A Cue for Love Chapter 963

Chapter 963 He Wants To Sleep With You

“Samuel...” Natalie blurted out, but she instantly realized her blunder.

Samuel was taken aback when he heard that too.

Did I give myself away? No... I’m wearing a mask and I’m sure I sound like Xander too. There’s no way she can see through my disguise.

Samuel was flustered, but he tried keeping his calm.

“So am I Samuel’s replacement to you?”

Natalie was speechless.

Before long, she composed herself and spoke again. “I think it’s because of the fever. My brain is not working properly. I’m sorry.”

“I’m not Samuel. You’d better be clear on this.”

“I know,” she assured, lifting her face. “I’m just a little tired. I’ll take a short nap. Could you send me to Dream?”

After finishing her sentence, instead of waiting for a reply, she turned to look out the window. It was pouring outside.

D*mn it! I must be crazy. How could I call him Samuel? He’s clearly not Samuel!

She wanted to ask “Xander” what he was planning, and at the same time, she missed Samuel so much.

Little did Natalie know, the person that she missed dearly was actually right beside her all the time.

In less than thirty minutes, the Bentley slowly pulled over at Dream.

When Natalie opened the door and went down, she realized someone was already holding a black umbrella for her.

“I’m good. You don’t have to—”

“It’s okay. I’ve sent you all the way here already anyway. It doesn’t matter to go another mile. I’ll leave after you go in,” Samuel answered.

Natalie scanned her fingerprint and was granted access to the core building of the company’s business area.

When Yandel and Lia heard the door opening, they quickly ran over to the entrance anxiously.

When they saw that Natalie was drenched and that there was a strapping and dashing man with a mask beside her, they could not help but wonder what was going on.

The man was equally soaked, and although they could not see his face behind the mask, he still gave off a forbidding demeanor.

Rip! Seeing that Yandel’s gaze swept across Natalie, Samuel reached for the curtain aside and tore it, wrapping it around her body to cover her soaked clothes and her visible skin beneath it.

Although there was nothing going on between Yandel and Natalie, Samuel still did not want him to stare at Natalie.

Before either of them could react, Samuel had already wrapped her up like a burrito.

Yandel, Lia, and Natalie were all stunned speechless, thinking that Samuel was overreacting.

“Ms. Nichols, this is...?” Lia asked out of curiosity.

“Meet Xander from the York family. He helped me secretly after I went to the hospital yesterday. I wouldn’t have managed to treat Yvette if it were not for him,” explained Natalie.

Xander York was not a name unfamiliar to Yandel and Lia. They had heard about how the young man survived the fire some time ago.

It was rumored that it was a horrible accident and that Xander was disfigured after that.

They finally understood why that man was wearing a mask.

“This is Yandel Moss. He’s the CEO of Dream Corporation. This is Lia Johnson, the head of the Public Relations Department,” Natalie introduced.

Samuel nodded politely as if it was his first time meeting them.

“Nice you meet you guys.”

Knowing that these two were trusted confidants of Natalie, Samuel felt a lot less worried about entrusting her to them, so he left right after that.

After the man went off, Lia looked at Natalie from the top to the bottom, saying, “Do you want a change of clothes? I’ve got a few.”

“Yes, please.” Natalie could not move a muscle since she was wrapped up, so it went without saying that she would love to change into regular clothes.

After Lia left, Yandel came over and pointed out the truth. “Boss, I’m a hundred percent sure this man wants to sleep with you.”

A Cue for Love Chapter 964

Chapter 964 His Name Is Taboo

Natalie was speechless.

“Didn’t you see how he bundled you up just now? It was as if he was jealous that I was looking at you. You know what? He reminds me of Samuel.” Yandel didn’t realize Natalie was upset and continued talking, mentioning a name that he shouldn’t have.

Soon, Yandel realized he made a grave mistake. Samuel’s name was taboo. Thus, he shut his mouth immediately.

As he expected, Natalie’s face had darkened completely.

“I can see you’re very free. You have time for gossip even. Does this mean you’ve gotten Dream Jewelry out of trouble?” she interrogated. “Yvette already promised to give us three days to get to the bottom of this issue.”

You’re in deep trouble yourself and you still have the time to poke your nose into my business.

“Sorry. I’ll look into it right now.” Speaking, Yandel stopped making a funny face and resumed his calm and professional work attitude.

By that time, Lia had already come back with a fresh set of clothes and a towel.

Natalie felt a lot more comfortable in her new clothes after changing in the restroom.

When she went back to her office again, Yandel and Lia were already waiting for her.

“Is your leg okay, Ms. Nichols?”

Lia recalled how Natalie was injured on her left leg after she managed to sneak into the hospital yesterday.

“I had a few stitches, and the doctor gave me some medication. I’ll be okay after two to three days.”

Since Natalie did not want them to worry about her injury, she glossed it over and switched the topic, getting down to business.

“Lia, I need you to send the whole Rebirth collection for verification.”

“I already did that. We’ll get the results by tomorrow morning.” Lia nodded.

“That’s not enough.”

“Huh?” Yandel and Lia were surprised.

“If there were really allergens on Rebirth, then the others who had touched it should also have a reaction as well, but they didn’t. Those who had touched the product were perfectly fine, and Yvette was the only one who had an allergic reaction.”

Natalie's statement hit the right nail on the head.

Now that Natalie pointed this out, Yandel and Lia realized this was indeed a point worth considering.

It was impossible that she had an allergic reaction simply because there was some chemical substance on the product.

If this were true, the make-up artists who had touched it before her would have suffered equally.

The staff would have stopped the shooting if they realized something went wrong. There was no way they would carry on with it and intentionally cause a drama like this.

Natalie drummed her fingers against the table as she thought hard. A hint of certainty glimmered in her eyes as time passed.

"I'm sure someone's behind this, and their motive is clear as day. They want to kill Rebirth and Dream Jewelry in their infancy. Yvette must have been exposed to something like a hormone, else there's no way she can develop such an instant and drastic reaction."

Everyone listened in silence, waiting for what Natalie was going to say next.

Natalie continued after moments of silence, "Whoever this person is, they overlooked the fact that I have medical skills. They thought Yvette would really be disfigured. Luckily things did not go as they planned, or Yvette and her fans would never forgive us."

Natalie analyzed the situation accordingly. With just a few sentences, she figured out the culprit's evil intentions thoroughly.

Yandel agreed with what she said, but the sheer thought of how everything unveiled gave him second-hand fear. "How can they be so cruel? They could've really stymied our survival in Loang if their plan worked out."

What Yandel said was on point.

"Exactly," Natalie added.

"Does this mean someone poisoned her? Because if that's the case, only people who are close to her are capable of doing that," Lia suggested, frowning.

"It must be," Natalie said with a sigh, resting her cheek on her palm. "This means that she is unaware of what happened. She doesn't know what chemical was used on her, and of course, she doesn't know that's the cause of the accident."
