heaved a sigh of relief.

Indeed, lies should not be said too easily. Once she started lying, she would need to come up with even more lies to conceal the truth.

"I'm going to work." As Natalie stood up, she reminded the kids, "You must listen to Emma's instructions at home and respect her like your elder! If she needs anything, you must help her."

"Okay!"

After bidding farewell to the kids, Natalie left the mansion.

Emma brought the plates on the table to the kitchen and started washing them. She then started preparing for lunch.

The five kids exchanged a look with one another before dashing into the second-floor living room.

As the eldest, Franklin asked, "To be honest, do you think that there's something weird going on between Daddy and Mommy?"

A Cue for Love chapter 882

Chapter 882 Where Is Daddy Part Three

Actually, the kids had already noticed the strange dynamics between Natalie and Samuel.

These thoughts had already been circling in their minds before they left for Loang. However, none of them brought it up. Now that Franklin was the first one to mention it, the five kids started discussing enthusiastically.

"I think so!" admitted Clayton honestly. "After Mommy announced that she's going to work in Loang, Daddy didn't even show up. Even Uncle Steven and Mr. Trevor came to send us off, but he didn't!"

"Daddy's always been busy with work. But it's the first time that he hasn't shown up for such a long time," analyzed Xavian.

"Yeah! Previously, I've already thought that Mommy seems to be in a strange mood, like she's very sad. I thought that she just couldn't bear to part with Daddy!" The more Sophia thought about it, the harder she shook her head. "Looks like that's not the case. It's like they had an argument and are ignoring each other."

Glancing at the other kids, Yumi expressed her own thoughts. "Then... Did they really have an argument?"

When she said that, everyone fell silent in shock.

None of them wanted to admit it. However, when they recalled Natalie's reaction in the dining room earlier, the same thought appeared in their minds.

In the end, Franklin said, "So... What Mommy's trying to say is that if any of us misses Daddy, she'll bring us to him. She wants us to make the decision! Isn't that like how divorced couples make their children decide between their parents?"

After hearing Franklin's analysis, everyone felt like they had just been struck by lightning.

Unfortunately, his analysis was exactly like what they had felt.

The thought of her parents separating caused Sophia to tear up. Choking up, she exclaimed, "I don't want Mommy and Daddy to be apart! It's been so tough for them to get back together! I don't want them to leave each other!"

Yumi wiped Sophia's tears with a piece of tissue. "Don't panic yet, Sophia! Franklin's just making a guess."

"But what about Daddy?" Sophia mumbled indignantly, "He didn't call Mommy or any of us!"

When Xavian saw the tears rolling down her cheeks endlessly, he pointed at himself. "Don't cry, Sophia! I have a solution."

"You have a solution?" asked Clayton with a frown. "You, Franklin, and I have been calling Daddy for the past few days. He didn't even pick up any of our calls! Since that's already the case, are you sure that you have a way to make Daddy pick up our calls?"

"Previously, we've been relying on conventional methods." Xavian blinked. "This time, I'm going to pull out my trump card. I promise that once he sees it, he'll definitely pick up my call."

When Xavian made that promise so confidently, the four kids glanced at him simultaneously.

"Really?" asked Sophia as she grinned through her tears.

Xavian patted his chest. "Of course!" With that, he started moving.

Taking his laptop out from the suitcase, he turned it on and selected a picture of Natalie with Jerome from the thumb drive. Then, he selected an image of a couple acting intimately and photoshopped their faces on that image.

Initially, the image looked a bit unnatural. After Xavian did something with his keyboard and mouse, a flawless image emerged in front of them.

“Okay!” Xavian’s mission was accomplished.

“Is this your solution?” asked Clayton in shock.

“Yeah! Regardless of why Daddy and Mommy argued, do you think that he can bear to see Mommy being so intimate with another man?” Xavian smiled smugly. “When Daddy sees this picture, he’ll definitely be furious. In that case, it’ll be a piece of cake for him to answer our call.
