The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss

Chapter 1795

Chapter 1795 Can't Spare Yourself

On the road. Yvette complained to Nicole "I just realized that being a powerhouse in senior management isn't fun at all! It's not at all like the old days. Lance surprisingly trusts me with a lot of important projects at once. Do you know how important those projects are? If I lose any one of them and my mother finds out, she'll probably come over and beat me to death!" Nicole could not help but laugh. "Now, you have real power in your hands. Isn't this what you've always wanted?" Yvette pouted her lips. "I don't even dare to say that this isn't what I want now. I work overtime every day until past midnight. I feel so aggrieved! But once I go out and see the lights still on in Lance's office, I don't feel so bad anymore..." Nicole said, "I heard from Kai that you have some projects with him and that you did a good job! M 1. Sheldon is certainly assured enough for you to handle the important things." Yvette sighed and looked toward the sky. "But it's too tiring!" However, Yvette could only talk and complain about it.

When Nicole proposed to go shopping and Lance called Yvette to attend a meeting, Yvette left Nicole behind without hesitation and went back to the office. Nicole was bored and could only call Julie. "Wanna go shopping?" Julie stammered. "I-I'm busy. Next time?" Nicole was on high alert. "Aren't you on vacation?" Julie had no choice but to tell her the full story. "Kai's busy at the office and has no time to meet me. It just so happens that the crew needs some extra hands, so I went over to help out..." Nicole rolled her eyes. "You're really something. You can't even spare yourself from work?" Julie sighed. "Don't mention it. Every time I'm with Kai, he keeps hinting at having a baby. If it's so simple, why doesn't he give birth by himself?!" Nicole knew that Kai felt pressured about this. "He's just talking nonsense. Don't you know him by now?" Even if Kai wanted a baby, he only wanted to look at one. Julie said, "I know. That's why I didn't bother with him." Nicole thought for a moment. "Where are you now? I'll go find you?" "Don't! You're pregnant now, so you shouldn't be roaming around. Not to mention, what if you're caught on camera?" Julie did not dare to risk exposing Nicole. However, Nicole insisted on going to Julie. Nicole had not been to a crowded place for a long time. She was bored to death strolling around the mansion every day. The Stanton Mansion's lawn was about to go bald by Nicole's frequent footsteps. Nicole said as she headed out the door. "Send me the address! I just want to see the action. I promise not to steal the limelight!" Julie could not persuade Nicole. She thought that Nicole could rest in the lounge, so she agreed and sent over the location.

She also told Nicole to give her a call so that she could pick her up at the entrance when she arrives. Nicole's current location was two hours away from the filming site. Nicole was too tired to drive by herself, so she got the driver to send her over. Fortunately, Julie was not very famous with the crew. There were also not many scenes filmed today, so it was coming to an end soon. When Nicole arrived, Julie was already waiting at the entrance. Nicole wore sunglasses and a mask, so no one would recognize her. No one would believe that she was Nicole Stanton. As soon as Julie saw Nicole, she cautiously sized her up. "Are you feeling okay?" Nicole let out a light laugh. "Don't make a fuss. How can I not feel okay?" Julie sighed. "Does Mr. Sloan know that you're here? You're too reckless!" "I'll tell him right now!" Nicole smiled and took out her phone. She sent a message and her location to Clayton. [I'm having fun over here. Don't worry, I'll be back in a while.] Clayton replied. [.....]
