The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 2059

Chapter 2059 Force Her to Jump

After Nicole hung up the phone, she still could not digest the news. Nicole had seen Tina a few hours ago.

Tina even bragged that she was about to be freed from a failed marriage.

How did she die so suddenly? Nicole immediately felt a chill all over her body.

The soles of her feet felt cold.

Clayton carried Nicole to the sofa and patted her on the shoulder gently.

“I’m sorry. I should’ve gone up with you last night.”

Enter title...

Something must have happened last night, but Nicole was too tired at the time to notice.

Clayton touched her face.

“It’s okay. I know you didn’t do it. Everything will be fine as long as you explain what happened clearly. I’ll take care of the rest for you.”

Nicole’s expression suddenly changed. She tugged on his clothes.

“This isn’t right. Is it related to our house’s intruder from before? Tina knows me. Is that person targeting me?”

It was hard for Nicole not to doubt herself. Why was she involved in this?

Clayton kissed the back of her hand. He patiently calmed her down.

“Baby, don’t think too much. It’s just a coincidence. It has nothing to do with you. Tina wanted to get a divorce. It’s possible that her husband did it because of the property. Don’t scare yourself.”

Clayton’s voice was extremely low and gentle. Nicole slowly relaxed. She took a deep breath.

“I’m not scared. I just feel sad because I saw her last night!”

“I know, I understand.”

Just as they were talking, Nicole’s phone rang. It was Logan’s call.

Nicole paused, then picked up.

Logan was very calm when he spoke.

“President, I’ve asked the lawyers of Stanton Corporation to go to the police station. Don’t worry, you don’t need to show up personally.”

Nicole responded and hung up the phone.

Clayton chuckled.

“Logan is quite attentive, huh? He can handle both the company and your private affairs!”

Nicole breathed a sigh of relief and praised Logan.

“Of course! It took a lot of effort for Big Brother to give Logan to me. He’s very competent!”

Nicole changed the topic and diverted Clayton’s attention.

Clayton smiled.

“Okay. Why don’t you take a rest? Since the lawyer went over, you don’t need to be so nervous. You didn’t do it anyway.”

Nicole was silent for a few seconds before she said blankly, “I need to explain the situation clearly. After all, catching the murderer is also beneficial to us.”

She had an intuition that the murderer was connected to the person who broke into their house last time. However, they had no leads. She frowned and took a deep breath.

“I’m going to get dressed and head to the police station. Are you going fishing with my dad?”

“Are you kidding? How can I be in the mood to go fishing now? I’ll go with you.”

Clayton stood up and went to the dressing room to change his clothes.

Nicole smiled and said nothing. She felt better with Clayton next to her at such a time.

At the police station, they were not surprised to see Zach sitting there with a pale face.

Nicole did not know if Zach was truly sad or if he was just pretending, but he did not look to be in a good mental state.

With his back to Nicole, Zach cried to the policeman in front of him. His face was stained with snot and tears.

“My wife had a wrongful death. How could she jump off the building by herself?

Someone must’ve forced her to do so! Who was the last person who saw her?

Oh, Nicole Stanton?! You can’t cover up this matter just because of her background. My wife can’t die in vain!”

Nicole was slightly shocked. She frowned and looked over.

The police officer saw them, stood up, and walked over with a smile.

In the next second, Zach’s crying stopped abruptly.

Zach wiped his tears and turned his head to look at them, pretending to be unintentional. His lips were still trembling.

“M-Ms. Stanton, why did you force my wife to jump off the building?”

When he said this, he did not even dare to look up at Nicole.

Nicole’s eyes were cold as he took a deep look at Zach.

Clayton, who was behind her, hugged her shoulders and walked in. He whispered, "The lawyer is inside. Don't say a word before you meet the lawyer."

Nicole lowered her eyes and walked in.

The police would not detain people for no reason during this stage of investigation.

Nicole sat there calmly and glanced at the lawyer.

The lawyer nodded at her with a smile.

Nicole took a deep breath and looked at the policeman in front of her calmly.

Clayton sat on the side.

Although he did not participate in the investigation, he exuded such a cold and intimidating vibe that made him impossible to ignore.

"Ms. Stanton, why did you go to the hospital at 1:15 am last night to look for Tina?"

Nicole took out a document that had not been notarized.

"Tina asked me to go. Her husband had an extramarital affair and transferred out their property. She noticed that she was losing her property, so she transferred half of the property under her name to meet half the price based on the asset appraisal of the previous year. She has evidence of her husband's affair. In fact, it's her right to keep all their property, but that will make Zach go into debt, so she left him a way out.”

The police took the document and specially looked at the signature.

“We need to compare the handwriting carefully.”

“Of course.”

Nicole raised her eyebrows.

Tina died before she got the document notarized, so Nicole did not know if the document would still take effect with just a signature.

However, that should not be the concern now.

Officer Zolo, who was opposite them, asked, “Why did you go there in the middle of the night?”

“Tina called me in the middle of the night and said that Zach seemed to know about her investigation on their property.”

Nicole calmly told the police officer everything she knew.

The police officer was nice enough to let them go.

Zach was still crying until he was out of breath.

Nicole glanced at him with contempt and left.

Zach was even expecting an illegitimate child, so why was he pretending to be sad here? Nicole went out of the police station, got into the car, and rubbed her forehead. She felt a little out of place.

In the past, Nicole always had the opportunity to deal with the dangers she encountered.

But this time, someone close to her was dead.

This feeling was indescribable.

Clayton sighed and held her hand.

“Alright, don’t be afraid. Let’s go home if you’re tired.”

Nicole was dumbfounded and shook her head. She looked at the driver.

“Let’s go to the hospital.”

Clayton frowned.

Nicole paused.

“The surveillance footage that day showed that I wasn’t the only one who entered the ward. Why did Tina suddenly lose her mind after I left? Someone must’ve gone in after I left.”

Clayton was silent for a moment.

Seeing that Nicole was emotionally stable, Clayton nodded in agreement.

“Did you notice anything unusual at that time? Or did you meet someone you shouldn’t have met?”

Nicole thought, ‘Met someone that I shouldn’t have met?’ She was slightly shocked.

“Eric Ferguson?”

Clayton’s eyes darkened in an instant.

“what?”

“I was so tired at the time that I didn’t take it to heart. When I went downstairs, I met Eric who happened to be coming out of the elevator. But he doesn’t know

Tina...”

Nicole frowned. She could not believe that Eric would kill Tina.

That was not necessary.

Even if Eric had a grudge against Tina, Eric would not be stupid enough to do it himself. Clayton’s dark eyes stared into space for a moment.

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss

Chapter 2060

Chapter 2060 Strange and Normal

Clayton forced a smile in response to Nicole's question.

"It's hard to say!"

It was meaningful.

At the hospital, the other floors besides the affected areas were open as usual.

After all, the hospital was not an ordinary public area.

Even if someone died, they could not delay other life-saving operations.

Nicole walked in with a heavy heart. She felt pity for Tina.

Enter title...

Although Tina brought it upon herself, Nicole still felt that Tina was a pitiful woman.

Nicole could not blame a pitiful, hopeless woman for being useless.

The closer she got to the floor, the weirder she felt. Clayton contacted the hospital's director in advance.

The dean had just come from the police station with a heavy heart as well.

“Mr.Sloan, Ms.Stanton, what are you doing here? I believe in Ms.Stanton’s innocence.Have you made it clear to the police?”

Nicole smiled and nodded.

“Director, do you have the surveillance footage for this floor?”

The director replied, “The police took one copy, and I have a copy with me.”

He would not have taken it out if it was anyone else.

Since they were all acquaintances, and Nicole was the party involved, it was no harm to show them.

Nicole and Clayton looked at each other and went straight to the director’s office.

The director found the surveillance footage.

Nicole sat there and watched carefully.

The footage began when Tina was admitted to the hospital.

Tina was admitted to the hospital around 5:00 pm.She was not sick, but to dispel people’s doubts, she was given a glucose injection.Then, Tina started to discuss with the lawyer how to protect herself after the transfer of property.

It looked boring.

Nicole was getting irritable and was about to fast forward the footage when Clayton stopped her from behind.

“Wait...”

Nicole paused.

Clayton squinted his eyes and stared at a figure on the screen.

“Is this Mitchell Crawford from Ferguson Corporation?”

The director of the hospital leaned closer nodded seriously.

“Yes. I remember that Mitchell contacted me. Eric Ferguson’s son suddenly had a fever, and Mitchell sent him over. He was waiting outside at the time.”

Clayton frowned. He looked serious.

“Was Mitchell the only one there at that time?”

The director stood there and pondered.

“I think he brought a driver and a nanny with him.”

“You think?” Clayton asked in a deep voice.

The director knew that he had made a blunder and quickly said, “I didn’t pay much attention to it at the time and only talked to Mitchell.”

He paused.

“I’ll get someone to ask around.”

Clayton nodded.

The director immediately called the doctor who was on call last night.

Nicole frowned.

“Why are you asking about this? Mitchell is also a senior executive. Why would he kill someone? Wouldn’t that be digging his own grave?”

Clayton smiled comfortingly.

“I’m just not letting go of any anomalies. Mitchell probably wouldn’t, but who could guarantee that others wouldn’t? What’s more, why was it all such a coincidence?”

Nicole nodded.

Clayton touched her face and comforted her with a smile.

“If I’d known earlier, I would’ve taken you abroad. It’s so troublesome to stay here.”

Nicole said, “No. Let’s settle the matter at hand. I don’t want to leave being viewed as a potential suspect.”

“My wife is such an upright and strong person!”

Nicole smiled and did not take this unintentional compliment to heart.

Clayton laughed from his chest. It eased Nicole’s anxiousness in an instant.

The two continued to watch the surveillance footage.

Several doctors walked in one after another and even brought takeout for Tina.

Then, there was a long silence until Nicole went in.

During this period, only Mitchell and the doctors were seen in the footage.

Nicole only stayed for a few minutes and came out in less than five minutes.

Through the elevator's footage, Clayton saw how Nicole and Eric met.

Clayton's face darkened slightly for a moment. His eyes flickered, and he chuckled lightly.

"Mr. Ferguson loves his son very much. He still came over at such a late hour. What a great father-son relationship!"

Nicole nodded.

"After all, that's his son. Although it hasn't been made public, it's no longer a secret in the circle."

Clayton went further out of topic.

"You saved his son last time. Does his son look like him?"

"Somewhat, but... They have very different personalities. That child seems a little timid. Eric and Angie aren't timid people, but this child is very easily frightened."

Nicole frowned and shook her head, feeling sympathetic.

Clayton smiled.

"Didn't you see the news lately? Two genius parents gave birth to a mediocre child. It's not surprising for their child to have a different personality."

"Right. Luckily, Chatty is really brave. She's not scared of anything, so we don't need to worry about her being bullied in the future!"

Clayton raised his eyebrows.

That was true. As they talked, the surveillance footage continued playing.

After Nicole left, no one entered Tina's ward again. Then, they heard someone calling for help as Tina jumped off the building.

The whole floor was in chaos afterward.

At that time, it was already too late.

Nicole's originally relaxed expression gradually turned serious. No one went in after her, which meant that she was the last one who went in to see Tina.

This also meant that she was the biggest suspect.

Clayton's face was cold, and his eyes darkened a little. He touched Nicole's hair.

"She might have jumped off the building by herself. There might be a reason why she suddenly felt depressed."

Nicole said, "If she was depressed, why did she sell her fixed assets to me?"

Their relationship was not so good to that point.

As they spoke, the director found the doctor and brought him over.

The doctor was apprehensive.

Early in the morning, almost all those who had gone to Tina's ward were questioned by the police.

The director asked, "Who else besides Mr.Crawford came when Young Master Ferguson was sent over?"

"The driver sent the boy over.Mr.Ferguson came for a while and left.Oh, right.Mr.Crawford brought his girlfriend.She was very beautiful.She left as soon as Mr.Crawford left."

That was why the doctor did not think that the woman had anything to do with the Ferguson family.

Nicole knew that Mitchell had a girlfriend, so she was not surprised.

However, Clayton turned his head sideways and looked over.His voice was cold.

"In other words, when Mitchell left, no one stayed to take care of the boy?"

The doctor frowned and shook his head.

"At that time, our staff reminded them that the child's fever was subsiding, so the child shouldn't be disturbed.I didn't see anyone with the child after that."

Upon hearing this, the director felt that something was wrong and clicked his tongue.

It would be fine if it was an ordinary patient, but how could Eric Ferguson's son be treated like this without anyone to care for him? However, it was understandable since Eric did not care about Chance.

Clayton kept frowning. His eyes darkened, as if he was thinking about something.

The director asked vigilantly, "Mr. Sloan, is Mr. Ferguson involved in this matter?"

If Eric was involved, then his hospital would face even more trouble.

Clayton smiled faintly.

"Just leave it to the police."
