Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 781

Chapter 781 It Goes Both Ways

Not only did Toby walk quietly, he also walked in a slow manner; it was probably because he was frightened of waking the sleeping woman on the couch. It took him almost a minute to walk for a short distance of 20 steps and this intention alone was enough to make anyone watching feel moved.

Arriving next to the couch, Toby squatted down slightly and stared at the woman on it. Sonia was lying on the side of the sofa with her hands folded and placed under her head as a pillow while her legs were slightly curled up, and she slept very sweetly.

However, it was probably a little cold as her body occasionally trembled.

Seeing this, Toby rose to his full height and walked to his desk to take the remote control of the air conditioner before turning up the heating. After doing this, he walked to his private lounge again, took out a thicker blanket from it, and covered Sonia with it, for fear that she would catch a cold while sleeping here.

He knew that she might not wake up for a while, so he didn't spend a second longer next to the couch. After brushing the hair off her face, he got up and walked to his desk, ready to process documents while waiting for her to wake up.

This wait lasted two hours. By the time Sonia woke up, it was already 3:00 PM and she was so hungry that her stomach began rumbling. As she opened her eyes, the first thing she saw was a luxurious coffee table. At first, she was still a little confused and didn't know where she was. However, when she saw the black tea on the coffee table, she realized that she was in Toby's office.

After sending the message to Toby earlier, she sat on the couch to wait for him but fell asleep instead. She had no idea how long she had slept for and was about to check the time on her phone when something fell from her body to the ground in front of the sofa when she moved her hand.

“Huh?” Sonia looked down, only to realize that it was actually a blanket!

Yet, how could she have a blanket on her? There was nothing on her body when she fell asleep, so someone must have placed a quilt on her. As she had locked the door of Toby’s office, there was only one person who could come in and put a blanket on her—the owner of this office.

Toby! So, he came back from the meeting?

Thinking of this, Sonia immediately sat up and grabbed the blanket from the floor. Then, she looked around at her surroundings for any signs of Toby’s figure. However, after looking around, she didn’t see him.

So, did he not come back? Or, he came back, but actually left again?

Sonia’s eyelids drooped, and there was visible disappointment on her face.

Suddenly, there was a sound of a window opening from the direction behind her. She initially froze before immediately dropping the blanket in her hands and abruptly turned around.

Toby came in from the balcony holding his phone, and while closing the door of the balcony, he said something to the other end of the phone in a low voice, but he didn’t realize that she was awake and looking at him.

Sonia’s eyes were full of happiness, and a bright smile appeared on her face. Great, it turns out that he really came back and didn’t leave! He was just making a phone call at the balcony.

The balcony was so cold, and since the office was on an exceptionally high floor, the temperature would be even lower. However, he chose to head to the balcony to make the call, which was obvious that he didn’t want to wake her up.

This stupid man!

"Toby!" Sonia took a deep breath, restrained her emotions, and called out softly to the man in front of the balcony's floor-to-ceiling window.

The man was startled for a second, then brought the phone away from his ear and turned his head to look at Sonia who stood there, smiling at him with a bright and beautiful smile.

Toby's pupils constricted slightly, but soon he returned to normal, albeit with a little darkness in his eyes. He raised his hand and waved at her, indicating that he heard her, then put the phone back to his ear. After he said something to the other end, he hung up the phone and walked toward her quickly.

When there were still a few steps left, Sonia suddenly stretched out her hand to stop him. "Don't move!"

Toby stopped subconsciously. "What's wrong?"

"It's enough for you to take this many steps."

Sonia put down her hand, and under the puzzled gaze of the man, she smiled and continued, "A relationship goes both ways. You took so many steps toward me, so let me take the remaining few steps. Let me come near you."

After speaking, she raised her feet and walked forward. Toby knew what she meant, so a light smile appeared on his face.

A relationship goes both ways. He liked the sound of this very much.

Soon, Sonia came up to Toby. She first looked up at him for a while before she spread her arms to hug him, and finally, she pressed her face to his chest.

However, he was about to push her away. "Don't hug me. I just came in from outside, and it's raining out there. It's also windy outside, and I'm chilly. If you hold me like this, you'll catch a cold."

As he spoke, he pushed her away, but his movements were gentle as if he was afraid of her getting hurt or falling over.

However, even though he did this, Sonia still tightly hugged him and didn't let go at all. Instead, she smiled and said, "I don't care; it's very warm here. I'll neither feel cold nor catch a cold!"

In order to convince him, she raised her head and winked at him earnestly. She had large almond-shaped eyes, and her pupils were also very dark and huge. When she looked at others like that, her gaze was clear and made one's heart beat faster. Toby knew early on that her eyes were very attractive, and when she stared at others like this, she seemed to be able to suck in their very souls.

Even though he had looked at her for so long, he could not help but still be attracted by her eyes, especially the sincerity in them at that moment where it made him subconsciously soft-hearted with the desire of wanting to give everything to her.

"Cough." Toby clenched his fist and raised it against his lips before he coughed in discomfort. He looked away from her and said in a slightly hoarse voice, "If you catch a cold, you can't blame me."

She was the one holding onto him herself. Nevertheless, he was happy that she took the initiative to get close to him.

"Okay, I won't blame you." Sonia smiled and nodded.

Toby moved his gaze back and looked down at her, his gaze softening. "When did you wake up?"

"I just woke up and was about to look for you, but I saw you coming in. We have a tacit understanding." Sonia smiled.

"Of course." Toby then nodded and wrapped his arm around her waist to lead her back to the couch to sit down. "Are you hungry?"

Sonia looked down at her stomach, her face a little shy. "I'm a little hungry; what time is it?"

Raising his wrist, Toby looked at his watch. "3:00PM."

She exclaimed, "It's 3:00PM?"

“Yeah.”

Her mouth twitched. “I actually slept for so long.”

Before she began her nap, she had checked the time and only wanted to take a short nap, but ended up sleeping for 3 hours.

No wonder I’m so hungry.

“It’s not that long.” Toby chuckled, then took out his phone and called Tom. “What would you like to eat?”

“I want to eat assorted seafood,” Sonia replied.

For some reason, she was now craving for seafood and just thinking about it made her drool.

Toby nodded dotingly before he instructed on the phone, “You heard it. Go and make an appointment for two.”

“Yes, sir,” Tom replied on the other end of the phone.

Sonia looked at the man beside her in surprise. “For two? You haven’t had lunch yet, have you?”

Toby pursed his lips without denying it.

The smile on her face faded and turned into disapproval. “Why didn’t you eat? It’s already afternoon. Have you been busy until now?”

He shook his head. “No.”

An unhappy Sonia looked at him with a frown. “Then, what?”

Seeing the flickering look in his eyes, she suddenly realized something and opened her mouth to ask, “You weren’t waiting for me, were you?”

Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 782

Chapter 782 I Have Evidence

Toby didn't answer, which obviously meant that Sonia had guessed correctly.

While Sonia was curious, her heart was also a little warm. She knew that he just wanted to have lunch with her and didn't want to eat alone.

With a sigh, Sonia softened her gaze and said, "Why did you do this? You know that I'm sleeping, but you still waited for me. Did you know what time I'm going to wake up? What if I slept until you got off work in the afternoon? Would you have waited until then?"

Toby chuckled indifferently. "It's not a big deal; don't look so serious."

"Isn't this a big deal?" She pursed her lips and raised her voice. "If you don't eat on time, it's not good for your health, do you know that? Besides, something bad happened to you last night."

"No." He shook his head slightly, indicating that there was no big problem with a late meal.

An angry Sonia pinched his thigh when she saw that he still looked indifferent, which made him groan in pain.

Hearing that, she snorted coldly. "Serves you right!"

"Are you angry?" Toby rubbed his thigh and turned his head slightly to look at her.

Sonia didn't care to look at him, so she turned away. "What do you think? You don't eat on time and you don't care about it either. Of course, I'm angry. I'm worried about your health, yet you don't care at all. "

"No." He stretched out with his hand to hold her shoulders. Seeing her turned back, he said with a gentle voice, "I do care, and I did listen to you, but I don't think that one late meal will cause much harm to the body. Besides, I want to eat with you more than eating alone. It is more delicious eating together, right?"

She looked up at him. "Yes, but you could have called me to get up at that time."

Toby smiled. "You slept so deeply and beautifully. How could I be willing to wake you up?"

These words made Sonia's face blushed; she glared at him with annoyance, but the anger in her heart dissipated instantly. He always had a way to quell her anger.

"Forget it, I'll let you go this time. Don't wait for me in the future. If you act like this, I won't dare to come here to rest in the future." Sonia pursed the corner of her mouth and spoke helplessly.

She won't dare to come here? How can this be! Toby's expression stiffened and his tone immediately became serious. "Okay, I won't do this in the future. This is the last time."

"Really?" She raised an eyebrow.

He nodded. "Really."

"That's good." Sonia finally smiled, but did not forget to remind him afterward, "Even if I don't come here in the future, you still have to eat on time. I heard Tom say before that when you are busy sometimes, you will neglect your meals. How can that be? If you don't care about your meals, how can your body take it? If something goes wrong with your health, I will despise you."

Is she threatening me? His expression became solemn. "It seems that in order not to be despised by you and not to be abandoned by you, I have to really take good care of myself."

"Of course, you are several years older than me. Therefore, you have to take good care of your health; otherwise, when you become old in the future, others will say that you are a decade older than me when we go out." Sonia looked at him and smiled.

Toby's expression was slightly stiff. Others will say that I am a decade older than her when we go out together?

He didn't like this at all, and he suddenly felt like he was really becoming old. Thinking about it, he couldn't help raising his hand to touch his face before he looked at Sonia's face.

Sonia's face was fair and clean, with perfect skin and no fine lines. Although she was 26 or 27 now, she still looked like she was in her early 20s.

As for himself...

Toby couldn't see his face at the moment, so he wasn't sure whether there were any wrinkles on his face. However, the fact that he was several years older than her made him unable to help thinking about whether he was really old.

"What's wrong?" Sonia waved her hand curiously when she saw Toby lowering his eyes, looking distracted and doubtful.

The man's eyes flickered for a while before he came back to his senses. Avoiding her gaze, he coughed lightly and replied in a cold voice, "I'm fine. I will take good care of myself, and I won't let myself end up a decade older than you."

Hearing that the man's tone was a bit unhappy, Sonia quickly realized why he was upset and couldn't help laughing. "Okay, then I'll wait for you to take good care of yourself, hahaha. "

Seeing the woman laughing so happily, Toby sighed helplessly, then flicked her forehead with his finger. "Okay, stop laughing. You'll lose your breath."

She nodded while laughing, then slowly stopped. She raised her hand and touched the man's face before she said, "Don't worry; in fact, even if you don't take care of your looks, you won't look that old, and we won't be misunderstood by others when we go out."

When he heard saying that he was not old, Toby raised his eyebrow. Although he didn't answer, his thin lips curled up in satisfaction. That's better.

"By the way, have you read the messages I sent you before?" After laughing for a while, Sonia finally remembered the previous matter and looked at Toby.

He nodded and his expression hardened. "Yeah. It was done by a director of my company named Damon Lore. I have ordered Tom to investigate this matter. After finding the evidence, I will deal with the scum."

As he spoke, a chill flashed in his eyes. The air pressure around him plummeted and his face was filled with disgust.

It was clear that this director named Damon Lore completely made him angry this time.

“You want evidence? I have it,” she said.

Toby looked at her in astonishment, “You?”

“Yes.” Sonia nodded, then frowned. “Why? Why are you looking at me like that? Are you doubting my words?”

“No.” He shook his head. “I’m not; I just want to know where you obtained the evidence.”

“Of course, I have my own way.” She smiled at him before she took out her phone from her bag and clicked on the recording to play it.

Toby narrowed his eyes when he heard the voice in the recording as it was the voice of Damon’s manager. Previously, he had asked Tom to investigate who Damon sent into his office, and the result of Tom’s investigation was this manager.

Just knowing that the manager was the one who entered the office to look for documents was useless because there was no proof of it. Moreover, the manager could complain and claim that he entered just to look for Toby, so no one including Toby could do anything to him.

After all, this manager was under Damon, and Damon was a veteran director of the company who made great contributions to the company in the early days. If Toby couldn’t come up with any evidence, some company shareholders would definitely have negative opinions of him going against Damon and his underlings like this. That was why Toby told Tom to look for evidence. If it were another shareholder, he wouldn’t be so patient to look for evidence. He would have directly dealt with the problem at hand.

Unexpectedly, before Tom could even locate the evidence, Sonia already handed it to him. It was a beneficial piece of evidence as it was an actual recording.

This really made Toby angry!

After the recording was over, he pursed his thin lips into a straight line, looking at the woman in front of him with a dark face.

The woman kept her phone away proudly, but she didn't notice any changes in the man. Instead, she smiled and said, "See, my evidence is not bad, right? I will send it to you now; I originally wanted to send it to you along with those messages, but you were in a meeting at that time. I was also afraid that if you released it directly at the meeting, it would be dangerous for some people in your company to learn that the secret has been leaked."

Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 783

Chapter 783 Happy to Help You

As Sonia spoke, she found Toby's social media and sent the recording to him.

Toby heard his phone vibrating, but he did not take it out of his pocket and instead stared at her with a deep gaze. "Dangerous? Do you know what danger is?"

He had a peculiar tone, which made Sonia look up at him with suspicion. Seeing his gloomy expression, the smile on her face slowly solidified before it finally disappeared. Feeling a little uneasy, she asked, "What's wrong with you? Why do you have such a terrible expression? I didn't offend you, did I?"

Toby sighed before he took her phone away from her hand, after which he grabbed her wrist. As he pulled her forward, he embraced her in his arms tightly before he said, "Sonia Reed, do you know how dangerous it was to record that man?"

This time, he called out her full name. In the past few days, he had been calling her by her nickname and she was already used to it. Now that she heard him call her christened name, she was no longer used to it. After being taken aback for a while, she also realized that he was admonishing her like that because he was exasperated. She also comprehended that he was angry about the recording that she took.

Of course, it was not that she shouldn't record it, but it was the fact that she didn't care about her own safety when she recorded it. He was angry that she didn't protect herself well.

After thinking about this, Sonia gradually relaxed her stiff body. She then raised her arms and returned Toby's hug. As she leaned her chin on his shoulder, she replied with a slight smile, "I know, but don't worry. Am I not fine now?"

"Yes, you are fine now, but if something really happens, can you still speak in front of me like this?"

Toby slightly pushed her away from his arms and stared at her face. "Do you know how nervous and worried I was when I saw the messages you sent me after the meeting? I was worried that you were discovered by Damon's subordinate. I know that person; he is a ruthless man. If he found you, he would definitely not let you go, so I rushed to the office in fear. When I came to the office, I found the door was locked. I didn't know if it was you who locked it or that person did it. All I knew was that when I opened the door, my hands were shaking. I was afraid I would see that you were..."

He didn't finish his words, as if he didn't dare to say it, and he didn't seem to want to say it either.

However, Sonia knew what he meant. What he was afraid to see was her lifeless body.

It seemed that she had really scared him this time.

A touch of guilt rose in Sonia's heart before she took the initiative to hug Toby. "I'm sorry. I should've sent you a message at the end to tell you that I'm fine. I didn't think of this at that time and it made you worried."

Toby stroked her hair. "Yeah, I was worried, but fortunately, when I opened the door, I saw that you're fine."

She smiled again. "That person didn't find me. I was quite lucky, I guess. I went to the bathroom to wash my hands after eating the cake, and just as I was about to come out after washing my hands, I heard movement outside. I thought at first that it was you, but when I heard that person talking, I realized that it wasn't you, but someone hostile to you. That person was calling another guy to say that he was looking for some documents, so I knew I couldn't go out and couldn't be found. If I was found, that person would definitely be against me, so I stayed in the bathroom quietly and didn't plan to head out. At the same time, I took out my phone and recorded everything. Anyway, I didn't go out until he left the place. I was the one who locked the door of your office because I was afraid that the person would come back. Speaking of which, I was extremely lucky that the person didn't look in other rooms, else he would have found me."

After listening to Sonia, Toby felt his heart constrict. Although she had described it very plainly, as if what happened had already passed and she no longer cared, it still made him tense when he heard it.

She knew that it would be dangerous to head out at that time, so he could imagine how scared she was when she was alone in the bathroom at that time.

Thinking of this, Toby wrapped his arms and hugged Sonia so tightly that he wanted to melt her into him. His voice was a little broken as he responded, "I'm sorry, I shouldn't have left you alone in the office. At that time, you were petrified, right?"

In the morning, he should have insisted on not letting her come here. If she hadn't come, she wouldn't have encountered such a dangerous situation.

Although she was lucky at the time and happened to head to the bathroom, what if she didn't go to the bathroom at that time? Or what if she went to the bathroom and came out without hearing any movements outside? Or maybe that person didn't just rummage through his office area, but snooped around all the rooms?

He couldn't imagine it, and he didn't dare to think about it. In short, he never wanted to experience this kind of thing again. This time, it almost drove him crazy.

Sonia didn't know what Toby was thinking. When she heard his words, she bit her lower lip slightly, and a trace of fear flashed in her eyes. "Yeah, I was a little scared. This is the first time I have encountered such a thing, and I have no experience. So, I was afraid, of course, but I quickly calmed down again. I didn't let myself make a sound or go out, and I just calmly recorded with my phone, and finally locked the door. Speaking of which, I feel that I was very brave."

Saying that, she laughed.

Toby knew that she was intentionally laughing to show him that he should not worry because the matter had passed, and she was safe now. He stroked Sonia's hair while his gaze softened, and his voice was much lower and hoarser. "Yeah, you were very brave, and you did a good job."

His office was not like this at first. At first, it was an office with only one bathroom and no other rooms. Later, Tom thought it was too uninteresting, so he changed it. Toby had thought it was too troublesome at the time and didn't even want to remodel his office, but now, he felt extremely fortunate that Tom insisted on remodeling the office.

Otherwise, Sonia would have had nowhere to hide.

Thus, he had to thank Tom for that.

"Then are you still mad at me?" Sonia looked up at Toby.

Toby shook his head. "I'm not mad at you anymore, but I'm only mad at myself. I didn't do a good job of safeguarding the office. In the entire Fuller Group, no one dares to trespass my office and I didn't expect someone to sneak in, so I just neglected its safety and didn't have security around it."

"It's not your fault." She shrugged. "You're not God. How could you have expected this? If it were me, I wouldn't have imagined that someone would dare to sneak into my office."

Toby looked at the emptiness behind her with slightly squinting eyes. His gaze was filled with killing intent as he said, "This incident has brought fear to you. I will avenge you, and I will not let any of these people off the hook."

Sonia knew that he was going to deal with the person who trespassed in his office seriously as well as the mastermind. She didn't think there was anything wrong with that. After all, Toby should deal with this kind of enemy who took advantage of him.

Otherwise, he would be the one in trouble in the end.

"You don't have to avenge me. This is your own enemy. You can handle it by yourself. Although the whole situation frightened me, I'm still quite happy," Sonia cajoled with a smile.

Toby frowned. "Happy?!"

He didn't understand why she was elated about it.

She nodded. "Yeah, I'm happy, I'm happy that I was able to help you. All along, you have been the one helping me in my affairs and I've never returned the favor, but I helped you this time. Of course, I'm happy because I know I can do something for you now too."

Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 784

Chapter 784 Passion

After Toby heard Sonia's words, his pupils contracted slightly. "You..."

It turned out that she was ecstatic just because she had done something for him. She's such an easy person to please!

Toby felt warmth rising in his heart. Looking at her, his Adam's apple bobbed a few times and his voice was low and hoarse as he clarified, "Are you really that happy?"

"Yeah." Sonia nodded. "Of course I'm happy. Through this way, I know that I am not only someone who is helped by you, but I can also help you in turn. A relationship goes both ways, right?"

She raised her head and met his inky eyes, which darkened even more. "It goes both ways..."

He repeated these four words over and over.

Sonia tilted her head. "What's wrong with that?"

Toby shook his head. "No, it's nothing. It sounds good. I like it very much."

A smiling Sonia replied, "A relationship that goes both ways is one that is the sincerest and touching. In our current relationship, you have always given me more and I can see that. Yet,

I didn't know how to help you, which makes me feel that the relationship is a little unbalanced. I always feel that you keep giving to me all the time. I seem to owe you too much, so I have been thinking, what should I do? How can I make up to you? Since you don't lack anything and don't need me to do anything, I've always been helpless, but now, I finally had the chance to do something for you. This makes me feel better."

She patted her chest, her eyes filled with happiness.

He looked at her for a while, then suddenly pushed her down on the sofa.

A startled Sonia stared at the man with wide eyes. "Toby, you..."

Before she could finish her words, her red lips were caught in a kiss by the man.

"Mmm..." She hummed at first, but in the next second, the tip of the man's tongue made its way into her mouth and danced with her tongue.

Toby's kiss had been sudden, but it was also fierce and passionate. Sonia couldn't stand it at all and her whole body became soft after being kissed by him. Losing her strength, she finally wrapped her arms around his neck and lost herself in the kiss. She probably knew why he wanted to kiss her at this time. It was because he was moved by what she had said earlier.

This was how this man was like. Once he felt moved, he would use actions to prove how excited he was at that moment. After all, such a moving thing could not be described with words. Therefore, expressing it with actions was the most appropriate move at the moment, and it was also the best one that could illustrate his happiness to her.

Sonia was also quite amused that he was this elated because she had only recorded some evidence and said a few words. Toby was already a 30-year-old man, yet he was still quite pure in certain areas.

Her hands around the man's neck tightened slightly, and when he felt her encouragement, he deepened the kiss even more. For some time, the situation in the huge office was intense as they became entangled with each other.

After a long time, Toby released Sonia's lips and kissed her neck instead. Gradually, there were fewer and fewer pieces of clothing left on her body while he was only left with a thin shirt. All of a sudden, there was a knock on the door of the office.

This knock on the door was like a basin of cold water that was poured on the couple who was still entwined with each other. At that, they instantly sobered up and regained their senses.

Sonia then remembered that Tom had gone to order lunch for them. After calculating the time, she realized it was almost time for the man to return with the dishes. With a blush, she immediately pushed Toby away from her and sat up.

When Toby felt her abrupt push, his eyes widened as he looked at her with disbelief, feeling unhappy that she suddenly pushed him away like that.

She glanced at him, panting slightly. "Okay, stop it. It should be Tom, so go and open the door."

While ruffling through her messy hair, she collected the clothes on the floor beside the sofa and proceeded to wear them.

She knew that Toby liked to kiss her when he was happy. As a girlfriend, she was also willing to satisfy her boyfriend. However, since the beginning, she had obviously just wanted to kiss him, and didn't plan to do anything more.

In the end... The expression on Sonia's face was indescribable when she found out that almost all her clothes were stripped off by him.

Why are men always so into sex?

Toby's eyes were still dark from emotion while his cheeks were reddish and his aura was domineering. His figure exuded a sense of masculinity that made women crazy. Since Sonia was just an ordinary woman, she would naturally be attracted to such a man and finally indulged in passion with him.

So, at that time, she was so dazzled by Toby's sexy appearance that she forgot that this was his office, and there would be people coming later.

Fortunately, they had not proceeded to the next stage. If they did so and suddenly someone knocked on the door, it would be the worst anticlimax. For her, it was fine as she was a woman whereas as a man, he would definitely be more hurt and it would be easy for him to feel upset.

Sonia felt her eyes burning, and she quickly turned away, her heart beating fast. Nothing is wrong, right?

Toby didn't know what Sonia was thinking. He bent down and picked up the tie and suit jacket on the floor. However, he didn't wear his tie and merely wore his jacket.

After wearing it, he frowned while tidying up his collar and cuffs, then said in a deep voice, "He came just in time, didn't he?"

His tone was full of displeasure. Obviously, he was annoyed that Tom arrived at this time.

After all, they were about to have sex, and now that someone had interrupted them so suddenly, no one would be happy about it.

Sonia looked at his dark, handsome face that was unhappy before she covered her mouth and smiled. Next, she stood up and ruffled his hair. "Okay, don't complain anymore. I'll just satisfy you tonight, okay?"

Hearing this, Toby was stunned for a moment, then suddenly raised his eyes to look at her, with a gleam in them. Seeing his expression, Sonia began to blush even more. She turned her face to the other side and pushed him forward thereafter. "Go and quickly open the door."

Toby knew that she was shy, so he didn't ask whether what she said was true. After all, she must be serious since she was already shy.

The gloomy expression on his face disappeared in an instant and his mood completely improved.

"I'm going to open the door." He walked toward the door with a brisk pace.

It was clear that what she said made him much happier.

Sonia shook her head with a laugh, then quickly got off the sofa and sat upright. Next, she took the teacup in front of her and sipped the already cold black tea. Her movements were elegant and beautiful, and she didn't look panicked at all. It was as if everything that happened before where she hurriedly pushed Toby away in a panic upon the knock on the door was just an illusion.

Chapter 785 Seafood Feast

After all, Sonia's image couldn't be ruined in front of outsiders and it had to be maintained at all times. Moreover, it was that kind of thing, which she couldn't allow others to notice even more; otherwise, it would be embarrassing for her.

Thinking of this, Sonia pursed her lips again.

Over there, Toby arrived at the door of the office to grab the door handle and turned it to open the locked door to reveal Tom. When Tom saw Toby, he first smiled respectfully at Toby, then raised the oversized food box in his hand. "President Fuller, your lunch with Miss Reed has arrived."

Toby's good mood instantly vanished and he had a dark face again while facing Tom. He glanced at Tom coldly before impatiently asking, "Why are you so late?"

If Tom came earlier, he would not have interrupted Toby and Sonia. However, this man came neither too soon nor too late and messed up Toby's steamy moment with Sonia. Obviously, Toby was upset at him.

When Tom saw Toby being mad at him, he was startled and blinked his eyes in confusion. "H-How is this too late? As soon as lunch arrived, I immediately brought it to you."

So, how was this late? It didn't even take half an hour, yet Toby said that he was late. Did Toby expect him to become the Flash?

Tom felt a little aggrieved, but at the same time he felt that something was wrong. He knew that Toby was not the kind of person who would say that he was late for no reason. Yet, Toby said so at this time. Thus, there must be some special reason, but what was it?

A suspicious Tom looked behind Toby. On the sofa not far behind him was Sonia sitting there and drinking elegantly, but it seemed that this elegance had a sense of oddness. It had a kind of stiff and unnatural feeling about it as if she had done something wrong and was trying her best to mask her panic and keep her composure. After all, Sonia didn't even look at Tom but kept her head down.

This was definitely not like her usual style, so he was more determined now that she was guilty of something.

Nevertheless, Tom couldn't understand what she was guilty of, so he turned his attention to Toby.

At this point, he finally found something wrong with Toby. Toby's tie was missing while the collar of his shirt was wrinkled as if it had been grabbed by someone just a moment ago. There was also some redness on his Adam's apple as if it was bitten by someone.

Wait, bitten?

Tom's eyes widened and he suddenly understood everything.

No wonder Toby looked disgruntled and said that he was late. That was because he came at the wrong time and messed up Toby's intimate session.

Realizing this, Tom was immediately embarrassed and he chuckled. "Um, President Fuller, about this lunch..."

"Put it inside." Toby turned and walked into the office without looking at him.

Tom knew that Toby didn't want to see him at the moment, so he sighed and entered with his head down. Along the way, he didn't dare to look around for fear that he would see something that he shouldn't see. After all, the two of them were having fun in the office earlier. Although he didn't know how far they went, if they had gone all the way, there would have been some strange signs in the office.

Therefore, he tried his best not to look around, lest his eyes burned at the sight. Moreover, it would be terrible if he was scolded for it too. Thinking about it, he took a deep breath and placed the food box on the coffee table. Forcing out a smile, he told Toby and Sonia, "President Fuller, Miss Reed, lunch is here. Please enjoy."

Sonia smiled politely at him. "Okay, thanks, Tom."

"You're welcome." Tom waved his hand, indicating that it was fine.

At this time, Toby took out his phone and clicked on it, after which he instructed Tom, "I just sent you a recording; you can listen to it once you head out. I believe you will know how to deal with it after listening to it. I don't have many demands. I just want Damon and his subordinates out of the Fuller Group. Also, buy back the shares in Damon's hands when he leaves, especially the 1 percent of original shares. Don't let him resell it to others!"

Hearing this, Tom stopped thinking about other things and his expression became serious.

Although he didn't know what recording Toby had sent over, Toby said that he could directly drive Damon and his subordinates out of the Fuller Group. As such, Tom guessed that the recording contained hard evidence that could definitely prevent Damon from extricating himself from the mess this time.

Even though he didn't know where Toby received it from, it didn't matter as long as it was useful and could make Damon leave the company.

"Yes, President Fuller, I will arrange everything and will not disappoint you," Tom replied in a serious tone.

Toby raised his chin slightly before he hummed. "I will give this matter to you to handle. After buying back the shares in Damon's hands, throw him and his men into prison under the crimes of commercial espionage and theft."

"Yes!" Tom responded again, then turned and left.

After he left, Sonia opened the food box and set out the seafood feast that was inside the packaging. She then poured two cups of black tea and handed one of them to Toby. "It's not appropriate to drink alcohol while eating seafood, so I used tea instead of wine. Congratulations for successfully weeding out the scum in your company," she said with a smile.

Toby chuckled and took the cup of tea. "I should thank you too. You helped me to obtain the hard evidence, so I was able to quickly weed them out; otherwise, I would have wasted some time."

At the very least, it would take a while to find evidence.

When she heard the man's words, Sonia raised her cup and touched his. "If that's the case, let's celebrate together."

"Okay," he replied softly and drank the black tea in one gulp.

After drinking the tea, Sonia sat down and urged, "Toby, you should sit down and eat too. It's been many hours; aren't you hungry?"

"Sure." Toby smiled and walked to the seat opposite her.

Then, Sonia couldn't wait to take a piece of shrimp and placed it in her mouth. The flavor of the shrimp meat burst in her mouth in the most delicious manner, causing her to narrow her eyes in bliss while her legs couldn't help swinging. This was a habit of hers. Every time she ate something delicious or felt elated, she liked to swing her legs.

Toby also knew her little habit as he felt the coffee table shaking a little. He bent down slightly and looked, whereupon his eyes darkened when he saw her swinging feet. If it weren't for the wrong atmosphere, he really wanted to grab her by both feet and press her legs to shackle her before fondling her hard.

She was so cute that she should be caressed and loved well by him.

"Is it really so delicious?" Toby didn't look further and raised his head to look at Sonia's face. He was afraid that he would lose control if he looked at her legs any longer and she might kick him.

Sonia didn't know what the man was thinking about, so she nodded. "Of course, it's delicious, I haven't eaten seafood so happily in a long time."

First of all, she was too busy. After she had taken over Paradigm Co., she had no time to eat delicious food or have fun. Secondly, it was boring for her to eat alone. Charles and the others were busy, so they couldn't spend time with her often. Over time, she gradually had many disappointments in her heart.
