

Chapter 1761

After all, this was a scene Hana was most unwilling to see. Just like that, a life that was once vibrant just laid on the ground without a trace of vitality and was covered in blood.

“No! Tessa, wake up! I don’t blame you anymore! I have forgiven you! I don’t blame you for slapping me! Wake up, my baby! I will give you the money. No matter how much you want, I will give it to you. My baby, wake up, alright? Tessa...God, why do you want to punish my daughter ...”

Hana was crying inconsolably. Zayn was by her side and patted her on the back to comfort her.

“Hana, don’t cry anymore. This

Zayn was by her side and patted her on the back to comfort her.

“Hana, don’t cry anymore. This child is an evil creature. She had been so heavily influenced by that father of hers for so many years that she only had her eyes on the money. She did not even want her familial relationship with you anymore. She was so impertinent. She clearly knew that you were forced and she clearly knew that Hector had been blackmailing you, but she still joined forces with her father,” a neighbor from the village, who had been tailing Tessa, persuaded Hana.

Hana was still covered in tears. It was as if Hana did not know that her daughter had always hated her before she died and had always hoped for Hana to die.

her before she died and had always hoped for Hana to die. Her daughter had once slapped her. However, Hana did not mind anymore. She did not hold a grudge anymore! She only wanted her daughter to stay alive.

“Tessa, I’m begging you. Come back to live. Come back to live, alright? I will die in your place. Come back alive, my daughter...”

Hana cried hysterically. When the onlookers heard Hana’s cries, they felt a sense of icy misery and sorrow all over them. That kind of despair made Zayn incomparably worried.

“Hana, don’t be too sad. Perhaps this is her fate. She just could not accept that I had gotten a wrong report, could not accept that I a this is her fate. just could not accept that I had gotten a wrong report, could not accept that I am a healthy person, and even more so could not accept that I have married you. It was as if you had snatched away her happiness from her. Actually, that is not the case, Hana," Zayn persuaded Hana in a soft voice.

Hana fell into Zayn's arms weakly and sobbed. "Zayn...did I do something wrong?"

Zayn wrapped his hand around Hana. "You are not wrong. You did not do anything wrong.

Hana, don't be too sad. We...we have to first let Tessa be laid to rest."

"Mm-hmm." Hana cried so hard that she could not even open her eyes.

“Mm-hmm.” Hana cried so hard that she could not even open her eyes.

At that moment, a voice suddenly roared from behind them. “No! Who dares to touch my daughter?”

Everyone turned their heads and saw an insane-like old man. Two vicious rays were radiating out of both of the old man’s eyes, and he was walking towards Hana one step at a time. To be more specific, he was walking towards Tessa’s body. Everyone was stunned when they saw his gaze and they automatically opened a path for him to cross.

Hector immediately rushed forwards and bawled his eyes out. “Daughter, my daughter! M forwards and howled his eyes out. "Daughter, my daughter! My daughter! How could you die on me? You can't die. What happens to me after you die? What would happen to me?"

Hector's cries were more miserable and sharper than Hana's. If Hana's cries could be sad as sorrowful, then Hector's was despair. A miserable kind of despair. Tessa was his only close family and she was his only hope. At that moment, no one dared to go up to him to console this father who had just lost his daughter. Nobody could understand that kind of sorrow. The personnel did not stop him.

After Hector had cried enough, he raised his gaze and looked viciously at Hana. "You...you damned woman! Your daughter is understand the kind of sorrow.

The personnel did not stop him.

After Hector had cried enough, he raised his gaze and looked viciously at Hana. "You...you damned woman! Your...daughter is already dead. How could you so shamelessly lie in another man's arms? That is your daughter's boyfriend! The person that should've died is you! It's supposed to be you, you vicious woman! I'll fight you to death! I must make you lose all your money until you're completely broke!"

"Enough!" Hana suddenly stood up and aggressively slapped Hector across his face