

Chapter 1701

She coaxed him so well that she had borrowed a hundred thousand dollars from him in just a few days, and the caregiver never appeared again since then. Also, because he had no one to take care of him during that period, he had spent almost ten thousand dollars every month on ordering takeout food and hiring hourly workers. How much money would he have left? With a rough estimation, it would already be not bad if there were still two hundred thousand dollars left at home. However, even if he had taken all of the two hundred thousand dollars out, it would also not be enough for him to pay Cecilia.

“Sir, please answer me. When are you going to pay Cecilia the division of property?”

Neo answered, “I...I don't have money.”

“Then we will take the house. I will give you one week for you to move. One week later, we will come and collect the key and then sell it at an auction!” After saying that, the people from the court left miserably. "Cecilia, do you...truly not want me anymore? I am your husband! We had depended on each other for ten years!"

The old lady turned to him. "In those ten years, have you ever treated me as your wife? I'm afraid that you have always been treating me as the nanny in your house in those ten years, and I, on the other hand, was supposed to be the one who is grateful to you, right? You have to know that even if I were to work as a full time nanny for someone else, I would also be getting three thousand dollars a month, and that is thirty-six thousand dollars a year. At the end of the year, your family should also be giving me a bonus, right? That should be a total of forty thousand dollars in a year. In ten years, I can earn four hundred thousand dollars. However, what did I get from you? Ten years of free service, and all I have gotten in exchange was either cursing or beatings from you. You even wanted to drive my grandson out. If you had treated me as your wife and treated us as a true couple, then would you have an attitude that only your grandchildren are taken seriously, but mine is not?"

...ch, would have such a terrible fallout with her daughter and her ex-husband. What was the reason for a daughter to resent her mother so much?

It was already afternoon after Zayn let Hana settle in. With all kinds of doubts in mind, Zayn left the hospital. He wanted to finish with all the business affairs at hand, then he could invite Tessa out after work. At the very least, he wanted to tell her about her mother's matter.

He was already on the road when he thought of checking his phone. Only then did he realize that Tessa had sent him about six messages. 4 of them were asking him what he was busy with that day and where he was? In the end, her tone even became slightly cautious.

Tessa had texted. [Zayn, are you a little tired of me? If you're already tired of me, just let me know. I certainly would not pester you.]

When Zayn saw that message, he could not help but smile. 'She truly is a young girl.'

What kind of mental state should he have for being in a relationship with a young girl? Zayn suddenly realized that his heart was no longer young anymore. He had unexpectedly become increasingly clueless on how to handle young girls. He recalled that seven years ago when he was playing around together with Nigel, he still had some tricks to coax a group of young girls, although he was not as skilful as Nigel. However, he had long lost that mood. He suddenly felt that his ability did not match his ambitions.

Just when Tessa was sending him the tenth message, Zayn appeared in front of Tessa with a bunch of blue roses in his hand. Tessa immediately jumped into Zayn's arms in surprise.

However, Zayn's tone had a tinge of exhaustion. "Tessa, you...should go see your mother."

Zayn turned and saw that the old lady's lips were a little dry from talking, so he said, "Both of you go ahead and wait for me in front of the car. I'll go buy a bottle of water."

"Mm-hmm."

Zayn then walked into a convenience store and came out with three bottles of purified water in his hands. Just when he had just gotten close to the front of his car, a huge wooden stick came crashing over suddenly from the side. "Son of a b*tch! Who asked you to be nosy!"

"Watch out, Master Zayn!" Without thinking, Hana bent over and hugged Zayn.

Chapter 1702

It was Neo who had hit them with that stick. Right after Zayn, Hana and the old lady had left the door, he then wheeled him wheelchair out of the house. He kept thinking that the old lady had abandoned him, so he had no one to take care of him anymore. He had no clue how long he could live and even his house was going to be taken away. How could Neo accept these changes? He flew into a rage and when he wheeled his wheelchair out to the alley outside, he coincidentally saw a wooden stick at the side of the wall. He held the wooden stick in one hand and used the other to drive his electric wheelchair forward.

Originally, it was impossible for him to catch up to them as his wheelchair was very slow. Zayn, who was about to get in the car, saw that Cecilia's lips were dry. It was afraid that the old lady would be thirsty, so he went to buy a few bottles of water. Neo then exhausted all of his strength to raise the wooden stick to hit Zayn on his head. If Neo had struck Zayn, then Zayn would either be dead or injured. It was fortunate that Hana, who injured. It was fortunate that Hana, who acted quickly, used her body to block it. Right at the moment when she blocked the stick from hitting Zayn, Hana tilted her head and that wooden stick violently landed on Hana's ribs.

"Ah!" Hana wailed in pain instantly. At the same time, Zayn heard the sound of Hana's ribs breaking. The old lady went over to snatch the stick away from Neo. "I will fight you to death, you old d*mned thing!"

After all, Cecilia was ten years younger than Neo and she had recovered quite well. In one fell swoop, she flipped the old man's wheelchair over. The old man wailed as he laid on the ground. There were many people behind the old man who scolded him. "Neo, you've gone too far!"

"Both of you have been married for ten years. You and Cecilia have ten years' worth of common property, so on what grounds could you not split it with her?"

"Since you didn't wish to divorce her and also knew that she had treated you well, then why did you treat her so harshly in those ten years?"

those ten years?"

"You truly had exploited her enough!"

"Served you right!"

Zayn was already carrying Hana in his arms. "Endure it a little. I will send you to the hospital immediately! Madam Cecilia! Get in the car! We'll send Madam Sharpe to the hospital!" said Zayn anxiously.

"Alright!"

Nobody cared about Neo anymore. Once Zayn and the old lady got in the car, he quickly started the engine and the car sped off.

"Come back! Come back, you old hag! Woman, have pity on me, how can I live without you..." The paralyzed old man in his sixties cried inconsolably while sitting on the ground.

People often say that it was difficult to get a partner when one became old even if one had money. Having a partner during one's sunset years was more important than anything else. Why did he not treat her better when she was with him? Why must he guard against her, find fault with her, and treat her like a fool all the time? Why?

Why?

At that moment, Neo was regretful. However, what did the future have in store for him? His house was being taken away by force! Perhaps he may have to compensate Hana for medical treatment? Also, he may be imprisoned, right? Haha! God truly was watching over everything. Served him right!

Nobody cared about how pitiful Neo was. At that moment, Zayn was simply speeding to the nearest hospital to the city. Hana was pushed into the emergency room when they arrived at the hospital. After three hours, she was wheeled out.

Chapter 1703

The doctor looked at Zayn with a stern expression. "At a glance, you're a man who is decently dressed. How could you not know that your wife is malnourished? She is so thin and has lost all her bone density. Otherwise, her ribs would not have broken after being struck once with the stick!"

Zayn was speechless.

"Let her get more nutrition in the future." Hana's ribs were broken but she did not need any surgery. The doctor simply aligned her bones and bandaged them to secure them in place. She would be fine after recuperating.

Zayn nodded. "Yes, you're right, Doctor. I will certainly take good care of her in the future."

When Hana was wheeled out of the emergency room, she was conscious. Seeing that Zayn was unharmed and standing in front of her, Hana smiled weakly. "Master Zayn, as long as you're fine."

Zayn felt guilt. "Madam Sharpe..."

Zayn felt guilt. "Madam Sharpe..." Addressing her as madam was very awkward for Zayn, but he bit the bullet and called out, "Madam Sharpe, why did you...protect me? I am a strong man. I would be fine enduring a few hits, but your body..."

Hana shook her head. "You're a good person. I apologize that I had wrongfully blamed you in the past. If it wasn't because you're present today, my aunt would never have gotten justice. Also, Master Zayn, in the future...you have to treat my daughter well, I...only have this daughter in my life. My greatest wish in this life is for my daughter to find a good man who could care for her and love her for the rest of her life. I hope that she never...ever ends up like me."

Zayn was speechless. He truly wanted to ask her, what exactly happened between her, Tessa, and Tessa's father? However, after he had thought about it again, Hana had just come out of the emergency room, so it was inappropriate for him to ask her. He simply said, "Don't worry and recuperate properly. I will take good care of you during this time."

"No...there's no need. My aunt can take care of me here. You don't have to come over. You...are busy with your company's business. If you have time, then accompany Tessa more. You don't have to come and visit me. Don't even come once."

Zayn could not understand, so he asked, "Why?"

Hana shrugged. "No reason. The main thing is that I don't need it. My aunt will take care of me. You just focus on managing your company. After that, arrange some time to be with Tessa and treat her well. I...I will be happy with that."

Zayn understood it in an instant. Hana had once discriminated against him, but it was all for her daughter's own good. At that moment, it was also for her daughter's own good that she forbade him from coming to take care of her and asked him to spend his time with Tessa. Her entire heart and mind were on Tessa.
