

Always Been Yours Chapter 202

Chapter 202

“Alright, Old Master Sawyer.” Andrew accepted the order and thought to himself, Looks like Old Master Sawyer is seriously planning to make a move now. I’m afraid there won’t be a place for those siblings in Brentwood City.

“Tess, I’m off to work now!”

Ever since Timothy’s company registration documents were completed, he became energetic and spirited. All his depression had been tossed aside without a second thought. He was filled with confidence and quickly threw himself into the various establishment and organizational works.

At this moment, his entire mind was filled with work, work, and more work! Even if he was so busy that his eyes were spinning, he was extremely happy. He left with a smile on his face and returned with a smile on his face, every single day.

Tessa couldn’t help curling her lips into a smile upon seeing him like this. “You’re just like a child. It’s okay to work, but don’t overwork yourself.”

“I’m fine, Tess. I’m doing just fine.” He smiled brightly, then energetically added, “I’ve been recruiting people and building my team for the past two days. It won’t be long before my team is ready to go. Once we create and launch ‘Celestial Eye, our name will begin to spread everywhere. In the future, we will never need to worry about sourcing capital again.”

“I know you can do it, considering how talented you are.” She looked at his thin but extremely lively face and couldn’t help reaching out a hand to stroke his head.

“I’ll get going. Henry is waiting for me.”

Soon, Timothy left home to begin a brand new but hectic day.

Not long after he left, Tessa decided to go to the hospital for a check-up. Before she could leave, she heard the doorbell ringing.

She opened the door to see two figures standing at the door—one large and one small. The large one was Nicholas and the small one was Gregory. Thus, she couldn’t help being taken aback for a moment. Why are these two here?

The soft and cuddly Gregory was very happy to see her and immediately hugged her leg. He shouted in a sweet voice, “Miss Tessa!”

She came back to her senses and asked somewhat suspiciously, “Why are you here?”

“Miss Tessa, didn’t you say you wanted to go for a check-up? Mr. Timothy is so busy, so I was certain you wouldn’t allow him to accompany you. But, I was worried about you and couldn’t help coming here to accompany you to the hospital.”

He looked at her joyously with an expression that seemed to be begging for compliments. I’m already here; there’s no way Miss Tessa can chase me away! I can stay with her all day long again today. I’m so happy!

What surprised him the most was his father’s reaction. I was afraid Daddy would reprimand me when I told him about my plan this morning. Unexpectedly, not only did Daddy not scold me, but he also agreed to come along with me!

Gregory's words hit the nail right on the head. Timothy had indeed offered to accompany Tessa to the hospital only for her to reject his offer.

Tessa looked at Gregory's flushed face and sweet smile, feeling rather complicated inside. She thought she would never see this little guy again. However, it was not just a child who was going to be accompanying her. An extremely busy big boss would also be coming along as well. This line-up seemed a little overwhelming.

Seeing that she was taking very long to respond, Nicholas said, "You were injured because of Greg, so it's only natural for us to accompany you for your check-up."

Upon hearing those words, she didn't say anything else. She simply nodded lightly, picked up the bag she had prepared earlier, and followed the father-and-son pair out of the apartment.

When the three of them arrived at the hospital, they went straight to the attending physician who treated Tessa previously.

As it was only a check-up, it was a much simpler procedure compared to the previous examination when Tessa was first injured. It didn't take long before the doctor returned with her radiograph.

He pointed at a spot on the radiograph where her original bone fracture was located and said, "The wound is healing very well. It's very surprising to see that the wound has not worsened when you went home to recuperate this time."

Tessa said nothing and only lowered her head in embarrassment when she heard those words. The last time she went home for recuperation, it was not long before she was sent back to the hospital again. Therefore, she couldn't help feeling extremely embarrassed when the doctor brought up the past again.
